US Wars in Iraq & Afghanistan Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, Marek Paryż, 2025-01-15 This book offers insights into diverse non American national perspectives on the US led military interventions in Afghanistan and Iraq within the generic frames of the war film While the best known films about the post 9 11 wars in the Middle East are American productions various other national cinematographies have responded to these conflicts which is not surprising given the fact that international coalitions were formed to support the US military effort However non American war films about these US instigated interventions have received little attention outside their own national contexts This volume fills in the gap in the existing war film criticism by offering insights into how the Afghanistan War 2001 2021 and the Iraq War 2003 2011 have been represented in popular and documentary filmic productions in Iraq Afghanistan Great Britain Germany Denmark Poland Spain and Australia The contributions prove the need for transnationalism as an eye opening perspective on the war film genre by underscoring nationally specific social political and aesthetic differences alongside important correspondences between cultural productions across nations Transnational film and the US wars in Iraq and Afghanistan will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of film studies media and cultural studies film history war studies literary criticism and sociology It was originally published as a special issue of Journal of War Culture Studies The After Michael Ramos, 2024-03-05 When Michael Ramos enlisted in the Navy and was assigned to serve as a chaplain s bodyguard thirteen days before 9 11 he had no idea he would soon be sent to Iraq But he embraced the posting combat service and career for a decade until at age thirty four the military told him his skill set was no longer relevant Through divorce and remarriage his son s choice to enlist in the Marines the loss of friends to war and suicide and his inability to sleep or rest Michael struggled with the return to civilian life and particularly with civilian attitudes toward veterans In twenty four concussive embodied and nonlinear essays Michael creates a challenging and complex portrait of what it means to be a warrior civilian veteran father husband and teacher for he ultimately uses the skills he developed in the military to help others find meaning in their lives While this may sound like a redemption story it is instead a brutally honest portrayal that refuses easy answers and seeks to help other war veterans realize they re not alone as they search for their place in the world White Supremacy and the American Media Sarah D. Nilsen, Sarah E. Turner, 2021-11-29 This volume examines the ways in which the media including film television social media and gaming has constructed and sustained a narrative of white supremacy that has entered mainstream American discourse With chapters by today s preeminent critical race scholars the book looks in particular at the ways media institutions have circulated white supremacist ideology across a wide range of platforms and texts that have had significant impact on shaping our current polarized and racialized social and political landscape Systematically scrutinizing every media platform this volume provides readers with an understanding of the ways in which media has provided institutional support for white supremacist ideology and presents them with the means to examine and analyze the persistence of these narratives within our racial discourse thus offering the necessary knowledge to challenge and transform

Eco-Nihilism Wendy Lynne Lee, 2017-02-22 If we were to ask what is the root cause of our current and unprecedented environmental crisis climate change many particularly on the progressive Left would refer to the excesses of capitalism and they'd be right In Eco Nihilism The Philosophical Geopolitics of the Climate Change Apocalypse Wendy Lynne Lee demonstrates that there are no versions of conquest capital compatible with the fact of a finite planet and that a logic whose operating premise is growth is destined to not only exhaust our planetary resources but also generate profound social injustice and geopolitical violence in its pursuit Nonetheless it is clear that the violence and injustice of capital is selective some benefit greatly while others are subjugated to its pathological drive to profit Hence Lee argues that any comprehensive analysis of what Jason Moore has dubbed the Capitalocene must include an equally probing account of human chauvinism that is the axes along which capital is supplied with resources and labor Defined in terms of race sex gender and species these axes come ready made to the advantage of capitalist commodification Without an understanding of how and why humanity will remain doomed to settling for a sustainably unjust world as opposed to realizing a just and desirable one Indeed on our current trajectory we may not even achieve the sustainable The introduction of climate change into the mix of environmental deterioration the ever widening economic gap between global North and global South and the accelerating violence of terrorism civil war and human slavery make of a warming planet a combustible world The only way out requires ending the myth of endless resources a rejection of climate change denial and a radical revaluation of human centeredness not as a locus of power but as an opportunity to take moral and epistemic responsibility for a world whose biotic diversity and ecological integrity make the struggle to realize it worthwhile This solution demands not only an end to capitalism but the deliberate reclamation of value aesthetic moral and civic and a radical transformation of both personal and collective conscience Lee appeals to the experiential aesthetics of John Dewey and the feminist concept of the standpoint of the subjugated She argues for a version of the precautionary principle informed by an environmentally and socially responsible concept of the desirable future as the clearest path away from the precipice

Packed for the Wrong Trip W. Zach Griffith, 2016-04-27 How an Unprepared Undertrained Group of Maine National Guard Troops Went to Abu Ghraib to Fix the Irreparable The prison at Abu Ghraib was still a relatively unknown part of America's War on Terror when with no special training and their gear lost somewhere between the United States and Baghdad the 152nd Field Artillery Battalion of the Maine National Guard was sent there to serve as guards in February 2004 Just before their arrival the now infamous photos of the abuses suffered by the prisoners hit the world stage Abu Ghraib became the focal point not only for global condemnation but for the insurgents outrage Over the next year the 152nd would come under attack by snipers suicide bombers vehicle borne IEDs and constant rocket and mortar fire Yet at the same time the Mainers would form close bonds with some of the prisoners among them an Iraqi boy struck by a mortar in one of two mass casualty events and Kamal a community leader who acts as an envoy between the detainees and the soldiers and yet is assassinated after his release for helping the Americans The men of the 152nd were an eclectic group of citizen soldiers caught in one of the darkest corners of the war in Iraq Packed for the Wrong Trip tells the true story of how they relied on each other and their own ingenuity to survive and to transform one of the most inhumane detainee centers into a functioning humane prison or as close to one as you could get when tucked between Baghdad and the insurgent stronghold of Fallujah
