Precolonial African Material Culture , V. Tarikhu Farrar, 2020-01-20 The idea of an inherent backwardness of technology and material culture in early sub Saharan Africa is a persistent and tenacious myth in the scholarly and popular imagination Due to the emergence of the field of African studies and the upsurge in historical and archaeological research in recent decades the stridency of this myth has weakened and the overtly racist content of arguments mustered in its defense have tended to disappear But more important are transformations in social political and cultural consciousness which have worked to reshape conceptualizations of African peoples their histories and their cultures Precolonial African Material Culture offers a thorough challenge to the myth of technological backwardness V Tarikhu Farrar revisits the early technology of sub Saharan Africa as revealed by recent research and reconsiders long possessed primary historical sources He then explores the ways that indigenous African technologies have influenced the world beyond the African continent Connecting

Continents Krish Seetah, 2018-06-07 In recent decades the vast and culturally diverse Indian Ocean region has increasingly attracted the attention of anthropologists historians political scientists sociologists and other researchers Largely missing from this growing body of scholarship however are significant contributions by archaeologists and consciously interdisciplinary approaches to studying the region s past and present Connecting Continents addresses two important issues how best to promote collaborative research on the Indian Ocean world and how to shape the research agenda for a region that has only recently begun to attract serious interest from historical archaeologists The archaeologists historians and other scholars who have contributed to this volume tackle important topics such as the nature and dynamics of migration colonization and cultural syncretism that are central to understanding the human experience in the Indian Ocean basin This groundbreaking work also deepens our understanding of topics of increasing scholarly and popular interest such as the ways in which people construct and understand their heritage and can make use of exciting new technologies like DNA and environmental analysis Because it adopts such an explicitly comparative approach to the Indian Ocean Connecting Continents provides a compelling model for multidisciplinary approaches to studying other parts of the globe Contributors Richard B Allen Edward A Alpers Atholl Anderson Nicole Boivin Diego Calaon Aaron Camens Sa a aval Geoffrey Clark Alison Crowther Corinne Forest Simon Haberle Diana Heise Mark Horton Paul Lane Martin Mhando and Alistair Patterson

American Book Publishing Record , 2005 An Introduction to African Languages G. Tucker Childs, 2003-12-19 This book introduces beginning students and non specialists to the diversity and richness of African languages In addition to providing a solid background to the study of African languages the book presents linguistic phenomena not found in European languages A goal of this book is to stimulate interest in African languages and address the question What makes African languages so fascinating The orientation adopted throughout the book is a descriptive one which seeks to characterize African languages in a relatively succinct and neutral manner and to make the facts accessible to a wide variety of readers The author s lengthy acquaintance with the continent and field experiences in western eastern and southern Africa allow for both a broad perspective and considerable depth in selected areas The original examples are often the author s own but also come from other sources and languages not often referenced in the literature This text also includes a set of sound files illustrating the phenomena under discussion be they the clicks of Khoisan talking drums or the ideophones words like English lickety split found almost everywhere which will make this book a valuable resource for teacher and student alike
