Architecture And Film Publications:

Architecture and Film Mark Lamster, 2013-07-02 Architecture and Film looks at the ways architecture and architects are treated on screen and conversely how these depictions filter and shape the ways we understand the built environment. It also examines the significant effect that the film industry has had on the American public's perception of urban, suburban, and rural spaces. Contributors to this collection of essays come from a wide range of disciplines. Nancy Levinson from Harvard Design Magazine writes on how films from The Fountainhead to Jungle Fever have depicted architects. Eric Rosenberg from Tufts University looks at how architecture and spatial relations shape the Beatles films A Hard Day's Night, Help, and Let It Be. Joseph Rosa, curator at the National Building Museum, discusses why modern domestic architecture in recent Hollywood films such as The Ice Storm, L.A. Confidential, and The Big Lebowski has become synonymous with unstable inhabitants. I D Magazine writer Peter Hall discusses the history of film titling, focusing on the groundbreaking work of Saul Bass and Maurice Binder. Edited by Mark Lamster, Architecture and Film examines the anti-urbanism of the Star Wars trilogy. The collection also includes the voices of those from within the film industry who are uniquely able to provide a behind-the-scenes perspective. Film Edited by Bob Eisenhardt, comments on the making of Concert of Wills, a documentary on the construction of the Getty Museum, and Robert Kraft focuses on his work as a location director for Diane Keaton's upcoming film about Los Angeles. Also included are interviews with David Rockwell, architect of numerous Planet Hollywood restaurants worldwide and designer of a new hall to host the Academy Awards ceremony; Kyle Kooper, who created title sequences for Seven and Mission Impossible; and motion picture art director Jan Roelfs, whose credits include Gattaca, Orlando, and Little Women. Film, Architecture and Spatial Imagination Renée Tobe, 2016-08-25 Films use architecture as visual shorthand to tell viewers everything they need to know about the characters in a short amount of time. Illustrated by a diverse range of films from different eras and cultures, this book investigates the reciprocity between film and architecture. Using a phenomenological approach, it describes how we, the viewers, can learn how to read architecture and design in film in order to see the many inherent messages. Architecture's representational capacity contributes to the plausibility or reality possible in film. The book provides an ontological understanding that clarifies and stabilizes the reciprocity of the actual world and a filmic world of illusion and human imagination, thereby shedding light on both film and architecture. Architecture and Science-fiction Film David Terrance Fortin, 2011 The enduring paradoxes of the home are often brought to light in science fiction. SF writing and film. However, while crossovers between architecture and SF have proliferated, the home is often overshadowed by the spectacle of otherness. By examining the home from the estranging perspective of SF and, in particular, the films based on Phillip K. Dick's books, this work offers a unique critical analysis with particular relevance for contemporary architecture. Walls Have Feelings Katherine Shonfield, 2003-09-02 For the first time, this book brings the insights, methodologies, and visions of film to the practice of architecture. Walls Have Feelings poses unanswered questions from our immediate past crucial for the future.
