Architecture and Polyphony, 2004 At no time in recent history have architecture urban planning rehabilitation and reconstruction been as important to the Islamic World as they are today The Aga Khan Award for Architecture was established in 1977 to enhance the understanding and appreciation of Islamic culture as expressed through architecture Previous winners of this prestigious award which is given every three years include such architects as Geoffrey Bawa Balkrishna Doshi Ken Yeang Jean Nouvel Charles Correa Frei Otto and Hassan Fathy For this current cycle the Award is paying special attention to identifying more examples of the new types of architecture that are emerging throughout the Muslim world The documented projects represent efforts in the categories of infrastructure landscaping community development public urban spaces and responses to the growing crisis of housing shortage in many Muslim societies For this year's award the steering committee includes Charles Correa Jacques Herzog Mohsen Mostafavi and Glenn Lowry With each of the winning schemes profiled and illustrated in depth and critical essays that consider the challenges and rewards confronting architects working in Muslim lands this important yet accessibly priced publication provides valuable insights into a wide array of practices methods and design solutions Architecture and polyphony : building in the Islamic world today, 2004 Architecture and Polyphony, 2004 Hassan Fathy and Continuity in Islamic Architecture Ahmad Hamid, 2010 A thought provoking and richly illustrated look at tradition and innovation in the work of the world renowned architect Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World (2 Vol. Set) Susan Sinclair, C. H. Bleaney, Pablo García Suárez, 2012 Following the tradition and style of the acclaimed Index Islamicus the editors have created this new Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World The editors have surveyed and annotated a wide range of books and articles from collected volumes and journals published in all European languages except Turkish between 1906 and 2011 This comprehensive bibliography is an indispensable tool for everyone involved in the study of material culture in Muslim societies Modernism and the Middle East Sandy Isenstadt, Kishwar Rizvi, 2011-03-01 This provocative collection of essays is the first book length treatment of the development of modern architecture in the Middle East Ranging from Jerusalem at the turn of the twentieth century to Libya under Italian colonial rule postwar Turkey and on to present day Iraq the essays cohere around the historical encounter between the politics of nation building and architectural modernism's new materials methods and motives Architecture as physical infrastructure and as symbolic expression provides an exceptional window onto the powerful forces that shaped the modern Middle East and that continue to dominate it today Experts in this volume demonstrate the political dimensions of both creating the built environment and subsequently inhabiting it In revealing the tensions between achieving both international relevance and regional meaning Modernism in the Middle East affords a dynamic view of the ongoing confrontations of deep traditions with rapid modernization Political and cultural historians as well as architects and urban planners will find fresh material here on a range of diverse practices A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Asst Prof David Rifkind, Dr Elie G Haddad, 2014-03-28 This book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010. The first section provides a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world. This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects.

Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe. Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged. In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization. What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re-create what has allegedly been lost. This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South. Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities? How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world? And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources? These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil, Mexico, Egypt, India, and Singapore. Official Gazette Philippines, 2007.

International Medievalism and Popular Culture Louise D'Arcens, Andrew Lynch, 2014-04-18 Today medievalism is increasingly intelligible as a cultural lingua franca produced in trans and international contexts with a view to reaching popular international audiences of mass scope. This book offers new perspectives on international relations and how global concerns are made available through contemporary medievalist texts. It questions how research in medievalism may help us rethink the terms of internationalism and globalism within popular cultures, ideologies, and political formations. It investigates how the diverse media of medievalism—print, film, and television, arts and crafts, fashion, digital media, clubs, and fandom—affect its cultural meaning and circulation and its social function and engage questions of desire, gender, and identity construction. As a whole, International Medievalism and Popular Culture differs from those studies which have concentrated on imaginative appropriations of the middle ages for domestic cultural contexts. It investigates rather how contemporary cultures engage with medievalism to map and model ideas of the international, the transnational, the cosmopolitan, and the global. This book includes examples from Europe, Britain, North America, Australia, and the Arab world. It discusses the formation and the impact of popular medievalism in the globalised worlds of Braveheart, Disney, and Harry Potter, but it also explores how the contemporary medieval imaginary generates international cultural perspectives, for example in considering Middle Eastern reception of Ridley Scott's Kingdom of Heaven, the Byzantinism of Julia Kristeva, and Hedley Bull's postnationalist new medievalism. International Medievalism in Popular Culture is an important contribution to medieval studies cultural studies and historical studies It will be of value to undergraduate postgraduate and academic readers as well as to all interested in popular culture or medievalism

Architectural Excellence in Islamic Societies Ashraf M. Salama, Marwa M. El-Ashmouni, 2020-07-15 This book discusses architectural excellence in Islamic societies drawing on textual and visual materials from the Aga Khan Documentation Center at MIT developed over more than three decades At the core of the discussion are the efforts processes and outcomes of the Aga Khan Award for Architecture AKAA The AKAA recognises excellence in architectural and urban interventions within cities and settlements in the Islamic world which are continuously challenged by dramatic changes in economies societies political systems decision making and environmental requirements Architectural Excellence in Islamic Societies responds to the recurring question about the need for architectural awards arguing that they are critical to validating the achievements of professional architects while making their contributions more widely acknowledged by the public Through analysis and critique of over sixty awarded and shortlisted projects from over thirty five countries this book provides an expansive look at the history of the AKAA through a series of narratives on the enduring values of architecture architectural and urban conservation built environment sustainability and architectural pluralism and multiple modernities Architectural Excellence in Islamic Societies will appeal to professionals and academics researchers and upper level students in architectural history and theory and built environment related fields

A Modern History of the Ismailis Farhad Daftary, 2010-12-08 The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4.0 licence on bloomsburycollections.com Open access was funded by Islamic Publications Ltd I B Tauris in association with the Institute of Ismaili Studies The Ismailis have enjoyed a long eventful and complex history dating back to the 8th century CE and originating in the Shi'i tradition of Islam. During the medieval period, Ismailis of different regions especially in central Asia, south Asia, Iran, and Syria developed and elaborated their own distinctive literary and intellectual traditions which have made an outstanding contribution to the culture of Islam as a whole. At the same time, the Ismailis in the Middle Ages split into two main groups who followed different spiritual leaders. The bulk of the Ismailis came to have a line of imams now represented by the Aga Khans, while a smaller group known in south Asia as the Bohras developed their own type of leadership. This collection is the first scholarly attempt to survey the modern history of both Ismaili groupings since the middle of the 19th century. It covers a variety of topical issues and themes such as the modernising policies of the Aga Khans and also includes original studies of regional developments in Ismaili communities worldwide. The contributors focus too on how the Ismailis as a religious community have responded to the twin challenges of modernity and emigration to the West. A Modern History of the Ismailis will be welcomed as the most complete assessment yet published of the recent trajectory of this fascinating and influential Shi'i community.

RIBA Journal, 1993 New Malaysian House Robert Powell, 2012-05-22. The New Malaysian House is a collection of 25 contemporary houses that demonstrate a remarkable flowering of Malaysian design talent that has been germinating since the mid 1980s. The houses range from luxury detached bungalows set in extensive tropical gardens to weekend retreats in the forest, from the gated communities springing up throughout Malaysia to extended family homes. All are distinguished by a singular quality of innovative design as the architects sought to explore new approaches for designing with the climate and in the cultural context of Malaysia.
