Republic of Women Carol Pal, 2012-06-07 Republic of Women recaptures a lost chapter in the narrative of intellectual history. It tells the story of a transnational network of female scholars who were active members of the seventeenth century republic of letters and demonstrates that this intellectual commonwealth was a much more eclectic and diverse assemblage than has been assumed. These seven scholars Anna Maria van Schurman Princess Elisabeth of Bohemia Marie de Gournay Marie du Moulin Dorothy Moore Bathsua Makin and Katherine Jones Lady Ranelagh were philosophers schoolteachers reformers and mathematicians. They hailed from England Ireland Germany France and the Netherlands and together with their male colleagues men like Descartes Huygens Hartlib and Montaigne they represented the spectrum of contemporary approaches to science faith politics and the advancement of learning. Carol Pal uses their collective biography to reconfigure the intellectual biography of early modern Europe offering a new expanded analysis of the seventeenth century community of ideas. The Lady's Book, 1830

Heroines and Local Girls Pamela L. Cheek, 2019-08-30 Over the course of the long eighteenth century a network of some fifty women writers working in French English Dutch and German staked out a lasting position in the European literary field. These writers were multilingual and lived for many years outside of their countries of origin translated and borrowed from each others works attended literary circles and salons and fashioned a transnational women's literature characterized by highly recognizable codes. Drawing on a literary geography of national types, women writers across Western Europe read, translated, wrote, and rewrote stories about exceptional young women, literary heroines who transcend the gendered destiny of their distinctive cultural and national contexts. These transcultural heroines struggle against the cultural constraints determining the sexualized fates of local girls. In Heroines and Local Girls, Pamela L. Cheek explores the rise of women's writing as a distinct transnational category in Britain and Europe between 1650 and 1810. Starting with an account of a remarkable tea party that brought together Frances Burney, Sophie von La Roche, and Marie Elisabeth de La Fite in conversation about St. Phanie de Genlis, she excavates a complex community of European and British women authors. In chapters that incorporate history, network theory, and feminist literary history, she examines the century and a half literary lineage connecting Madame de Maintenon to Mary Wollstonecraft, including Charlotte Lennox and Francoise de Graffigny, and their radical responses to sexual violence. Neither simply a reaction to nor collusion with patriarchal and national literary forms, but rather both, women's writing offered an invitation to group membership through a literary project of self-transformation. In so doing, argues Cheek, women's writing was the first modern literary category to capitalize transnationally on the virtue of identity, anticipating the global literary marketplace's segmentation of affinity-based reading publics and continuing to define women's writing to this day. Year Book of the Department of Agriculture of the State of South Carolina. South Carolina: Department of Agriculture, 1945.

Shameless Jean L. Silver-Isenstadt, 2002-05-10 With her second husband, medical writer and social reformer Thomas Low Nichols, she embarked on an unprecedented intellectual and professional collaboration, and together they challenged the inequities of conventional marriage, demanded the right of every woman to have control over her own body, and advocated universal good health. Justice Walter J. Houston, 2016-04-29 What does the Bible have to say about justice, and what relevance has this for people, particularly Christians, today? Justice: The Biblical Challenge offers readers a balanced assessment of the biblical treatment of justice and what we might learn from this. The book opens with a brief overview of the differing social contexts which shaped how people thought about justice in biblical times. The examples of justice are grouped under three key narratives: the story of creation, justice as cosmic order; the story of the Exodus, justice as faithfulness; and the story of Israel, justice as a community of equals. The story of Jesus in Mark is then examined as exemplifying all three narratives. The book then applies these biblical stories to the world we live in now, applying an innovative justice audit which uses the three biblical narratives of justice as yardsticks. The book concludes with an exploration of how readers might apply the ideas raised in the book to working for justice. Visitors Ann Snitow, 2020-03-24 A feminist organizer in East Central Europe after the fall of the Berlin Wall, she reveals the struggles of women fighting for their rights during the rise of the Right in Europe. Visitors tells the story of Ann Snitow's adventures as a Western feminist helping to build a new post-communist feminist movement in Eastern Central Europe.
