Reframing the Past Mia Treacey, 2016-02-26 Reframing the Past traces what historians have written about film and television from 1898 until the early 2000s Mia Treacey argues that historical engagement with film and television should be reconceptualised as Screened History an interdisciplinary international field of research to incorporate and replace what has been known as History and Film It draws from the fields of Film Television and Cultural Studies to critically analyse key works and connect past scholarship with contemporary research Reconsidered as Screened History the works of Pierre Sorlin Marc Ferro John O Connor Robert Rosenstone and Robert Toplin are explored alongside lesser known but equally important contributions This book identifies a number of common themes and ideas that have been explored by historians for decades the use of history on film and television as a way to teach the past the challenge of filmic and televisual history to more traditional historiography and an ongoing battle to find an appropriate historical way to engage with Film Studies and Theory Screened History offers an approach to exploring History Film and Television that allows room for future developments while connecting them to a rich and diverse body of past scholarship Combining a narrative of historical research on film and television over the past century with a reconceptualisation of the field as Screened History Reframing the Past is essential reading both for established scholars of History and Film Film History and other related disciplines and to students new to the field At the Edge of Existence

Brandon West, 2021-12-13 Few scary stories begin with a disclaimer that they are fictional Instead they claim to be true even when they are not Such stories blur the line between fiction and reality pushing audiences to consider where fiction ends and reality begins These kinds of horror stories comprise the understudied subgenre of liminal horror As the first book on this subject this volume surveys a variety of liminal horror films It discusses the different variations within liminal horror's subgenres and considers why horror films are obsessed with the natures of and borders between fiction and reality After first laying out the basic traits of the horror genre in the context of liminality this book then dives into film more specifically and how the medium is uniquely situated to explore the movement between the fictional and the real Through lenses such as dreaming memory and perception the following chapters explore the role liminal horror plays in the the human psyche s subconscious unconscious and the various functions of the human mind in perceiving or misperceiving reality Lights, Camera, History Richard V. Francaviglia, 2007-01-23 This important volume addresses a number of central topics concerning how history is depicted in film In the preface the volume editors emphasize the importance of using film in teaching history students will see historical films and if they are not taught critical viewing they will be inclined simply to accept what they see as fact Authors of the individual chapters then explore the portrayal of history and the uses of history in specific films and film genres Robert Rosenstone s In Praise of the Biopic considers such films as Reds They Died with Their Boots On Little Big Man Seabiscuit Cinderella Man and The Grapes of Wrath In his chapter Geoff Pingree focuses on the big questions posed in Jay Rosenblatt s 1998 film Human Remains Richard Francaviglia s chapter on films about the Middle East is especially timely in the post 9 11 world One chapter by Daniel A Nathan Peter Berg and Erin Klemyk is devoted to a single film Martin Scorsese s urban history The Gangs of New York which the authors see as a way of exploring complex themes of the immigrant experience Finally Robert Brent Toplin addresses the paradox of using an art form film to present history Among other themes he considers the impact of Patton and Platoon on military decisions and interpretations and of Birth of a Nation and Glory on race relations The cumulative effect is to increase the reader s understanding of the medium of film in portraying history and to stimulate the imagination as to how it can and how it should not be used Students and teachers of history and cinema will benefit deeply from this informative and thoughtful discussion Cinematic Skepticism Jeroen Gerrits, 2019-10-30 Because of its automatic way of recording reality film has a privileged relation to the problem of skepticism If early film theorists celebrate cinema for overcoming skeptical doubt about the power of human vision recent film philosophers argue that our postphotographic digital cinema is heading toward a general acceptance of skepticism as though nothing on screen has anything to do with reality any longer Emerging from the interaction of Stanley Cavell s and Gilles Deleuze s film philosophies Cinematic Skepticism challenges both these views Jeroen Gerrits takes the issue of skepticism beyond concern with knowledge turning skepticism into an ethical problem that pervades film history and theory At the same time he rethinks a Cavello Deleuzian approach across the digital and global turns in cinema Combining clear explanations of complex philosophical arguments with in depth analyses of the contemporary films Grizzly Man Am lie Three Monkeys and The Headless Woman Gerrits traces how cinema invents ways of dis connecting to the world The Depiction of Terrorists in Blockbuster Hollywood Films, 1980-2001 Helena Vanhala, 2014-01-10 This book examines how American foreign policy and the commercial film industry s economic interests influenced the portrayal of international terrorism in Hollywood blockbuster films from the time of the Iran hostage crisis to the 9 11 terrorist attacks Part I provides a historical overview of modern international terrorism and how it relates to the United States its news media and its film industry Part II covers depictions of terrorism during the Cold War under President Reagan including films like Commando and Iron Eagle

Part III covers the Hollywood terrorist after the Cold War including European terrorists in the Die Hard franchise Passenger 57 Patriot Games Blown Away The Jackal and Ronin fundamentalist Islamic terrorists in True Lies and Executive Decision the return of the communist threat in Air Force One and 9 11 foreshadowing in The Siege

Spanish Cinema in the Global Context Samuel Amago, 2013-09-11 Across a broad spectrum of media markets and national contexts self reflexivity continues to be a favored narrative mode with wide ranging functions In this book Amago argues that in addition to making visible industry and production concerns within the film text reflexive aesthetics have a cartographic function that serves to map the place of a film geographic and cultural within the global cinemascape and thus to bring into sharper relief images of the national Focusing on films in the contemporary Spanish context that in some way reflect back on themselves and the processes of their own production that purposefully blur the distinction between reality and fiction or that draw attention to the various modes of cinematic exhibition and reception Amago proposes ways in which these movies can be employed to understand Spanish national cinemas today as imbedded within a dynamic global system
