transformative relation to the givens of history reworking them within the order of imagination and desire Through historical linguistic and literary analysis of texts spanning nine centuries it demonstrates how though it is irreducible to reality literary imagination conveys something very real about the human response to the world including the knowledge and power proper to such experience neither history nor lie it discloses a reality purged of extraneous detail making what is essential to human experience more concentrated and dramatic Thus made apparent is that literature and history do not exclude each other but inform correct and supplement each other underscoring the complexities of thought and imagination
