Rice, 2025-07-15 Rediscover the thriving civilizations of Pre Columbian America and learn how Native ingenuity transformed the landscape into a flourishing world we can still learn from today North America was not empty nor were its inhabitants savages when Europeans arrived in 1492 Quite the opposite North America was thickly populated by indigenous people who lived in clean cities had a thriving economy and transformed the landscape into bountiful productivity. Forgotten Landscapes reveals the incredible extent to which Native Americans manipulated and shaped their surrounding environs through agricultural practices and urban engineering, resulting in one of the most prosperous civilizations of their time. Well before European contact, North American cities and villages were bound together by an intricate trade network. Today, Spiro Mound in rural Oklahoma is a few piles of dirt, not on the road to anywhere. But at the time of the Mississippian civilization, about a thousand years ago, it was one of the largest cities in the world. With the controlled use of fire, Native Americans had transformed thick forests into open woodlands and expanded the ranges of prairies. Through organized hunting, Natives controlled the populations of prey animals such as passenger pigeons, and when Native populations grew large enough, they developed agriculture, including irrigated crops and even orchards. In this fascinating and overdue book, author Stanley A. Rice shows readers the Pre-Columbian landscape of America that has been largely forgotten.

THE CLIMATE PHENOMENON

Patrick K. Kalifungwa, 2024-11-13. Climatology or climate science is the scientific study of Earth's climate, typically defined as weather conditions averaged over a period of at least 30 years. Climate Glossary. Climate concerns the atmospheric condition during an extended to indefinite period; weather is the condition of the atmosphere during a relative brief period. The main topics of research are the study of climate variability, mechanisms of climate changes, and modern climate change. drought.unl.edu 2017. Way back 2006. This topic of study is regarded as part of the atmospheric sciences and a subdivision of physical geography, which is one of the Earth sciences. Climatology includes some aspects of oceanography and biogeochemistry. The main methods employed by climatologists are the analysis of observations and modelling of the physical processes that determine climate. Short-term weather forecasting can be interpreted in terms of knowledge of longer-term phenomena of climate, for instance climatic cycles such as the El Niño Southern Oscillation (ENSO), the Madden-Julian oscillation (MJO), the North Atlantic oscillation (NAO), the Arctic oscillation (AO), the Pacific decadal oscillation (PDO), and the Interdecadal Pacific Oscillation (IPO). Climate models are used for a variety of purposes, from studying the dynamics of the weather and climate system to predictions of future climate. drought.unl.edu 2017.

Reversible America, Frédéric Saumade, Jean-Baptiste Maudet, 2024-07-01. Rodeo, cattle ranching, and bullfighting converge in the arenas of race, gender, and ethics in Reversible America. In Southwestern California, these sports manifest in spectacular expressions of transcultural interactions that continue to develop through border crossings. Using an interdisciplinary scope, this unique look into the subculture negotiates the paradoxes and connections between the popular American performances, Iberian bullfighting, and Native American hunting methods, along with the relationship between human and non-human beings and systems of value across borders.

Last of the Giants, Jeff Campbell, 2019-08-01. Today, an ancient world is vanishing right before our eyes: the age of giant animals. Over 40,000 years ago, the earth was ruled by megafauna: mammoths, mastodons, saber-toothed tigers, and giant sloths. Of course, those creatures no longer exist, and there is only one likely reason for that: the evolution and arrival of the earth's only tool-wielding hunter the wildly adaptive comparatively pint-sized human species. Many more of the world's biggest and baddest creatures including the black rhino, the dodo, giant tortoises and the great auk have vanished since our world became truly global. Last of the Giants chronicles those giant animals and apex predators pushed to extinction in the modern era. The book also highlights those giant species that remain even though many barely survive living in such low numbers that they are on the brink of leaving this world within the next few decades. However, there is hope for many endangered species; they can still be saved. As it profiles each extinct and endangered animal, Last of the Giants focuses on the conservation efforts that are trying to preserve the world's remaining charismatic species before they are lost forever.

The text is profusely illustrated and loaded with fun and enlightening examples of work from a plethora of experienced artists, designers, planners and naturalists from around the world. Each chapter provides easy-to-follow instructions on a wide variety of techniques for field sketching and plein air painting. The exercises are designed to help readers progressively build a set of skills that will help them construct meaning and gain knowledge from on-site field observation. Foundations of Ethnobotany (21st Century Perspective) S. Chandra, A.K. Jain, 2017-01-01 Foundations of Ethnobotany 21st Century focusses on the role played by cultivated plants in changing the face of modern civilization. It is important to assess the distribution of cultivated plants in time and space to understand how Ethnobotany can play a role in contributing to the progress and needs of human race in 21st century. The plants contributed by the societies Neolithic to The Bronze Age, Ancient Near East, Bronze Age Europe, Pre-Columbian Americas, Iron Age, Middle Eastern civilizations, South Asian civilizations, East Asia civilizations, Eurasian civilizations, Africa, Medieval to Early Modern, Mughal India, Asia, China, Japan, Southeast Asia, Mesamerican civilizations, Andean civilizations, African civilizations, Modern Intermediate world, Greater Middle East, Eastern world, East Asia, South Asia and Southeast Asia are discussed. Paradise Transplanted Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo, 2014-08-15 Gardens are immobile, literally rooted in the earth, but they are also shaped by migration and by the transnational movement of ideas, practices, plants and seeds. In Paradise Transplanted, Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo reveals how successive conquests and diverse migrations have made Southern California gardens and in turn how gardens influence social inequality, work, leisure, status and our experiences of nature and community. Drawing on historical archival research, ethnography and over one hundred interviews with a wide range of people including suburban homeowners, paid Mexican immigrant gardeners, professionals at the most elite botanical garden in the West and immigrant community gardeners in the poorest neighborhoods of inner-city Los Angeles, this book offers insights into the ways that diverse global migrations and garden landscapes shape our social world. Floodplains Jeffrey J.
