Black Chicago's First Century Christopher Robert Reed, 2005-07-25 In Black Chicago s First Century Christopher Robert Reed provides the first comprehensive study of an African American population in a nineteenth century northern city beyond the eastern seaboard Reed s study covers the first one hundred years of African American settlement and achievements in the Windy City encompassing a range of activities and events that span the antebellum Civil War Reconstruction and post Reconstruction periods The author takes us from a time when black Chicago provided both workers and soldiers for the Union cause to the ensuing decades that saw the rise and development of a stratified class structure and growth in employment politics and culture Just as the city was transformed in its first century of existence so were its black inhabitants Methodologically relying on the federal pension records of Civil War soldiers at the National Archives as well as previously neglected photographic evidence manuscripts contemporary newspapers and secondary sources Reed captures the lives of Chicago s vast army of ordinary black men and women He places black Chicagoans within the context of northern urban history providing a better understanding of the similarities and differences among them We learn of the conditions African Americans faced before and after Emancipation We learn how the black community changed and developed over time we learn how these people endured how they educated their children how they worked organized and played Black Chicago s First Century is a balanced and coherent work Anyone with an interest in urban history or African American studies will find much value in this book

Widows and Orphans First S. J. Kleinberg, 2010-10-01 The experiences of widows and their children during the Progressive Era and the New Deal depended on differences in local economies and values How did these widely varied experiences impact the origins of the welfare state S J Kleinberg delves into the question by comparing widows lives in three industrial cities with differing economic ethnic and racial bases Government in Fall River Massachusetts saw employment as a solution to widows poverty and as a result drastically limited public charity In Pittsburgh widows received sympathetic treatment Few jobs existed for them or their children indeed the jobs for men were concentrated in widowmaking industries like steel and railroading With a large African American population and a diverse economy that relied on inexpensive child and female labor Baltimore limited funds for public services African Americans adapted by establishing their own charitable institutions A fascinating comparative study Widows and Orphans First offers a one of a kind look at social welfare policy for widows and the role of children in society during a pivotal time in American history

The Chautauquan ,1893 Satan's Silence Debbie Nathan,Michael Snedeker,2001 Communities throughout the United States were convulsed in the 1980s and early 1990s by accusations often without a shred of serious evidence that respectable men and women in their midst many of them trusted preschool teachers secretly gathered in far reaching conspiracies to rape and terrorize children In this powerful book Debbie Nathan and Mike Snedeker examine the forces fueling this blind panic Stolen Childhood Alice Huskey,1990 Alice Huskey tells her own story and provides much needed information and reasoned counsel for all who are concerned about child sexual abuse 181 pages paper Children and Youth During the Civil War Era James Marten,2012 The Civil War is a much plumbed area of scholarship so much so that at times it seems there is no further work to be done in the field However the experience of children and youth during that tumultuous time remains a relatively unexplored facet of the conflict Children and Youth during the Civil War Era seeks a deeper investigation into the historical record by and giving voice and context to their struggles and victories during this critical period in American history Prominent historians and rising scholars explore issues important to both the Civil War era and to the history of children and youth including the experience of orphans drummer boys and young soldiers on the front lines and even the impact of the war on the games children played in this collection Each essay places the history of children and youth in the context of the sectional conflict while in turn shedding new light on the sectional conflict by viewing it through the lens of children and youth A much needed multi faceted historical account Children and Youth during the Civil War Era touches on some of the most important historiographical issues with which historians of children and youth and of the Civil War home front have grappled over the last few years Gender, Race and Family in Nineteenth Century America Rebecca Fraser,2012-11-16 Sarah Hicks Williams was the northern born wife of an antebellum slaveholder Rebecca Fraser traces her journey as she relocates to Clifton Grove the Williams slaveholding plantation presenting her with complex dilemmas as she reconciled her new role as plantation mistress to the gender script she had been raised with in the North

Representing Childhood and Atrocity Victoria Nesfield,Philip Smith,2022-12-01 Atrocity presents a problem to the writer of children s literature To represent events of such terrible magnitude and impersonal will as the Holocaust the transatlantic slave trade or the Rwandan genocide such that they fit into a three act structure with a comprehensible moral and a happy ending is to do a disservice to the victims Yet to confront children with the fact of widescale violence without resolution is to confront them with realities that may be emotionally disturbing and even damaging Despite these challenges however there exists a considerable body of work for and about children that addresses atrocity To examine the ways in which writers and artists have attempted to address children s experience of atrocity this collection brings together original essays by an international group of scholars working in the fields of child studies children s literature comics studies education English literature and Holocaust genocide and memory studies It covers a broad geographical range and includes works by established authors and emerging voices Voices of the Lost Children of Greece Mary Cardaras, 2023-01-10

De Rosa, 2012-02-01 Deborah C De Rosa examines the multifaceted nature of domestic abolitionism a discourse that nineteenth century women created to voice their political sentiments when cultural imperatives demanded their silence For nineteenth century women struggling to find an abolitionist voice while maintaining the codes of gender and respectability writing children's literature was an acceptable strategy to counteract the opposition By seizing the opportunity to write abolitionist juvenile literature De Rosa argues domestic abolitionists were able to enter the public arena while simultaneously maintaining their identities as exemplary mother educators and preserving their claims to femininity Using close textual analyses of archival materials De Rosa examines the convergence of discourses about slavery gender and children in juvenile literature from 1830 to 1865 filling an important gap in our understanding of women's literary productions about race and gender as well as our understanding of nineteenth century American literature more generally
