Wilson,2014-08-05 Cat Wilson brings together two strands of historical scholarship Churchill s work as a historian and the history of WWII in the Far East Examining Churchill s portrayal of the British Empire s war against Japan as set down in his memoirs it ascertains whether he mythologised wartime Anglo American relations to present a special relationship Annotated Bibliography of Works About Sir Winston S. Sinanoglou,2019-11-22 Partitioning Palestine is the first history of the ideological and political forces that led to the idea of partition that is a division of territory and sovereignty in British mandate Palestine in the first half of the twentieth century Inverting the spate of narratives that focus on how the idea contributed to or hindered the development of future Israeli and Palestinian states Penny Sinanoglou asks instead what drove and constrained British policymaking around partition and why partition was simultaneously so appealing to British policymakers yet ultimately proved so difficult for them to enact Taking a broad view not only of local and regional factors but also of Palestine s place in the British empire and its status as a League of Nations mandate Sinanoglou deftly recasts the story of partition in Palestine as a struggle to maintain imperial control After all British partition plans imagined space both for a Zionist state indebted to Britain and for continued British control over key geostrategic assets depending in large part on the forced movement of Arab populations With her detailed look at the development of the idea of partition from its origins in the 1920s Sinanoglou makes a bold contribution to our understanding of the complex interplay between internationalism and imperialism at the end of the British empire and reveals the legacies of British partitionist thinking in the broader history of decolonization in the modern Middle East A Rough Passage: V. 2 Ken Barnes,2007 This is an inspiring memoir of a colonial life set against the background of the ending of the British Empire Evacuated as a schoolboy from England to Malaya in 1940 and then to Australia Barnes returned to

England in 1943 while the U boat war was still at its height After university he left England again to join the Colonial Administrative Service in Nigeria in 1954 as that country was rushed from Protectorate to independence While still on his first tour he caught polio which left him severely paralysed but was able to continue working In 1960 he was transferred to Malawi where the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland was about to be dismantled even more speedily and remained there until 1971 by which time the budget was balanced and he was able to hand over as Permanent Secretary of the Malawian Treasury to a Malawian On his return from Africa soon after this Barnes was appointed to the staff of the European Commission in Brussels specialising in development aid to former European colonies Tragically his wife died of leukaemia shortly after their arrival there and when the expansion of the Community provided the opportunity to take early retirement in 1987 he did so returning to an England in which he had never before lived on any long term basis Full of vivid stories and colourful anecdotes about the management of Empire this moving personal history charts the author's journey from his childhood in Malaya before the Second World War to his present retirement in Hungerford
