A Guide To Qualitative Field Research:

A Guide to Qualitative Field Research Carol A. Bailey, 2007 Thoroughly revised the Second Edition of A Guide to Field Research is designed to assist undergraduate students and other beginning field researchers in carrying out their first qualitative studies. Its rich examples from classic ethnographies as well as examples generated by the author herself help bring alive the abstract principles of field research.

A Guide to Qualitative Field Research Carol A. Bailey, 2007 This second edition contains new discussions on paradigms and the implications of different paradigms is introduced. The role of theory is also expanded and greater attention is paid to analyzing qualitative data.

A Guide to Qualitative Field Research Carol A. Bailey, 2017-11-04 A Guide to Qualitative Field Research provides readers with clear practical and specific instructions for conducting qualitative research in the field. In the expanded Third Edition Carol A. Bailey gives increased attention to the early and last stages of field research often the most difficult selecting a topic deciding upon the purpose of your research and writing the final paper all in her signature reader friendly writing style. This edition features research examples from graduate and undergraduate students to make examples meaningful to fellow students a new Putting It All Together feature with examples of how different parts of the research process interact and more emphasis on the nuts and bolts of research such as what to include in an informed consent form a proposal and the final paper. New to this Edition Objectives features help students focus on the skills they need to develop and can be used as the basis for evaluating whether the skills have been achieved. Expanded coverage of research in virtual settings ensures that readers get a well rounded understanding of both in person and digital research methods. Examples of research conducted by students help students generate ideas for their own research provides concrete examples of the material discussed in the guide and illustrates that field research is not just done by advanced scholars.

Emotions and Reflexivity in Health & Social Care Field Research Helen T. Allan,Anne Arber,2017-11-27 This book is about emotions and reflexivity when doing field research in health and social care settings Health and social care students often undertake field research in their own area of practice using observation and interviews All contributing authors have a dual identity as researchers and health or social care professionals Their chapters draw on research carried out in a number of fields including HIV related infertility and adoption primary care in Africa cancer and palliative care infertility and excluded young people to explore issues relevant to emotions and reflexivity from the perspective of the researcher and research participants The book was born of the two editors who are experienced research supervisors observing that many PhD students struggle to manage the emotions elicited in the field when researching They identify three main causes health and social care deals with painful topics observation and interviews bring student into contact with powerful feelings which need processing there is very little advice and discussion of how a PhD student manages emotions in the field and students therefore frequently struggle on their own This insightful volume will be of great interest to scholars and students in all areas of academic study but particularly to those who chose to study health and social care whether they are professionals or not

User-Oriented Appropriateness Benjamin Gust, 2020-04-03 Public Relations is fundamentally concerned with communication but social networking sites such as Facebook have influenced the way people communicate with one another and interpret text based communication online PR people who have grown up using traditional media often struggle with the new digital world and its unfamiliar techniques and language An increasing number of users on the other hand expect a different form of organisational communication Benjamin Gust presents the new theory of user oriented appropriateness which is helping to communicate well in this new world of digital communication via social media Decolonising Restorative Justice Leanne Alexis Levers, 2023-09-01 This book critically examines the colonial dimensions of restorative justice through the lens of justice policy reform in Jamaica Restorative justice is not new Practices of restitution can be found throughout history predominantly in non Western traditions and religions One of the key principles of restorative practices is contextualisation That is restorative practices are developed and embedded within the political economic and cultural context of the communities in which they are practised Many of the countries that have gone on to develop restorative justice as part of their formal justice system have developed their policy on the model of their indigenous communities for example in Canada and in New Zealand However with the globalisation of restorative practices within the past decade many countries have sought to colonise restorative justice by developing a standardised best practice approach Instead of a practice that is developed and formed by its community colonised restorative justice dictates that one size fits all Examined through the lens of the development and implementation of restorative justice policies in Jamaica this book argues that this Westernised approach diminishes the effectiveness of restorative justice in its capacity to address the victim s needs to hold the offender accountable in a way that reintegrates them into society and to empower the community by involving them in the provision of justice to victims Restorative justice then must be decolonised and local indigenous practices acknowledged if it is to achieve its aims This book will be of interest to a range of scholars with interests in decolonisation as well as alternative dispute resolution especially those in sociolegal studies criminology human rights social policy political science and Caribbean studies
