A Handbook For Honors Programs At Two Year Colleges Nchc Monograph Series:

A Handbook for Honors Programs at Two-year Colleges Theresa Ann James, 2006 This monograph is an idea book for two year institutions thinking of adding an honors program to their list of academic offerings and as such aspires to provide a useful description of the many options available to honors education for the several audiences who as a matter of course may become stakeholders in the operation of a two year college honors program Beyond their need for initial suggestions about starting a successful honors program at their home institutions readers may consider the author's full and various descriptions as an invitation to lift their eyes toward the horizon to envision a full program that will truly serve the needs of the institution This work also acquaints the audience with a selection of key examples that will aid an embryonic program in the sometimes onerous birthing process The handbook includes several appendices that list some useful research about honors including a sample honors retreat and model honors contracts The following are appended 1 Basic Characteristics of a Fully Developed Honors Program 2 Basic Characteristics of a Fully Developed Honors College 3 NCHC Publications Monographs and Resources 4 Sample Honors Retreat by Eddie Weller San Jacinto College South Campus 5 Sample Contracts excerpted from A Sampler of Honors Contracts edited by Roy Colquitt for the Two Year College Committee 1999 and 6 Bibliography JNCHC, 2009 A Handbook for Honors Administrators Ada Long, 1995 Everything an honors administrator needs to know including a description of some models of honors administration Beginning in Honors Samuel Schuman, 2006 Honors in Practice, 2009 Fundraising for Honor$ Larry R. Andrews, 2009 To many honors administrators fundraising is alien and frightening This monograph is directed primarily to honors deans and directors who have widely varying experience with fundraising It may also be useful reading for those staff members faculty and development officers who have some responsibility for honors fundraising It focuses on what the honors academic leader can bring to fundraising efforts Because many honors administrators face fundraising with inexperience dread and even hostility the author has organized the work developmentally beginning with the easiest stages of initiation and progressing toward greater challenges Honors leaders more experienced in fundraising may choose to skim over the early parts to arrive at sections more relevant to their level of experience Readers of course may consult only those topics with which they are least familiar Other sources some listed in the bibliography can provide a more analytic breakdown of the different aspects of fundraising planning procedure and management Some offer detailed instruction and advice on such topics as writing a good case statement The structure this author has chosen to use reflects his own learning process as he moved from a faculty member utterly innocent of fundraising to an experienced dean reasonably comfortable with all aspects of the process The following chapters are presented 1 Baby Steps Getting Started 2 Finding the Pace Increasing the Momentum and 3 Bold Strides Becoming a Pro Appended are the following 1 Glossary 2 NCHC E mail Survey Fall 2007 3 Sample Documents and 4 Annotated Bibliography Cases on Critical and Qualitative Perspectives in Online Higher Education Orleans,

Pursuit of Excellence in a Networked Society Marca V.C. Wolfensberger, Lyndsay Drayer, Judith J.M. Volker, 2014 Pursuit of Excellence in a Networked Society gives an overview of research and practice describing and exploring efforts toward continuous improvement in programming to promote excellence The talent development of students and teachers is a hot topic in today's knowledge based society which increasingly demands innovative reflective and globally aware citizens Educational programmes especially designed to prepare academically motivated students for their future role now wrap around the globe Therefore in order to support continuous growth and opportunities for challenging our advanced learners we have opened up new ways for sharing knowledge and to encourage the building up of partnerships and conversations between researchers and teachers The Research Centre for Talent Development in Higher Education and Society headed by Marca Wolfensberger and based at Hanze University of Applied Sciences in the Netherlands organised the first international conference Evoking Excellence in Higher Education and Beyond As Joseph Renzulli says in the foreword this conference brought together scholars and educators from around the world to share their work in promoting high level learning experiences Presenters discussed their research and practical efforts in honours programmes gifted programmes and other contexts aimed at evoking excellence This book offers a selection of the work of those presenting at this conference Across six chapters the following topics are discussed teaching strategies culture of excellence students perspectives professional excellence ethics and intercultural perspectives and giftedness across educational sectors The book offers readers a comprehensive view of the field of excellence in education as well as an overview for readers interested in setting up initiatives to foster excellence among their own students and employees

Honors Programs at Smaller Colleges. 3rd Edition. National Collegiate Honors Council Monograph Series Samuel Schuman, 2011 This monograph focuses upon areas of special concern to those working with honors at smaller colleges and universities mission recruitment facilities administration budget and curriculum In each area the author makes some general suggestions about overall operating principles note specific issues that can lead to difficulties and suggest proven solutions and strategies Needless to say this volume offers a set of selective suggestions with no pretensions to encyclopedic comprehension The first edition of this monograph appeared in 1988 The handbook was revised in 1998 Honors colleges were still relatively rare at the end of the twentieth century but they have subsequently become ubiquitous This revision like most preserves what continues to be useful eliminates the antique and adds discussions of issues that have moved to the forefront in recent years Some of those new issues include curricular developments such as those noted above Others include shifts in pedagogy including the increased emphasis on experiential teaching styles such as service learning The demographics of undergraduate student populations continue to shift expanding rapidly in both ethnicity and age The technologies of instruction have changed dramatically since the turn of the century And of course the funding levels and perceived social standing of American higher education have not remained stable often moving in directions that have been the cause more of lamentation than celebration The following are appended 1 Illustrative Hypothetical Programs and 2 Characteristics of a Fully Developed Honors Program Honors Composition Annmarie Guzy, 2003 Honors Composition Historical Perspectives and Contemporary Practices details the results of a study of parallel historical developments in honors and composition studies and contemporary honors writing projects ranging from admission essays to these as reported by over 300 NCHC members Honors Programs C.
