A History Of Modern Tourism:

A History of Modern Tourism Eric Zuelow, 2015-10-26 Tourism is one of the largest industries in the world yet leisure travel is more than just economically important. It plays a vital role in defining who we are by helping to place us in space and time. In so doing it has aesthetic, medical, political, cultural, and social implications. However, it hasn't always been so. Tourism as we know it is a surprisingly modern thing, both a product of modernity and a force helping to shape it. A History of Modern Tourism is the first book to track the origins and evolution of this pursuit from earliest times to the present. From a new understanding of aesthetics to scientific change from the invention of steam power to the creation of aircraft from an elite form of education to family car trips to see national shrines, this book offers a sweeping and engaging overview of a fascinating story not yet widely known.

The Making of Modern Tourism Barbara Korte, C. Harvie, R. Schneider, Hartmut Berghoff, 2002-01-16 At the end of the twentieth century, tourism is the world's largest single industry. Tourism, however, is not only an economic and social phenomenon but can be read in semiotic terms centred around dreams of alternatives to everyday life. The images which today dominate advertisements for tourist products had to be constructed and sustained, invented and remoulded over a long historical process. It seems that without this distinctive historical and cultural baggage, the remarkable social practice of taking holidays would not have evolved. Even if tourism saw its most spectacular development in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in terms of the numbers involved, it rests on a cultural foundation inaugurated in the early modern period. The Making of Modern Tourism was a long-term process deeply rooted in the cultural and intellectual, economic and social history of Britain.

The Oxford Handbook of Tourism History Eric G. E. Zuelow, Kevin J. James, 2025-02-24 The Oxford Handbook of Tourism History offers a critical survey of the development of the field that unites historical scholarship along thematic lines and uses examples from diverse places to examine a wide set of tourism policies, practices, and niches in a global transnational context.

streams and levels      Creating Irish Tourism William H. A. Williams, 2011 Based on the accounts of British and Anglo Irish travelers Creating Irish Tourism charts the development of tourism in Ireland from its origins in the mid eighteenth century to the country's emergence as a major European tourist destination a century later The work shows how the Irish tourist experience evolved out of the interactions among travel writers landlords and visitors with the peasants who as guides jarvis venders porters and beggars were as much a part of Irish tourism as the scenery itself      In the Province of History Ian McKay, Robin Bates, 2010 How a region sells and misrepresents its past      Imagining the Tropics Elizabeth S. Manley, Elizabeth Manley, 2025-05-13 Imagining the Tropics is a history of the development of tourism in the Caribbean from the 1910s through the 1970s that focuses on the ways women's labors of hospitality writing and advocacy built the industry and its ubiquitous imagery of tropical island relaxation escape and romance By examining a range of sources engaging an array of women protagonists and looking broadly across multiple Caribbean island states including Jamaica Cuba the Bahamas Barbados the Dominican Republic Haiti Puerto Rico Trinidad and Tobago and the U S and British Virgin Islands it seeks to understand how the region came to be sold as a romantic escape from the troubles of the modern world By putting women at the center of Caribbean tourism history as both its ambassadors and objects of desire it seeks to explain some of the complicated contradictions that plague the business of pleasure but also to point toward ways of building alternative models to its present and past extractive realities      The Emotional Economy of Holidaymaking Yaara Benger Alaluf, 2021-03-04 It is often taken for granted that holiday resorts sell intangible commodities such as freedom enjoyment pleasure and relaxation But how did the desire for a happy holiday emerge how was the right to rest legitimized and how are emotions produced by commercial enterprises To answer these questions The Emotional Economy of Holidaymaking explores the rise of popular holidaymaking in late nineteenth century Britain which is generally considered to be the birthplace of mass tourism Drawing on a wide range of texts including medical literature parliamentary debates advertisements travel guides popular stories and personal accounts the book unravels the role emotions played in British spa and seaside holiday cultures Introducing the concept of an emotional economy Yaara Benger Alaluf traces the overlapping impact that psychological and economic thought had on moral ideals and performative practices of work and leisure Through a vivid account of changing attitudes toward health pleasure social class and gender in late Victorian and Edwardian Britain she explains why the democratization of holidaymaking went hand in hand with its emotionalization Combining the history of emotions with the sociology of commodification the book offers an innovative approach to the study of the leisure and entertainment industries and a better understanding of how medicalized conceptions of emotions influenced people's dispositions desires consumption habits and civil rights Looking ahead to the central place of tourism in twenty first century societies and its relation to stress and burnout The Emotional Economy of Holidaymaking calls on future research of past and present leisure cultures to take emotions seriously and to rethink notions of rationality authenticity and agency      Tourism, Landscape, and the Irish Character William Williams, 2012-02-24 Picturesque but poor abject yet sublime in its Gothic melancholy the Ireland perceived by British visitors during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries did not fit their ideas of progress propriety and Protestantism The rituals of Irish Catholicism the lamentations of funeral wakes the Irish language they could not comprehend even the landscapes were all strange to tourists from England Wales and Scotland Overlooking the acute despair in England's own industrial cities these travelers opined in their writings that the poverty bog lands and ill thatched houses of rural Ireland indicated moral failures of the Irish character Tourism Management in Southern Africa, 2003

The Memory of Architecture in Edith Wharton's Travel Writings Ágnes Zsófia Kovács, 2024-09-13 Edith Wharton was not only the author of novels and short stories but also of drama poetry autobiography interior decoration and travel writing This study focuses on Wharton's symbolic representations of architecture in her travel writings It shows how a network of allusions to travel writing and art history books influenced Wharton's representations of architectural and natural spaces The book demonstrates Wharton's complex relationship to works of art historians John Ruskin mile M le Arthur C Porter and travel authors Wolfgang Goethe Henry Adams Henry James in the trajectory of her travel writing Kovács surveys how the acknowledgment of Wharton's sources sheds light both on the author's model of aesthetic understanding and scenic architectural descriptions and how the shock of the Great War changed Wharton's travel destinations but not her symbolic view of architecture as a mediator of things past Wharton's symbolic representations of architecture provide a new key to her travel writings

Conflicted Memories Konrad H. Jarausch, Thomas Lindenberger, 2007-05-01 Despite the growing interest in general European history the European dimension is surprisingly absent from the writing of contemporary history In most countries the historiography on the 20th century continues to be dominated by national perspectives Although there is cross national work on specific topics such as occupation or resistance transnational conceptions and narratives of contemporary European history have yet to be worked out This volume focuses on the development of a shared conception of recent European history that will be required as an underpinning for further economic and political integration so as to make lasting cooperation on the old continent possible It tries to overcome the traditional national framing that ironically persists just at a time when organized efforts to transform Europe from an object of debate to an actual subject have some chance of succeeding in making it into a polity in its own right

Feeling Lucky Paul Franke, 2023-07-13 Monte Carlo and Las Vegas have become synonymous with casino gambling

Both destinations featured it as part of a broad variety of leisure and consumption opportunities that normalized games of chance and created emotional atmospheres that supported the hedonistic aspects of gambling. Urban spaces and architecture were carefully designed to enable a rapid growth of the casino industry and produce experiences on previous unimaginable scale. Feeling Lucky is a making of story about cities which acquired a strange and captivating allure of mystery around them. It is more than a mere descriptive account; however, combining urban history, the history of consumption and sociological approaches, it presents a compelling comparative history of Monte Carlo and the Las Vegas Strip between the 1860s and 1970s. Paul Franke takes the reader on a journey from arriving at the cities through the carefully planned urban environments and into the famous casinos. The analysis follows the paths contemporary gamblers would have taken right to the gambling tables and to the shifting gambling practices across a century. Franke shows that casino entrepreneurs succeeded in producing and selling gambling experiences by controlling spaces, adapt leisure practices and appeal to specific markets. Gamblers on the other hand regarded Monte Carlo and Las Vegas as places to engage in games of chance that would allow them to preserve their political, cultural and moral identities.
