A History Of Sub Saharan Africa:

A History of Sub-Saharan Africa Robert O. Collins, James McDonald Burns, 2007 In a trawl through the entire sweep of sub Saharan history the authors have written an accessible introduction for students and general readers The opening chapter on geography and climate frames the discussion demonstrating how the environment has shaped the societies and cultures of those living in the region Thereafter they describe the rise of states and empires in the classical period the slave trade within Africa and beyond to the Americas and the European conquest The concluding section focuses on Africa in the twentieth century as it gains independence and searches for a new identity beyond colonialism While the authors mull over the debates which have shaped the study of African history at the centre of this story are the tragedies triumphs and the resilience of the African people The book is illustrated with photographs maps and sidebars which feature the salient points on either side of the debates Publisher's description from p 4 of cover      A History of Sub-Saharan Africa Robert O. Collins, James McDonald Burns, 2013 The second edition of A History of Sub-Saharan Africa continues to provide an accessible introduction to the continent's history for students and general readers The authors employ a thematic approach to their subject focusing on how the environment has shaped the societies and cultures of the African peoples The text demonstrates how the geography climate and geology of Africa influenced the rise of states and empires the emergence of the trans Atlantic slave trade the European conquest and the creation of independent African nations Yet the book maintains a focus on the peoples whose creative energies built unique communities and traditions within the challenging context of the Africa landmass In the process of reconstructing this continent's rich history the authors analyze the contentious scholarly debates that have emerged from this field The book is illustrated with photographs maps and sidebars that feature the salient points on either side of the debates      A History of Sub-Saharan Africa Robert O. Collins, James M. Burns, 2007-02-08 In a trawl through the entire sweep of sub Saharan history the authors have written an accessible introduction for students and general readers The opening chapter on geography and climate frames the discussion demonstrating how the environment has shaped the societies and cultures of those living in the region Thereafter they describe the rise of states and empires in the classical period the slave trade within Africa and beyond to the Americas and the European conquest The concluding section focuses on Africa in the twentieth century as it gains independence and searches for a new identity beyond colonialism While the authors mull over the debates which have shaped the study of African history at the center of this story are the tragedies triumphs and the resilience of the African people The book is illustrated with photographs maps and sidebars which feature the salient points on either side of the debates      Sub-Saharan Africa Paul Sergius Koku, 2021 Sub Saharan Africa literally remains the gift that keeps giving The more we know about this region of a rich and diverse continent the less we realize that we actually knew Thus this book Sub-Saharan Africa Culture History and People is an effort to yet again revisit a region that we thought we knew It is a culmination of eclectic research efforts both conceptual and empirical that focus on sub Saharan Africa from scholars around the world The book serves as useful compendium to those who already study the field and as an indispensable handbook to beginners who wish study the region An Economic History of Development in sub-Saharan Africa Ellen Hillbom,Erik Green,2019-06-19 This is a desperately needed book It not only surveys the field of African economic history at the level of undergraduate students but provides several fresh perspectives drawing on insights from the latest research on the evolution of African societies and their economic prosperity This valuable source of teaching material will be the premier text on African economic history for at least the next decade Johan Fourie Stellenbosch University South Africa This upper level textbook offers a historical understanding of sub Saharan Africa By looking at the economic history of the African region from before the arrival of European territorial control all the way through to Africa s integration in the current era of globalisation readers can understand the development paths for African countries today Organisation of production social structures trade and governance are key factors in the discussion about African success stories and failures Suitable reading for upper level undergraduates MSc and postgraduate students in addition to policy makers and development practitioners looking for a comprehensive overview of Africa from an economic and social perspective Hillbom and Green also provide a starting point for the study of African economic history for those who would like to continue their own research in this area African Language Literatures Albert S. Gérard,1981

Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Iris Berger,E. Frances White,1999-06-22 These four volumes in this major series provide a single source reference to the status of the field of women s history and to ways that the field can be expanded A basic set for all academic libraries Library Journal Academic Newswire Berger and White focus on Sub Saharan Africa tracing women s history from earliest times to the present By exploring their place in social economic political and religious life the authors highlight the changing societal position of women through shifts over time in ideas about gender and the connections between women s public and private spheres Sub-Saharan Africa Gregory Maddox, Sub-Saharan Africa and the United States Philip R. Cook,1986 The African Poor John Iliffe,1987-12-25 This history of the poor of Sub Saharan Africa begins in the monasteries of thirteenth century Ethiopia and ends in the South African resettlement sites of the 1980s Its thesis derived from histories of poverty in Europe is that most very poor Africans have been individuals incapacitated for labour bereft of support and unable to fend for themselves in a land rich economy There has emerged the distinct poverty of those excluded from access to productive resources Natural disaster brought widespread destitution but as a cause of mass mortality it was almost eliminated in the colonial era to return to those areas where drought has been compounded by administrative breakdown Professor Iliffe investigates what it was like to be poor how the poor sought to help themselves how their counterparts in other continents live The poor live as people rather than merely parading as statistics Famines have alerted the world to African poverty but the problem itself is ancient Its prevailing forms will not be understood until those of earlier periods are revealed and trends of change are identified This is a book for all concerned with the future of Africa as well as for students of poverty elsewhere      Ethnicities and Tribes in Sub-Saharan Africa S. N. Sangmpam, 2017-03-08 This book proposes new avenues for understanding tribal allegiance in Sub Saharan Africa Much research on ethnicity and cultural pluralism in Sub Saharan Africa falsely equates the term tribe with ethnicity and obscures the differences between Sub Saharan Africa and other regions It also puts too much emphasis on the role of the colonial state in fostering tribal allegiance This book challenges these claims and offers an alternate way of understanding tribal allegiance in Sub Saharan Africa      Sub-Saharan Africa, 1989      The History and Government of Sub-Saharan Africa J. M. Klein, 2020-12-15 All of human history begins in Sub Saharan Africa where scientists believe the first humans lived Over time thousands of ethnic groups inhabited the area creating villages cities unique cultures and governments This book explores the historical events movements and people who have shaped the region of Sub Saharan Africa over its long and varied history How did the transatlantic slave trade affect the region How did colonialism change the existing governments there Readers will travel to Sub Saharan Africa through primary sources informative text fact filled sidebars and breathtaking photographs to find the answers      Historic Mosques in Sub-Saharan Africa Stéphane Pradines, 2022-11-07 This book is the first comprehensive synthesis on mosques in sub Saharan Africa bringing together sites from more than twenty states from sub Saharan Africa and more than 285 monuments from the IXth to the XIXth centuries This monograph is divided into three large geographical areas from the earthen mosques of West Africa to the Nile Valleys and the Horn of Africa and to the Indian Ocean shores and Swahili coral stone mosques This book is a statement that African mosques demonstrate cultural links with North Africa Arabia Persia and India these monuments are unique in the history of Islamic architecture and they belong to our World Heritage      Sub-Saharan Africa Lisa Zamosky, 2007-01-05 Trade routes gave rise to the ancient kingdoms in Africa providing a rich history in culture trade and tradition This appealing book allows readers to explore the civilization people culture religion history and traditions of Sub Saharan Africa      Quality of Life and Human Well-Being in Sub-Saharan Africa Valerie Møller, Benjamin J. Roberts, 2021-02-07 This volume presents an account of how people in sub Saharan Africa have fared under changing life circumstances of the past centuries until the present By introducing the geography of the region it traces a time line of different historical periods that have shaped livelihoods of ordinary people of the region and addresses the major milestones in political and economic development It focuses on social indicators pointing to significant changes that have affected the health education and wealth of sub Saharan Africans and their outlook on the future since the wind of change blew through the region With case studies and vignettes the book highlights how individual citizens across the 44 different countries of sub Saharan Africa experience well being and express their aspirations for the future This book provides relevant material for practitioners and policy makers including community and development workers in non governmental and other organizations in sub Saharan African countries      Modern Representations of Sub-Saharan Africa Lori Maguire, Susan Ball, Sébastien Lefait, 2020-11-11 This book examines how representations of African in the Anglophone West have changed in the post imperial age The period since the Second World War has seen profound changes in sub Saharan Africa notably because of decolonization the creation of independent nation states and the transformation of the relationships with the West Using a range of case studies from news media maps popular culture film and TV the contributions assess how narrative and counter narratives have developed and been received by their audiences in light of these changes Examining the overlapping areas between media representations and historical events this book will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies and Media and Cultural Studies     Sub-Saharan Africa United States. General Accounting Office,1988     The Archaeology of Islam in Sub-Saharan Africa Timothy Insoll,2003-07-03 This is the first general study of the impact of Islam in sub Saharan Africa Timothy Insoll charts the historical background as well as the archaeological evidence attesting to the spread of Islam across the Sudan Ethiopia Eastern Africa Southern Africa and Nigeria surveying a time span from the immediate pre Islamic period through to the present He also analyses in detail the syncretism which has occurred between Islam and African traditional religions and looks at the processes jihad trade missionary activity prestige by which Islam spread This book will be of great relevance to scholars and students as well as to all those interested in Africa archaeology religion and Islam     A Selected Bibliography--Sub-Saharan Africa ,1991
