A Korean War Captive In Japan 1597 1600 The Writings Of Kang Hang:

A Korean War Captive in Japan, 1597-1600 JaHyun Kim Haboush, Kenneth Robinson, 2013-07-30 A Korean scholar official taken prisoner in 1597 by an invading Japanese army ruminates on human behavior and the nature of loyalty during a time of war A Korean War Captive in Japan, 1597-1600 JaHyun Kim Haboush, Kenneth R. Robinson, 2013-11-12 Kang Hang was a Korean scholar official taken prisoner in 1597 by an invading Japanese army during the Imjin War of 1592-1598. While in captivity in Japan, Kang recorded his thoughts on human civilization, war, and the enemy's culture and society, acting in effect as a spy for his king. Arranged and printed in the seventeenth century as Kyangnok or The Record of a Shepherd, Kang's writings were extremely valuable to his government, offering new perspective on a society few Koreans had encountered in 150 years and new information on Japanese politics, culture, and military organization. In this complete annotated translation of Kyangnok, Kang ruminates on human behavior and the nature of loyalty during a time of war. A neo-Confucianist with a deep knowledge of Chinese philosophy and history, Kang drew a distinct line between the Confucian values of his world, which distinguished self, family, king, and country, and a foreign culture that practiced invasion and capture, and in his view was largely incapable of civilization. Relating the experiences of a former official who played an exceptional role in wartime and the rare voice of a Korean speaking plainly and insightfully on war and captivity, this volume enables a deeper appreciation of the phenomenon of war at home and abroad. The Portuguese Slave Trade in Early Modern Japan Lúcio De Sousa, 2019-01-21 Winner of the Portuguese Academy of History Award, Gulbenkian Foundation Award in History, 2019. In The Portuguese Slave Trade in Early Modern Japan: Merchants, Jesuits, and Japanese, Chinese, and Korean Slaves, Lucio de Sousa offers a study on the system of traffic of Japanese, Chinese, and Korean slaves from Japan. Using the Portuguese mercantile networks, de Sousa reconstructs the Japanese communities in the Habsburg Empire and analyses the impact of the Japanese slave trade on the Iberian legislation produced in the 16th and first half of the 17th centuries.

Confucian Reform in Chosŏn Korea Woosung Bae, 2022-11-30 Pan gyesurok or Pan gye's Random Jottings was written by the Korean scholar and social critic Yu Hyŏngwŏn (1622-1673), who proposed to reform the Joseon dynasty and realise an ideal Confucian society. It was recognised as a leading work of political science by Yu's contemporaries and continues to be a key text in understanding the intellectual culture of the late Joseon period. Yu describes the problems of the political and social realities of 17th Century Korea, reporting on his attempts to solve these problems using a Confucian philosophical approach. In doing so, he establishes most of the key terminology relating to politics and society in Korea in the late Joseon. His writings were used as a model for reforms within Korea over the following centuries, inspiring social pioneers like Yi Ik and Chŏng Yakyong. Pan gyesurok demonstrates how Confucian thought spread outside China and how it was modified to fit the situation on the Korean peninsula. Providing both the first English translation of the full Pan gyesurok text, as well as glossaries, notes, and research papers on the importance of the text, this four-volume set is an essential resource for international scholars of Sino-Japanese Reflections Joshua A. Fogel, Matthew Fraleigh, 2022-05-09 Sino Japanese Reflections offers ten richly detailed case studies that examine various forms of cultural and literary interaction between Japanese and Chinese intellectuals from the late Ming to the early twentieth century. The authors consider efforts by early modern scholars on each side of the Yellow Sea to understand the language and culture of the other to draw upon received texts and forms and to contribute to shared literary practices. Whereas literary and cultural flow within the Sinosphere is sometimes imagined to be an entirely unidirectional process of textual dissemination from China to the periphery, the contributions to this volume reveal a more complex picture highlighting how literary and cultural engagement was always an opportunity for creative adaptation and negotiation. Examining materials such as Chinese translations of Japanese vernacular poetry, Japanese engagements with Chinese supernatural stories, adaptations of Japanese historical tales into vernacular Chinese Sinitic poetry composed in Japan, and Japanese Sinology, the volume brings together recent work by literary scholars and intellectual historians of multiple generations, all of whom have a strong comparative interest in Sino Japanese studies. Travel Writings on Asia Christian Mueller, Matteo Salonia, 2022-06-09 This open access book provides an analysis of human actors and their capacity to explore and conceptualise their own agency by being curious, gathering knowledge, and shaping identities in their travel reflections on Asia. Thus, the actors open windows across time to present a profound overview of diverse descriptions and constructions of Asia. It is demonstrated that international and transnational history contributes to and benefits from analyses of national and local contexts that in turn enrich our understanding of transcultural encounters and experiences across time. The book proposes an actor-centred contextual approach to travel writing to recount meaningful constructions of Asia's physical, political, and spiritual landscapes. It offers comparative reflections on the patterns of encounter across Eurasia, where from the late medieval period an idea of civilisation was transculturally shared yet also constantly questioned and reframed. Tailored for academic and public discussions alike, this volume will be invaluable for both scholars of Global History and interested audiences to stimulate further discussions on the nature of global encounters in Asia. Turning toward Edification Adam Bohnet, 2020-09-30 Turning toward Edification discusses foreigners in Korea from before the founding of Chosŏn in 1392 until the mid nineteenth century. Although it has been common to describe Chosŏn Korea as a monocultural and homogeneous state, Adam Bohnet reveals the considerable presence of foreigners and people of foreign ancestry in Chosŏn Korea as well as the importance to the Chosŏn monarchy of engagement with the outside world. These foreigners included Jurchens and Japanese from border polities that formed diplomatic relations with Chosŏn prior to 1592; Ming Chinese and Japanese deserters who settled in Chosŏn during the Japanese invasion between 1592 and 1598; Chinese and Jurchen refugees who escaped the Manchu state that formed north of Korea during the early seventeenth century; and even Dutch castaways who arrived in Chosŏn during the mid 1700s. Foreigners were administered by the Chosŏn monarchy through the tax category of submitting foreigner hyanghwain. This term marked such foreigners as uncivilized outsiders coming to Chosŏn.

to receive moral edification and they were granted Korean spouses Korean surnames land agricultural tools fishing boats and protection from personal taxes Originally the status was granted for a limited time however by the seventeenth century it had become hereditary Beginning in the 1750s foreign descendants of Chinese origin were singled out and reclassified as imperial subjects hwangjoin giving them the right to participate in the palace sponsored Ming Loyalist rituals Bohnet argues that the evolution of their status cannot be explained by a Confucian or Sinocentric enthusiasm for China The position of foreigners Chinese or otherwise in Chos n society must be understood in terms of their location within Chos n social hierarchies During the early Chos n all foreigners were clearly located below the sajok aristocracy This did not change even during the eighteenth century when the increasingly bureaucratic state recategorized Ming migrants to better accord with the Chos n state s official Ming Loyalism These changes may be understood in relation to the development of bureaucratized identities in the Qing Empire and elsewhere in the world during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and as part of the vernacularization of elite ideologies that has been noted elsewhere in Eurasia
