The Poetry of Raymond Carver Professor Sandra Lee Kleppe, 2014-04-28 Best known as one of the great short story writers of the twentieth century Raymond Carver also published several volumes of poetry and considered himself as much a poet as a fiction writer Sandra Lee Kleppe combines comparative analysis with an in depth examination of Carver s poems making a case for the quality of Carver s poetic output and showing the central role Carver s pursuit of poetry played in his career as a writer Carver constructed his own organic literary system of autopoetics a concept connected to a paradigm shift in our understanding of the inter relatedness of biological and cultural systems This idea is seen as informing Carver s entire production and a distinguishing feature of Kleppe s book is its contextualization of Carver s poetry within the complex literary and scientific systems that influenced his development as a writer Kleppe addresses the common themes and intertextual links between Carver s poetry and short story careers situates Carver s poetry within the love poem tradition explores the connections between neurology and poetic memories and examines Carver s use of the elegy genre within the context of his terminal illness Tellingly Carver s poetry which has aroused slight interest among literary scholars is frequently taught to medical students This testimony to the interdisciplinary implications of Carver s work suggests the appropriateness of Kleppe s culminating discussion of Carver s work as a bridge between the fields of literature and medicine

An Introductory Philosophy of Medicine James A. Marcum, 2008-05-07 In this book the author explores the shifting philosophical boundaries of modern medical knowledge and practice occasioned by the crisis of quality of care especially in terms of the various humanistic adjustments to the biomedical model To that end he examines the metaphysical epistemological and ethical boundaries of these medical models He begins with their metaphysics analyzing the metaphysical positions and presuppositions and ontological commitments upon which medical knowledge and practice is founded Next he considers the epistemological issues that face these medical models particularly those driven by methodological procedures undertaken by epistemic agents to constitute medical knowledge and practice Finally he examines the axiological boundaries and the ethical implications of each model especially in terms of the physician patient relationship In a concluding Epilogue he discusses how the philosophical analysis of the humanization of modern medicine helps to address the crisis of care as well as the question of What is medicine The book s unique features include a comprehensive coverage of the various topics in the philosophy of medicine that have emerged over the past several decades and a philosophical context for embedding bioethical discussions The book s target audiences include both undergraduate and graduate students as well as healthcare professionals and professional philosophers This book is the 99th issue of the Series Philosophy and Medicine and it can be considered a crown of thirty years of intensive and dynamic discussion in the field We are completely convinced that after its publication it can be finally said that undoubtedly the philosophy of medicine exists as a special field of inquiry

Sex, Sickness, and Slavery Marli F. Weiner, Mayzie

Medicine and Western Civilization David J. Rothman, Steven Marcus, Stephanie A. Kiceluk, 1995 This fabulous anthology is sure to be a core text for history of medicine and social science classes in colleges across the country In order to demonstrate how medical research has influenced Western cultural perspectives the editors have collected original works from 61 different authors around nine major themes among them Anatomy and Destiny Psyche and Soma and The Construction of Pain Suffering and Death The authors range from Aristotle the Bible and Louis Pasteur to Masters and Johnson Ernest Hemingway and Simone de Beauvoir The primary sources selected to illustrate the themes are well chosen and contrast with each other nicely However the brief background material for the selections center around the authors and offer little or no discussion about the selections relevance to the topics at hand This book would be best read in a class or group where the texts meaning in relation to each other can be discussed but the book can stand alone if the reader is prepared to do some critical thinking Teaching Medical Professionalism Richard L. Cruess, Sylvia R. Cruess, Yvonne Steinert, 2016-03-29 This book presents ideas and guidance about human development to enhance medical education's ability to form competent and responsible physicians

Lives We Carry with Us Robert Coles, 2010-08-10

Lives We Carry with Us gathers together for the first time a diverse cross section of Coles's profiles originally published in our premier magazines over the span of five decades but never before collected in book form. Depicting the famous, the lesser known, and the unknown, the profiles here include portraits of James Agee, Dorothy Day, Erik Erikson, Dorothea Lange, Walker Percy, Bruce Springsteen, Simone Weil, and William Carlos Williams, among others. Coles has chosen figures whom he considers his guardian spirits: individuals who shaped, challenged, and inspired one of the great moral voices of our era. Profiles include James Rufus Agee (1909-1955), who was one of the most influential film critics in the U.S. He was the author of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men, to which he contributed the text, and Walker Evans contributed the photographs, which grew out of an assignment the two men accepted in 1936 to produce a magazine article on the conditions among white sharecropper families in the American South. His autobiographical novel A Death in the Family (1957) won the author a posthumous Pulitzer Prize. Simone Weil (1909-1943) was a French philosopher, activist, and religious searcher whose death in 1943 was hastened by starvation. Weil published during her lifetime only a few poems and articles. With her posthumous works, 16 volumes in all, Weil has earned a reputation as one of the most original thinkers of her era. T.S. Eliot described her as a woman of genius of a kind of genius akin to that of the saints. William Carlos Williams (1893-1963) was an American poet who was also a pediatrician and general practitioner of medicine. Williams worked harder at being a writer than he did at being a physician, wrote biographer Linda Wagner Martin, but during his long lifetime Williams excelled at both. He considered himself a socialist and opponent of capitalism and is probably spinning in his grave at the current state of things economically and socially. One of his best known poems is an apology poem taught to most American children in elementary school called This Is Just to Say. I have eaten the plums that were in the icebox and which you were probably saving for breakfast. Forgive me they were delicious, so sweet and so cold. Dorothy Day (1897-1980) was an American journalist and social activist who became most famous for founding with Peter Maurin the Catholic Worker movement, a nonviolent pacifist movement which combines direct aid for the poor and homeless with nonviolent direct action on their behalf. Dorothea Lange (1895-1965) was a hugely influential American documentary photographer and photojournalist, best known for her Depression-era work for the Farm Security Administration (FSA). Lange's photographs humanized the tragic consequences of the Great Depression and profoundly influenced the development of documentary photography, one of Robert Coles's great passions. Erik Erikson (1902-1994) was a Danish-German-American developmental psychologist and psychoanalyst known for his theories on social development of human beings. He may be most famous for coining the phrase identity crisis. Erikson's greatest innovation was to postulate not five stages of development as Freud has done with his psychosexual stages, but eight. Erik Erikson believed that every human being goes through a certain number of stages to reach his or her full development, theorizing eight stages that a human being goes through from birth to death Walker Percy 1916 1990 was an American southern author best known for his philosophical novels set in and around New Orleans the first of which The Moviegoer won the National Book Award for Fiction in 1962 He devoted his literary life to the exploration of the dislocation of man in the modern age His work displays a unique combination of existential questioning Southern sensibility and deep Catholic faith all themes of great interest to Coles Bruce Frederick Joseph Springsteen born September 23 1949 has long been in Robert Coles orbit and he once held a concert as a fundraiser for Coles magazine Double Take now defunct Springsteen s most successful studio albums Born to Run and Born in the U S A epitomize his penchant for finding grandeur in the struggles of daily life in America and the latter album made him one of the most recognized artists of the 1980s within the United States      Sunflowers Kalpna Singh-Chitnis,2023-12-06 Sunflowers Ukrainian Poetry on War Resistance Hope and Peace edited by Indian American poet Kalpna Singh Chitnis and published by River Paw Press features a diverse array of poems focusing on war and peace written in the wake of the current armed conflict between Russia and Ukraine This compilation includes contributions from seventy eight poets from Ukraine and various global regions presenting works in their original Cyrillic language alongside their translations in English Additionally the collection includes poems from Anglophone writers worldwide reflecting on the war and the humanitarian crisis in Ukraine
