A Thousand Cuts A Novel:

A Thousand Cuts Dennis Bartok, Jeff Joseph, 2016-08-25 A Thousand Cuts is a candid exploration of one of America's strangest and most quickly vanishing subcultures. It is about the death of physical film in the digital era and about a paranoid, secretive, eccentric, and sometimes obsessive group of film mad collectors who made movies and their projection a private religion in the time before DVDs and Blu-rays. The book includes the stories of film historian/critic Leonard Maltin, TCM host Robert Osborne discussing Rock Hudson's secret 1970s film vault, RoboCop producer Jon Davison dropping acid and screening King Kong with Jefferson Airplane at the Fillmore East, and Academy Award-winning film historian Kevin Brownlow recounting his decades-long quest to restore the 1927 Napoleon. Other lesser-known but equally fascinating subjects include one-legged former Broadway dancer Tony Turano who lives in a Norma Desmond-like world of decaying movie memories and notorious film pirate Al Beardsley, one of the men responsible for putting O.J. Simpson behind bars. Authors Dennis Bartok and Jeff Joseph examine one of the least-known episodes in modern legal history: the FBI's and Justice Department's campaign to harass, intimidate, and arrest film dealers and collectors in the early 1970s. Many of those persecuted were gay men. Victims included Planet of the Apes star Roddy McDowall, who was arrested in 1974 for film collecting and forced to name names of fellow collectors, including Rock Hudson and Mel Tormé. A Thousand Cuts explores the obsessions of the colorful individuals who created their own screening rooms, spent vast sums negotiating underground networks, and even risked legal jeopardy to pursue their passion for real physical film.

A Thousand Cuts Simon Lelic, 2010 It should be an open and shut case: Samuel Szajkowski, a recently hired history teacher, walked into a school assembly with a gun and murdered three students and a colleague before turning the weapon on himself. It was a tragedy that could not have been predicted. Szajkowski it seems clear was a psychopath beyond help. Yet as Detective Inspector Lucia May begins to piece together the testimonies of the various witnesses, an uglier and more complex picture emerges, calling into question the innocence of others. But no one, including Lucia's boss, is interested. From publisher's description

A Thousand Cuts Simon Lelic, 2010 In the aftermath of a school shooting in which a recently hired history teacher killed three students and a colleague before turning the gun on himself, Detective Inspector Lucia May pieces together witness testimonies and discovers a more sinister truth: that her superiors are not interested in revealing

A Thousand Cuts Melissa Toppen, 2020-01-21 I used to believe in fairy tales. But then I grew up and I realized that life isn't like the books I once loved so much. There are no princes riding in on their white horses. No magic wands or fairy godmothers. And no happily ever afters. Ryland Thorpe taught me the hard way that good doesn't always win, and sometimes the people we trust the most are the ones that can hurt us the deepest. At fifteen, my world began and ended with him. He was my older brother's best friend. He was my protector. He was the boy I had loved since I was old enough to understand what loving someone meant. And he was a liar. It's been five years since I've seen him. Five long years, and the memory of him still haunts me like it was yesterday. Only he's not just a memory anymore. Prison has hardened him changed him altered him in ways I never expected But beneath it all I can still see a glimmer of the boy I used to love When lies are exposed and secrets are revealed I find myself questioning everything I thought I knew They say the first cut is the deepest They were wrong A Thousand Cuts is a complete standalone novel in the Cell Block C Series A five book series each book written by a different author in The Romance Collaborative Julio Cortázar Carlos J.
