When Is Limpopo 2015 Supplementary Result Out:

Sustainable Development Goals and Urban Health Abraham R. Matamanda, Verna Nel, 2024-09-28 The main aim of this book is to understand the interplay between the SDGs and urban health This is a critical issue in cities considering the complexity of health issues and how they transcend most SDGs However the SDGs are premised on a broad set of generalised indicators and targets Simultaneously local contexts differ thus a one size fits all understanding of urban health problems is not helpful Therefore the SDGs require Health in All Policies HiAP an approach to public policy across sectors that systematically takes into account the health implications of decisions seeks synergies and avoids harmful health impacts to improve population health and health equity Ramirez Rubio et al 2019 In applying the HiAP concept this book adopts a case study approach and considers the poor neighborhoods of a South African city specifically Bloemfontein part of the Mangaung Metropolitan Municipality Each chapter presented in the book considers a particular SDG and how that goal relates to urban health

Sustainability of Southern African Ecosystems under Global Change Graham P. von Maltitz, Guy F. Midgley, Jennifer Veitch, Christian Brümmer, Reimund P. Rötter, Finn A. Viehberg, Maik Veste, 2024-01-05 This open access book about the sustainability of marine and terrestrial ecosystems in southern Africa provides a synthesis of the research program Science Partnerships for the Adaptation to Complex Earth System Processes SPACES II 2018 2022 It addresses the scientific social and economic issues related to climate change its potential impacts on the various ecosystems adaptations and management interventions for enhancing systems resilience in Southern Africa It is written by numerous scientists from African states and Germany and summarizes the latest research findings which are of great relevance for a better understanding of climate change impacts adaptations and vulnerabilities as well as for developing management options and policy options to reduce the associated risks This is crucial considering that the projected African population increase is exceptional Furthermore climate change is assumed to hit southern Africa extremely hard with a significant increase in extreme events and the frequency of severe droughts heat waves and flooding Southern Africa hosts a high variety of ecosystems which belongs to important biodiversity hotspots for unique flora and fauna The surrounding oceans form in turn a bottle neck within the ocean s global thermohaline circulation act as a still poorly understood carbon sink and source and play an important role for fisheries as they are highly productive Considering these important aspects the book is an important interdisciplinary contribution to the scientific literature and will find a wide readership The book is aimed at students teachers and scientists in the fields of terrestrial and marine ecology environmental nature and landscape planning agriculture environmental and resource management biodiversity and nature conservation as well as scientists and representatives in specialised authorities and associations nature conservationists and policy makers of related disciplines

Charcoal, Food, and Water Production in the Tropics: Applying Nexus Thinking to Improve Research and Policy Approaches in Complex Landscapes Tuyeni Heita Mwampamba, Adrian Ghilardi, Rob Bailis, 2020-02-04 Editorial Tuyeni H Mwampamba Rob Bailis Adrian Ghilardi Urbanization food and water consumption trends in many tropical countries show that demand for charcoal as a source of cooking energy meat grain and water will rise to proportions that surpass the ability of existing ecosystems to supply these services simultaneously and at desired qualities Consequently drastic changes to policy and practice are needed to improve ecosystem potential and or alter demand trends Traditional charcoal production in sub Saharan Africa South East Asia and Latin America often competes or co exists with livestock keeping and agriculture and has a tendency to occur in water limited woodlands The co occurrence of charcoal and food production results in complex landscapes characterized by strong interactions between subsystems managed by multiple sets of actors with potentially competing objectives These social ecological systems provide goods and services that are essential to millions of people throughout the global south Nevertheless there have been very few detailed studies of such systems particularly on the individual and combined effects of charcoal crop and livestock production on the hydrological system that maintains them and vice versa As a result these multi use landscapes are typically managed by short sighted highly generalized mono sectorial policies that ignore important tradeoffs and undercapitalize on synergies A system level approach could provide important insights that improve and expand current understanding of this energy food water nexus Tackling urgent and complex problems composed of multiple and interrelated factors lies at the heart of nexus thinking an approach that examines the inter relatedness and interdependencies of environmental resources and their transitions and fluxes across spatial scales and between compartments UNU FLORES 2015 and relies on interdisciplinary research and multi sector policy teams It has attracted significant interest from international organizations the private sector and governments as a way to develop integrated equitable solutions that involve inputs from multiple stakeholders However this approach is notably absent in the research arena Identifying appropriate interventions for achieving sustainable charcoal and food production and maintaining the underlying hydrological system on which they depend requires that the systems are considered simultaneously and that their biophysical social and political inter relations are well understood Taking charcoal as the nexus entry point this Research Topic aims to generate new understanding of charcoal production systems by incorporating agriculture and hydrology into the matrix We were interested in empirical articles reviews meta analytical articles and perspective papers that address at least two of the three nexus components and which offer provocative and insightful perspectives into the nexus as a whole We hope that this Research Topic will 1 facilitate identification of research gaps policy opportunities and priorities for the nexus 2 kick start the development of a community of researchers and practitioners working on the nexus and 3 permit the development of a research agenda that explores the nexus globally across multiple study sites

Water Crises and Sustainable Management in the Global South Sylvester Chibueze Izah,Matthew Chidozie Ogwu,Athanasios Loukas,Hossein Hamidifar,2024 Zusammenfassung This book is a reference material on how to sustainably manage water crises The causes and effects of water crises under different regions in the Global South are explored in this book Approaches for the sustainable management of water crises are also highlighted in the book especially in the Global South where the level of technologies available for sustainable management of water are limited Water crisis is a global problem but with disproportionate higher consequences in the Global South About 25% of the global population resides in water stressed countries and about 10% of the world population lives in areas with high water vulnerability Furthermore many millions of people across the globe lack access to potable water supplies As such many people could be displaced by water crises or scarcity shortly The effects of the water crisis on the environment include increased salinity nutrient pollution the loss of floodplains the drying of riverbeds the loss of habitat wetlands disappearing and ecosystem loss On the human level it could lead to disease outbreaks drought famine and death This may have more severe effects in countries in the Global South as compared to nations in the Global North This is because the water cycle is very intense in Asia and Africa which are important areas in the Global South This book is of interest and useful to aquatic toxicologists water quality experts practitioners trainees and trainers environmentalists biological sciences scientists academics researchers students especially undergraduates and postgraduates libraries and other public knowledge repositories interested in novel and advanced practices in sustainable water management management water service delivery dilapidated water infrastructure dysfunctional local governments and overall excessive water degradation is illustrated and emphasized using real life examples and case studies from various contexts within the country The main argument of the book is that South Africa s freshwater resources have declined to such an extent that it can be described as a predicament Questionable water governance decisions and reactive water management practices have led to no improvement and or increased degradation of freshwater resources An overall lack of service delivery exists across the country in various contexts leading to further water and social decline An inter disciplinary evaluation of South Africa s current water predicament is provided major water crises are prioritized and suitable recommendations are given to transform its predicament into problems which can be addressed Suitable background information is given to emphasize the necessity of good water governance management and service delivery South Africa s freshwater resources are evaluated with specific focus on the decline of informed water governance management service delivery and water quality Factors requiring urgent attention are determined and suitable recommendations and or actions are provided An evaluation and overall synthesis focused on the transformation of the predicament into problems is provided Primary water problems are prioritized according to urgency and suitable recommendations are given to assist in transforming the country s current complex water predicament into simpler water problems Political will collaboration with researchers stakeholders non governmental organizations and cooperation of civil society is required South Africa s already scarce freshwater resources and decaying infrastructure will persist and possibly collapse if no major actions or interventions are implemented
