Breaking a Rainbow, Building a Nation Rekgotsofetse Chikane, 2018-10-01 Breaking a Rainbow Building a Nation is a first hand account of the university protests that gripped South Africa between 2015 and 2017 widely better known as the FeesMustFall Chikane outlines the nature of student politics in the country before during and after the emergence of MustFall politics exploring the political dynamics that informed and drove the student protests and the effect that these MustFall movements have had on the nature of youth politics in the country Chikane looks at how the current nature of youth politics is different from previous youth upheavals that have defined South Africa specifically due to the fact that the protests were being led by so called coconuts who are part of the black elite Breaking a Rainbow Building a Nation poses the provocative question can coconuts be trusted with the revolution

Male Infertility Sergio Oehninger, Thinus Kruger, 2007-01-23 Male factor infertility is a common problem in reproductive medicine and can have a significant effect of the outcome of IVF treatment This comprehensive book covers the diagnosis and treatment of male factor infertility in depth It opens with a section on the basic science underlying the production of male gametes There is then a major section Global Development of the Community College Model Carmen L. McCrink, Heidi Whitford, Natasha C. Stubbs, 2017-04-10 While the community college is a longstanding institutional type within the U S the success of this model has recently garnered international attention As countries outside the U S grapple with issues regarding access and affordability of higher education opportunity the concept of the community college has gained traction This issue explores The global expansion and development of the community college model in various countries and regions around the world Insights into the establishment and sustainability of these institutions in other countries through research and analysis and Case studies that focus on the development and implementation process of community colleges amid various social political and economic contexts This is the 177th volume of this Jossey Bass quarterly report series Essential to the professional libraries of presidents vice presidents deans and other leaders in today's open door institutions New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission Students with Disabilities and the Transition to Work Oliver Mutanga, 2019-07-01 This book sets out to understand how students with disabilities experience higher education and the transition to the workplace It foregrounds the voices of students and graduates in order to explore identity inclusion participation and success of youth with disabilities in higher education as well as their transition from university to employment The author proposes a new understanding of disability considered in terms of a continuum of abilities balancing empirical data theory and policy analysis with specific regard to the interests of youth with disabilities making a unique contribution to discussions on access inclusion and success in higher education and employment These discussions inform social development and educational policy planning and implementation not only in South Africa but also in countries with a similar context particularly in terms of remedial courses of action that bring social justice to people with disabilities Students with Disabilities and the Transition to Work will be of interest to all scholars and students working in the fields of disability studies particularly those with a focus on critical disability studies and disability in the global south as well as those working in higher education sociology development studies and social policy Going to University Case, Jennifer, Marshall, Delia, 2018-02-09 Around the world more young people than ever before are attending university Student numbers in South Africa have doubled since democracy and for many families higher education is a route to a better future for their children But alongside the overwhelming demand for higher education questions about its purposes have intensified Deliberations about the curriculum culture and costing of public higher education abound from student activists academics parents civil society and policy makers We know from macro research that South African graduates generally have good employment prospects But little is known at a detailed level about how young people actually make use of their university experiences to craft their life courses And even less is known about what happens to those who drop out This accessible book brings together the rich life stories of 73 young people six years after they began their university studies It traces how going to university influences not only their employment options but also nurtures the agency needed to chart their own way and to engage critically with the world around them The book offers deep insights into the ways in which public higher education is both a private and public good and it provides significant conclusions pertinent to anyone who works in and cares about universities

Achieving Nelson Mandela University? Sibongile Muthwa, Denver A. Webb, 2024-08-20 South Africa's higher education sector is rooted in the country's divided past A significant State driven restructuring from around 1997 to 2005 resulted in what is largely the current configuration of public universities But just over two decades later for a variety of reasons the higher education sector in South Africa appears beset with numerous challenges Nelson Mandela University is one of the public universities that emerged from the restructuring process The university is in an ongoing state of evolution of becoming It developed out of the amalgamation of the University of Port Elizabeth Port Elizabeth Technikon and incorporation of the Port Elizabeth campus of Vista University as Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University in 2005 In 2017 it was renamed Nelson Mandela University after the world renowned statesman rather than the metropolitan area in which the university is primarily located The renaming was conceptualised as more than a marketing opportunity to rebrand the university but as an opportunity to reorientate the university to reposition Nelson Mandela University as an engaged and socially embedded university in the service of society striving to be the academic expression of the values and ethos of its iconic namesake Endeavouring to be something greater and different from the norm imbues its strategy public statements and practices The determination to achieve Mandela University serves or is intended to serve as both an organising principle and a lodestar A cross section of writers from different backgrounds situates Nelson Mandela University within the contemporary historical moment from which it emerged and examines its subsequent evolution While Nelson Mandela University has performed the usual work expected of any university it has also sought to turn the university outwards to achieve a higher purpose framing itself as a values based university on a journey to become something else In Achieving Nelson Mandela University the university attempts to give an account of itself The book is an intellectual and scholarly reflection on where the university has come from and where it is seeking to go

Where Am I in the Picture? Claudia Mitchell, Katarina Giritli-Nygren, Relebohile Molestane, 2023-12-18 Positionality and researcher reflexivity how to account for one's subject position remain as challenges for new researchers But they also remain as challenges for experienced researchers who are often involved in multiple research projects simultaneously Where Am I in the Picture sheds light on the idea of researcher positionality through visual methodologies particularly in the context of studying rurality in Canada Sweden and South Africa The book is intended for new and experienced researchers seeking to decolonize their own perspectives in research in the social sciences and humanities It incorporates photographs drawings and memory work to highlight the social constructedness of what counts as rural Drawing together compelling narratives from researchers about their positionality in studying rurality the book highlights a need for greater attention to where we are in the picture more broadly It suggests that when it comes to the rural researchers need to rethink the interplay of dominant images insider and outsider perspectives and what this interplay means in relation to interpretation Where Am I in the Picture presents a new vision of how to take into consideration positionality in research

Possibilities and Complexities of Decolonising Higher Education Aneta Hayes, Kathy Lockett, Greg William Misiasek, 2023-03-31 The chapters in this book highlight the possibilities and complexities of putting decolonial theory to work in higher education in Northern and Southern contexts across the globe This book looks at decolonial work as praxis involving transformation at a range of levels from theoretical development national policy institutional policy and culture academic discipline programme course classroom student and the self Our authors argue that praxis in their contexts includes working at institutional level to undo the historical power of coloniality in universities in the metropolises introducing Indigenous knowledges into curricula and undoing the effects of coloniality in embodiment temporality and whiteness We as editors argue for the need for transformation of the self as well as structures and highlight qualities such as reflexivity on our own entanglements with coloniality and why they occur in this undoing The approach offered in this book emphasises the connection between significant personal change as a pre condition and an epistemological process to connect critical decolonial theory and our teaching practice The book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching in Higher Education

One World, Many Knowledges Halvorsen, Tar, Vale,

Peter,2016-05-12 Various forms of academic co operation criss cross the modern university system in a bewildering number of ways from the open exchange of ideas and knowledge to the sharing of research results and frank discussions about research challenges Embedded in these scholarly networks is the question of whether a global template for the management of both higher education and national research organisations is necessary and if so must institutions slavishly follow the high flown language of the global knowledge society or risk falling behind in the ubiquitous university ranking system Or are there alternatives that can achieve a better more ethically inclined world Basing their observations on their own experiences an interesting mix of seasoned scholars and new voices from southern Africa and the Nordic region offer critical perspectives on issues of inter and cross regional academic co operation Several of the chapters also touch on the evolution of the higher education sector in the two regions An absorbing and intelligent study this book will be invaluable for anyone interested in the strategies scholars are using to adapt to the interconnectedness of the modern world It offers fresh insights into how academics are attempting to protect the spaces in which they can freely and openly debate the challenges they face while aiming to transform higher education and foster scholarly collaboration The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a partnership of higher education institutions from Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe SANORD s primary aim is to promote multilateral research co operation on matters of importance to the development of both regions Our activities are based on the values of democracy equity and mutually beneficial academic engagement

University Access and Success Merridy Wilson-Strydom,2015-02-11 The challenge of widening access and participation in higher education in a manner that ensures students are successful in their studies is a major issue globally and a significant research focus within higher education studies and higher education policy Similarly the challenge of under preparedness of students entering higher education has become increasingly pertinent as universities in both developed and developing countries struggle to improve their throughput rates in a context in which schooling no longer seems to provide sufficient preparation for entering university In this book Merridy Wilson Strydom applies the capabilities approach to better understand university access and participation and draws on a rich case study from South Africa to critically and innovatively explore the complex and contradictory terrain of access with success The book integrates quantitative and qualitative research with theory and practical application to provide a new framework for considering and improving the transition from school to university University Access and Success will appeal to academics and researchers in the field of higher education internationally The book also contributes to the growing body of international and comparative scholarship on the capabilities approach in higher education and will therefore be of value to higher education practitioners such as those working in the promotion of teaching and learning higher education quality assurance institutional research and student affairs
