Origins Welfare State V3 Nicholas Deakin,2021-12-24 First published in 2004 Consisting of both shorter pieces and reprints of entire books this set restores to circulation a number of key texts from the debate about the future of welfare that took place in Britain following the depression The collection covers the following areas The period during which the country felt the full impact of the world depression A number of solutions were put forward during this time to address the arising issues in particular the consequences of mass unemployment The approaches ranged from orthodox Marxism to modified conservatism and middle opinion A key feature of the debate was the concept of planning as a device to enable governments to cope with economic and social problems A range of different ideas were widely canvassed during the war years It was considered that successful conduct of war could then be applied to the problems of peace This set resurrects certain proposals influential in the climate of the times which have subsequently dropped out of circulation Early assessments dealing with the implications of Welfare State legislation are also included Although the implementation of the welfare programme was in effect a bipartisan process it did not take long for doubts to be expressed some of which were directed at the principles on which the Welfare State was being constructed Volume 3 includes Working Class Wives TO HELL IN A HANDCART John B Shanks and Jeni Kingston,2019-11-19 Captured near Dieppe in August 1942 after crash landing his Spitfire John Shanks was sent to Lamsdorf PoW camp where he kept an almost daily account of his life there He was just 20 years old but due to the deprivations of camp life felt 40 when he was liberated 2 years later At the end of the war as the Soviet Army was advancing German authorities decided to evacuate the PoW camps and march the internees westward The March took a harrowing toll on the already undernourished and ill equipped PoWs The winter was the worst for nearly 50 years reaching temperatures as low as 25C The conditions made marching treacherous especially as the columns of 200 300 PoWs often had to march up to 30kms a day across fields and through deep snow Night time billets were equally difficult and food often unobtainable Many PoWs died during this appalling time His diaries are not only a compelling insight into the despair and struggle but also the hope and camaraderie that comprised his wartime experience They also are an interesting reflection on the disenchantment felt by so many after the war in Europe ended and the suspicion that future conflicts were just around the corner
