He drove his own Ariel boats in competitions both in Canada and the United States His reputation was such that in 1951 when Colonel Gordon Thompson of London Ontario purchased Miss Canada IV and renamed her Miss Supertest he hired Bill Braden to drive the boat This began a five year relationship with the Thompson family which culminated in the 1956 Harmsworth Trophy challenge where for the first time a Canadian boat captured one heat off of the American boat and where Bill Braden proved his courage while almost dying behind the wheel of his hydroplane The story had a sad ending two summers later when Will returned to boat racing and was killed in a freak accident while competing for the Duke of York Trophy on Fairy Lake at Huntsville Ontario He left behind a widow and six young children as well as a sterling legacy that has survived five plus decades of scrutiny

A Taste for China Eugenia Zuroski Jenkins, 2013-05-23 A Taste for China offers an account of how literature of the long eighteenth century generated a model of English selfhood dependent on figures of China It shows how various genres of writing in this period call upon things Chinese to define the tasteful English subject of modernity Chinoiserie is no mere exotic curiosity in this culture but a potent multivalent sign of England's participation in a cosmopolitan world order

A Taste of The Divine Osho, A Taste for the Foreign Ellen R. Welch, 2011-03-14 A Taste for the Foreign examines foreignness as a crucial aesthetic category for the development of prose fiction from Jacques Amyot's 1547 translation of The Ethiopian Story to Antoine Galland's early eighteenth century version of The Thousand and One Nights While fantastic storylines and elements of magic were increasingly shunned by a neo classicist literary culture that valued verisimilitude above all else writers and critics surmised that the depiction of exotic lands could offer a superior source for the novelty variety and marvelousness that constituted fiction's appeal In this sense early modern fiction presents itself as privileged site for thinking through the literary and cultural stakes of exoticism or the taste for the foreign Long before the term exoticism came into common parlance in France fiction writers thus demonstrated their understanding of the special kinds of aesthetic pleasure produced by evocations of foreignness developing techniques to simulate those delights through imitations of the exotic As early modern readers eagerly consumed travel narratives maps and international newsletters novelists discovered ways to blur the distinction between true and imaginary representations of the foreign tantalizing readers with an illusion of learning about the faraway lands that captured their imaginations This book analyzes the creative appropriations of those scientific or documentary forms of writing that claimed to inform the French public about exotic places Concentrating on the most successful examples of some of the most important sub genres of prose fiction in the long seventeenth century heroic romances shorter urban novels fictional memoirs and extraordinary voyages the book examines how these types of fiction creatively appropriate the scientific or documentary forms of writing that claimed to inform the French public about exotic places Published by University of Delaware Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press
