

Now the two had come to realize our move. My tanks with infantry mounted on them and with artillery rounds roaring overhead and exploding up ahead, moved on aggressively but each of us hoped a bit in expectation of that first meeting of sword. Somewhere as we advanced there was none. We just meeting the road, crawling along as we advanced there was none. We had now almost on the flat open terrain and began picking up speed. We had not yet been just open. The only possible answer—our artillery must have done a real long job up that down continued to move, unimpeded by enemy fire.

Nothing you was taking them back they were passing on the big prize—the big goal that was now almost within reach. Excitement increased and so did the speed of the tanks. We were now about halfway to the bridge. AND THEN SOMETHING HAPPENED . . . but then came shock and confusion with the realization that the long bridge loaded and jammed with Germans had been blown up by German!

A Warrior's Quilt of Personal Military History is not your typical history book. Brigadier General Albin F. Iryk, USA (Ret.) writes as a participant of history to allow readers following personal accounts of some of the most significant often overlooked events in military history.

These tales collected on a lifetime career of military service take the reader through the heat of war and into the mindsets of a military leader. Through these pages you will be taken into the heart of the 4th Armored Division loaded into the merciless jaws of Chetumal (the first reconnaissance camp to be liberated by the Allies), survive a harrowing military attack to Saigon, gain insight into great influential leaders like Mac, Lee, John F. Kennedy and the legendary Gen. George S. Patton, and experience a 360-degree perspective of combat from the boots of an infantryman.

A Warrior's Quilt of Personal Military History is a must read for the serious historian and history buff alike. Brigadier General Iryk's dramatic narrative an understanding of some of the most important military events of our nation's history reading the textbooks and setting historical events.

Fox, 2020-03-03 By January 1945 Nazi Germany's defeat seemed inevitable yet much fighting remained The shortest way home for American troops was towards Berlin General George S Patton's Third Army would carve its way into the German heartland the Fourth Armored Division once again serving as his vanguard This companion volume to the author's Patton's Vanguard The United States Army Fourth Armored Division covers the final months of combat the drive to Bitburg the daring exploitation of the bridgeheads on the Moselle Rhine and Main Rivers Patton's ill fated raid to rescue his son in law from a prisoner of war camp deep behind enemy lines the first liberation of a concentration camp on the Western Front the drive toward Chemnitz the controversial push into Czechoslovakia and the little known encounter with General Andrey Vlasov's turncoat Russian Liberation Army A Warrior's Quilt of Personal Military History Albin F. Irzyk, 2011 In this book Brigadier General Irzyk Ret writing not as a historian but as a participant describes some of his experiences at the ground fighting level during World War II and Vietnam He believes many of the topics covered in this volume have been overlooked by historians or been reported by them incorrectly Reinventing the Warrior Matthias André Voigt, 2024-09-01 On February 27 1973 a group of roughly 300 armed Indigenous men women and children seized the tiny hamlet of Wounded Knee South Dakota at gunpoint took hostages barricaded themselves in the hilltop church and raised an upside down American flag Taking place at the site of the infamous massacre in 1890 the highly symbolic confrontation spearheaded by the American Indian Movement AIM ultimately evolved into a prolonged seventy one day armed standoff between law enforcement officers and modern day Indigenous warriors Among these warriors were Vietnam War veterans armed with Vietnam era equipment and weaponry By organizing in defense of the newly proclaimed Independent Oglala Nation the AIM activists at Wounded Knee linked their nationalist quest for sovereignty and self determination with a warrior masculinity they constructed from a mix of Indigenous cultures and contemporary cultural elements including the Black civil rights movement the counterculture of the 1960s and early 1970s and the antiwar movement As Matthias André Voigt shows the takeover of Wounded Knee was only one moment among many in the complex interplay between protest activism gender race and identity within AIM While AIM is widely recognized for its militancy and nationalism Reinventing the Warrior is the first major study to examine the gendered transformation of Indigenous men within the Red Power movement and the United States more generally AIM activists came to regard themselves like their ancestors before them as warriors fighting for their people their lands and their rights They sought to remasculinize their Indigenous identity in order to confront hegemonic masculinities and by implication colonialism itself By becoming more manly Indigenous men challenged the disempowering nature of white supremacy Voigt traces the story of the reinvention of Indigenous warriorhood from 1968 to the takeover of Wounded Knee in 1973 and beyond His trailblazing work explores why and how Indigenous men refashioned themselves as modern day warriors in their anticolonial nation building endeavor thereby remaking both self and society Fulda Gap Volker Bausch,Dieter Krüger,2017-11-20 This edited collection examines the role of the Fulda Gap located at the border between East and West Germany in Cold War politics and military strategy The contributors analyze the strategic deliberations of the Warsaw Pact and NATO the balance of forces the role of the local peace movement and various other topics while weaving together the history of the Cold War at local European and global levels Courage in Combat Richard J. Rinaldo,2020-01-10 These stories of military heroism focusing on members of the Legion of Valor offer a sweeping study of courage in service to America Published in conjunction with the Legion of Valor of the United States of America Courage in Combat shares the stories of military heroes from the Civil War onward They are recipients of the Medal of Honor the Distinguished Service Cross the Navy Cross and the Air Force Cross Their awards are our nation s highest military decorations given only to one in twenty thousand combatants Among them are sergeants and generals as well as corpsmen civilians engineers grunts and paratroopers There are men and women a mess attendant aviators spies and POWs a cavalry scout candidates for sainthood and a president of the United States The stories of these brave individuals relate personal accounts of heroism as well as reflections on combat and war This book also includes a short history of the Legion of Valor America s oldest military service organization and an extensive list of its members past and present Courage in Combat explores the concept of courage through the lives thoughts and actions of this elite group most of whom would say I was just doing my job Know Me Nancy Curci,2020-04-20 Throughout the dozens of interviews in this book with veterans of four wars veterans who have experienced combat there seems to be a consistent thread that goes through the veterans words about wars politics weapons biases and human life The words go War does not end war it begets war Stronger weapons may hinder but do not stop war Individuals in spite of their gender color or culture have become more equal in the military due to their courage bravery and proof of equal abilities Humans will go forth to protect their beliefs their homes and their country when they believe it is a justified cause and are willing to risk life and limb There are three things that stayed the same throughout all the interviews One Wars are usually concocted by politics greed money and power and that these are the root of most wars Two The young even before their brain is totally developed are the ones who do the dying Three Although the military was ready to desegregate around 1947 the country still continued with the Jim Crow laws and the Green Book Travel Guide until sometime in the sixties My question to you is our young joined or were drafted and they went to war stayed the course did the job paid the price and paid it forward Could we at least pay it back

Could we at least know who they were and are These are the people we are speaking about when we say boots on the ground
