On the Trail of the D.C. Sniper Jack R. Censer, 2010-04-06 For a month in the fall of 2002 a series of sniper attacks suddenly dominated the headlines in the nation's capital Beginning in the Washington suburbs these crimes eventually stretched over one hundred miles along I 95 to Richmond More than a thousand law officers would pursue the perpetrators an enormous number for one case The number of reporters covering the story however was even greater On the Trail of the D C Sniper uses the remarkable events of that October to explore the shifting character of journalism as it entered the twenty first century and to question how this change in the way news is gathered and reported impacted the events it covered Because of its political significance Washington D C although not a huge population center is home to an international news corps rivaling that of London or New York The sniper story thus gained unusually broad media coverage These events also coincided with the rise of cable network news meaning that the story would be delivered through a greatly accelerated news cycle Continuous coverage on television meant a more intense race for scoops when a major development wasn't available lesser incidents were sometimes played up in an attempt to maintain the sense of an always unfolding story Jack Censer looks at the atmosphere of heightened anxiety in which this killing spree occurred coming only a year after the 9 11 attacks as well as the unsolved anthrax scare centered in the D C area and asks if the press by intensifying its focus also intensified the sense of fear To bring in another perspective Censer looks closely at the elementary and secondary schools in the area comparing their experience of the threat with the press's perception and presentation of it In most cases school officials chose a course of precaution in which life could carry on rather than one of hypervigilance and lockdowns Although it is widely thought that journalists have strong political and commercial biases Censer reveals that in this case the press was motivated above all by the creation of a gripping story to evoke emotion from its audience One of the most detailed studies yet published of how the press follows a story in the twenty four hour news era this book provides a window on post 9 11 anxiety and the relationship between those fears public events and the news media

Mission Unaccomplished Alan Nadel,2025 Throughout his career prominent film scholar Alan Nadel has explored the idea of cultural narratives and how every social unit sees and explains the world through the stories we tell In this book he identifies how the war film genre has changed in the 21st century after 9 11 and more specifically Bush s announcement of Mission Accomplished He explains how the traditional war film narrative in which soldiers have a specific mission or objective to achieve in battle changed to one in which war is treated as a daily occupation with no larger mission that will lead even in the long run to peace He examines how films such as Saving Private Ryan at the end of the 20th century have morphed into films such as Jarhead The Hurt Locker and The Green Zone With the indefinite and ill planned occupation of Afghanistan and Iraq including the privatization of many military services through contractors this new situation has led to films in which we follow soldiers day to day lives as they go through their duties or even after they ve come home as in American Sniper Another change in war films during the Global War on Terror puts the emphasis on just surviving and getting out such as in Hacksaw Ridge which even carries over to films about for example WWII such as Dunkirk Again combatants have no specific goal other than escaping or helping others to escape or just surviving long enough to go home Nadel shows how this change has also affected non war films such as Sully Captain Phillips Deepwater Horizon and Get Out and even the television series Lost Nadel deftly moves between political history and film analysis with this wide ranging lucid examination of the changing nature and role of war films

My Turn Doug Henwood, 2016-07-05 Hillary Clinton is running for the presidency with a message of hope and change But as Doug Henwood makes clear in this concise devastating indictment little trust can be placed in her campaign promises Rigorously reviewing her record Henwood shows how Clinton's positions on key issues have always blown with the breeze of expediency though generally around an axis of moralism and hawkishness Without a meaningful program other than a broad fealty to the status quo Henwood suggests the case for Hillary boils down to this she has experience she's a woman and it's her turn
