Thin Film Coatings Fredrick Madaraka Mwema, Tien-Chien Jen, Lin Zhu, 2022-06-19 Thin Film Coatings Properties Deposition and Applications discusses the holistic subject of conventional and emerging thin film technologies without bias to a specific technology based on the existing literature. It covers properties and delves into the various methods of thin film deposition including the most recent techniques and a direction for future developments. It also discusses the cutting edge applications of thin film coatings such as self healing and smart coatings, biomedical hybrid and scalable thin films. Finally, the concept of Industry 4.0 in thin film coating technology is examined. This book explores a wide range and is not specific to material and method of deposition. Demonstrates the application of thin film coatings in nearly all sectors such as energy and anti microbial applications. Details the preparation and properties of hybrid and scalable ultra thin materials for advanced applications. Provides detailed bibliometric analyses on applications of thin film coatings. Discusses Industry 4.0 and 3D printing in thin film technology. With its broad coverage, this comprehensive reference will appeal to a wide audience of materials scientists and engineers and others studying and developing advanced thin film technologies. Agricultural, Biosystems, and Biological Engineering Education Umezurike Linus Opara, 2024-09-30 Agricultural engineering developed as an engineering discipline underpinned by physics, applies scientific principles, knowledge and technological innovations in the agricultural and food industries. During the last century, there was exponential growth in engineering developments which has improved human wellbeing and radically changed how humans interact with each other and our planet. Among these, Agricultural Mechanization is ranked among the top 10 in a list of 20 Top Engineering Achievements of the last century that have had the greatest impact on the quality of life. While many success stories abound, the problems of low appeal among students, identity crises and limited job opportunities in many climes continue to trouble the discipline's future in many parts of the world. Yet agriculture and agricultural engineering remain fundamental to assuring food and nutrition security for a growing global population. Agricultural Biosystems and Biological Engineering Education provides the first comprehensive global review and synthesis of different agricultural biosystems and biological engineering education approaches, including a detailed exposition of current practices from different regions. Key Features Describes novel approaches to curriculum design and reform. Outlines current and emerging epistemology and pedagogies in ABBE education. Provides a framework to grow agricultural engineering in Africa and other developing regions. Highlights the role of ABBE education in the context of the SDGs. Presented in 3 parts and containing 42 chapters, this book covers the historical evolution of agricultural engineering education and discusses the emergence of biological and biosystems engineering education. It will appeal to engineers and other professionals, education planners and administrators and policy makers in agriculture and other biological industries. Chapters 4, 11, 19, 32 and 41 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0.

license New Public Management in Africa Robert E. Hinson, Nnamdi Madichie, Ogechi Adeola, Justice Nyigmah Bawole, Isaiah Adisa, Kwame Asamoah, 2021-10-25 This book analyses and evaluates the accomplishments challenges and approaches associated with the New Public Management NPM in Africa towards establishing context specific interventions for public sector institutions performance Taking the reader through various business and management approaches including leadership in the public sector digitalisation market orientation and trust building this book provides an understanding of the key issues facing public sector organisations in Africa and offers novel ways of approaching public management in a changing socio economic landscape to drive improved performance of public institutions The book offers students practitioners and researchers important insights on NPM and public sector institutions in Africa The recommendations of the book will help government and policymakers implement appropriate public sector management policies for strengthening public sector service delivery in Africa Scaling Up Disruptive Agricultural Technologies in Africa Jeehye Kim, Parmesh Shah, Joanne Catherine Gaskell, Ashesh Prasann, 2020-07-16 This study which includes a pilot intervention in Kenya aims to further the state of knowledge about the emerging trend of disruptive agricultural technologies DATs in Africa with a focus on supply side dynamics The first part of the study is a stocktaking analysis to assess the number scope trend and characteristics of scalable disruptive technology innovators in agriculture in Africa From a database of 434 existing DAT operations the analysis identified 194 as scalable The second part of the study is a comparative case study of Africa s two most successful DAT ecosystems in Kenya and Nigeria which together account for half of Sub Saharan Africa s active DATs The objective of these two case studies is to understand the successes challenges and opportunities faced by each country in fostering a conducive innovation ecosystem for scaling up DATs The case study analysis focuses on six dimensions of the innovation ecosystem in Kenya and Nigeria finance regulatory environment culture density human capital and infrastructure The third part of the study is based on the interactions and learnings from a pilot event to boost the innovation ecosystem in Kenya The Disruptive Agricultural Technology Innovation Knowledge and Challenge Conference in Nairobi Kenya brought together more than 300 key stakeholders from large technology companies agribusiness companies and public agencies government representatives and experts from research and academic institutions and representatives from financial institutions foundations donors and venture capitalists Scaling Up Disruptive Agricultural Technologies in Africa concludes by establishing that DATs are demonstrating early indications of a positive impact in addressing food system constraints It offers potential entry points and policy recommendations to facilitate the broader adoption of DATs and improve the overall food system Women's Contribution to Higher Education and Social Transformation Lucy A. Wakiaga, 2022-05-16 This book provides deep insights about women in higher education and their contributions to society Using Kenya as a case study it places women in higher education at the center of the socioeconomic political and cultural discourse both within and outside the higher education institution It is notable that even with the progress made both in Kenya and globally gender considerations in social economic political and cultural spheres is still minimal In higher education gender imbalance is still distinct in varied areas such as career advancement leadership mentorship and scholarship opportunities In society women s efforts still seem to go unnoticed The aim of these chapters therefore is to share women s research in higher education and in society especially innovative policy and practice concepts all aimed at contributing to social transformation Vision

Infinity for Food Security Shashi B. Sharma, John A. Wightman, 2015-09-04 A new perspective on the global food security situation and highlights the need for seeking a common vision and implementing global planning to define the manner in which the human species will manage its food security The basic question of is there enough food is examined in general and then in some detail The history of food production is reviewed in the hope that lessons can be learned from the past But even after ten thousand years of experience we are not able to feed adequately about a third of our total population despite what statistics can be made to tell us Intensive agriculture has stripped out the nutrients that support plant growth and marginalised extensive tracts of land The global solution to feed the growing population has been and continues to be produce more food Even during the last 30 years about 95 percent of global research investments have focused mainly on increasing productivity However about a third of the food produced sufficient to feed over two billion hungry people is lost or wasted in the food value chain Climate change is another confounding factor that impinges on our discussions Pests of all kinds continue to destroy food before and after it is harvested even though the technology to protect it is available A huge amount of food is wasted in value chains particularly at the domestic level Global food production systems are exposed to unprecedented biosecurity risks posed by invasive harmful organisms and this trend is likely to further exacerbate as current approach to biosecurity is based on the notional premise that lines on maps and the legislation that goes with them is sufficient to halt epidemics Solutions include extending the number of cultivated plant and animal species to include those that can prosper in what are currently considered to be extreme environments Cyber Law in Kenya Isaac

Rutenberg, 2019-03-22 Derived from the renowned multi volume International Encyclopaedia of Laws this practical guide to cyber law the law affecting information and communication technology ICT in Kenya covers every aspect of the subject including intellectual property rights in the ICT sector relevant competition rules drafting and negotiating ICT related contracts electronic transactions privacy issues and computer crime Lawyers who handle transnational matters will appreciate the detailed explanation of specific characteristics of practice and procedure Following a general introduction the book assembles its information and guidance in seven main areas of practice the regulatory framework of the electronic communications market software protection legal protection of databases or chips and other intellectual property matters contracts with regard to software licensing and network services with special attention to case law in this area rules with regard to electronic evidence regulation of electronic signatures electronic banking and electronic commerce specific laws and regulations with respect to the liability of network operators and service providers and related product liability
