Energy Research and Development Administration. Technical Information Center,1976 America's Information Wars Colin B. Burke,2018-03-06 This book narrates the development of science sci tech and intelligence information systems and technologies in the United States from the beginning of World War II to the second decade of our century The story ranges from a description of the information systems and machines of the 1940s created at Wild Bill Donovan s predecessors of the Central Intelligence Agency to the rise of a huge international science information industry and to the 1990 s Open Access Open Culture reformers reactions to the commercialization of science information Necessarily there is much about the people cultures and politics that shaped the methods systems machines and protests The reason for that is simple The histories of technologies and methods are human histories Science information s many lives were shaped by idiosyncrasies and chance as well as by social economic political and technical forces The varied motives personalities and beliefs of unique and extraordinary people fashioned science information s past The important players ranged from a gentleman scholar who led the Office of Strategic Services information work to an ill fated Hollywood movie director to life mavericks like the science information legend Eugene Garfield to international financial wheeler dealers such as Robert Maxwell and to youthful ultra liberal ideologically driven Silicon Valley internet millionaires However although there are no determining laws of information history social political legal and economic factors were important After 1940 science information s tools and policies as well as America s universities were being molded by the nation s wealth its role in international affairs the stand off between left and right politics and by the intensifying conflict between Soviet and Western interests
