Consumer Neuroscience - Foundation, Validation, and Relevance Thomas Zoëga Ramsøy, Hilke Plassmann, Carolyn Yoon, Joseph T. Devlin, 2023-08-07 Consumer neuroscience has become an expanding area of both research and conduct spanning from academic interests in the brain bases of consumption choices to commercial application of neuroscience tools and metrics However many of these advances are still criticized for low applicability scattered publication records conceptual vagueness and a lack of proper scientific and commercial validation To make matters worse there is now a host of proposed commercial applications of both the insights from neuroscience and the application of neuroscience and neurophysiology tools to test consumer responses While many of these approaches may be valid many other approaches are either not properly validated or may be flawed misguided or even outright lies As a discipline there is a need for both the basic and applied research in consumer neuroscience to become aligned The purpose of this Research Topic is to provide this much needed platform for such an industrial alignment In doing so this Research Topic will provide perspectives on three main areas 1 distinctions between basic translational and applied consumer neuroscience research 2 conceptual clarification on key concepts relevant to the science and application of consumer neuroscience 3 validation of consumer neuroscience methods and how they relate to commercially relevant cases For this Research Topic we therefore welcome submissions that combine academic and commercial research all in the vein of making advances in establishing a valid applicable consumer neuroscience

Facebook, the Media and Democracy Leighton Andrews, 2019-08-29 Facebook the Media and Democracy examines Facebook Inc and the impact that it has had and continues to have on media and democracy around the world Drawing on interviews with Facebook users of different kinds and dialogue with politicians regulators civil society and media commentators as well as detailed documentary scrutiny of legislative and regulatory proposals and Facebook s corporate statements the book presents a comprehensive but clear overview of the current debate around Facebook and the global debate on the regulation of social media in the era of surveillance capitalism Chapters examine the business and growing institutional power of Facebook as it has unfolded over the fifteen years since its creation the benefits and meanings that it has provided for its users its disruptive challenge to the contemporary media environment its shaping of conversations and the emerging calls for its further regulation The book considers Facebook s alleged role in the rise of democratic movements around the world as well as its suggested role in the election of Donald Trump and the UK vote to leave the European Union This book argues that Facebook in some shape or form is likely to be with us into the foreseeable future and that how we address the societal challenges that it provokes and the economic system that underpins it will define how human societies demonstrate their capacity to protect and enhance democracy and ensure that no corporation can set itself above democratic institutions This is an important research volume for academics and researchers in the areas of media studies communications social media and political science
