

The background of the book cover is a detailed illustration of a 19th-century naval fleet. In the foreground on the right, the dark, curved hull and rigging of a ship are visible, with two crew members perched on a high spar. In the distance, several other sailing ships with white sails are visible on a dark sea under a hazy, sunset-colored sky. Michael Leigh Sinowitz, 2014-08-05 An exploration of the complex roles that bodies both literally and figuratively play in the 21 volume Aubrey Maturin series reveals much about the novels many meditations on mind and body Beginning with a consideration of genre norms and the bodies of the novels main characters the book's focus shifts to the ways the series offers interconnections between the human body and history More literal considerations of the body examine O'Brian's depictions of drug use particularly the opium addiction that afflicts Stephen Maturin and human sexuality in its many guises The work then focuses on Desolation Island the fifth novel in the series in light of the discussions above but also in terms of political and psychological tropes that draw upon the relationship of mind and body Questions are examined about the relationship of reader to author and what sustains such a long narrative and what continues to bring a reader back again and again Words on Cassette, 2002 R R Bowker Publishing, 2002 Having a Good Cry Robyn R. Warhol, 2003 Robyn R

Warhol's goal is to investigate the effects of readers' emotional responses to formulaic fiction of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries on gendered subjectivity. She argues that modern literary and cultural studies have ignored nonsexual affectivity in their inquiries. The book elaborates on Warhol's theory of affect and then focuses on sentimental stories, marriage plots, serialized novels, and soap operas as distinct genres producing specific feelings among fans. Popular narrative forms use formulas to bring up familiar patterns of feelings in the audiences who love them. This book looks at the patterns of feelings that some nineteenth and twentieth century popular genres evoke and asks how those patterns are related to gender. Soap operas and sentimentalism are generally derided as effeminate forms because their emotional range is seen as hyperfeminine. Having a Good Cry presents a celebration of effeminate feelings and works toward promoting more flexible, less pejorative concepts of gender. Using a psychophysiological rather than a psychoanalytic approach to reading and emotion, Warhol seeks to make readers more conscious of what is happening to the gendered body when we read. The World of Patrick

O'Brian Dean King, 2016-06-28 Four volumes of history and biography for fans of the Aubrey Maturin novels with lore on the Royal Navy and much more. What is a sandgrouse and where does it live? What are the medical properties of lignum vitae and how did Stephen Maturin use it to repair his viola? Who is Adm Lord Keith and why is his wife so friendly with Capt Jack Aubrey? More than any other contemporary author, Patrick O'Brian knew the past. His twenty Aubrey Maturin novels, beginning with Master and Commander (1969), are distinguished by deep characterization, heart-stopping naval combat, and an attention to detail that enriches and enlivens his stories. In the revised edition of A Sea of Words, Dean King and his collaborators dive into Jack Aubrey's world. In the revised edition of Harbors and High Seas, King details not just where Aubrey and Maturin went, but how they got there. Packed with maps and illustrations from the greatest age of sail, it is an incomparable reference for devotees of O'Brian's novels and anyone who has dreamed of climbing aboard a warship as well as a captivating portrait of life on the sea during a time when nothing stood between man and ocean but grit, daring, and a few creaking planks of wood. At the dawn of the nineteenth century, the British navy was the mightiest instrument of war the world had ever known. The Royal Navy patrolled the seas from India to the Caribbean, connecting an empire with footholds in every corner of the earth. Such a massive navy required the service of more than 100,000 men, from officers to deckhands to surgeons. Their stories are collected in Every Man Will Do His Duty. The inspiration for the bestselling novels of Patrick O'Brian and C.S. Forester, these twenty-two memoirs and diaries, edited by Dean King, provide a true portrait of life aboard British warships during one of the most significant eras of world history. Patrick O'Brian was well into his seventies when the world fell in love with his greatest creation, the maritime adventures of Royal Navy Capt Jack Aubrey and ship's surgeon Stephen Maturin. But despite his fame, little detail was available about the life of the reclusive author whose mysterious past King uncovers in this groundbreaking biography. King traces O'Brian's personal history from his beginnings as a London-born Protestant named Richard Patrick Russ to his tortured relationship with his first wife and child, to his emergence from World

War II with the entirely new identity under which he would publish twenty volumes in the Aubrey Maturin series What King unearths is a life no less thrilling than the seafaring world of O Brian s imagination Patrick O Brian A Life Revealed is a penetrating and insightful examination of one of the modern world s most acclaimed historical novelists Sequels Janet Husband,Jonathan F.
