

A woman in a dark coat and hat walks through a large, arched opening in a heavily damaged, light-colored wall. The wall is covered in dark, irregular marks and debris, suggesting a scene of destruction. The overall tone is somber and historical.

Conflict Prevention and Peace-building in Post-War Societies T. David Mason, James D. Meernik, 2006-05-02 This volume provides an overview of the costs benefits consequences and prospects for rebuilding nations emerging from violent conflict The rationale for this comes from the growing realization that in the post Cold War era and in the aftermath of 9 11 our understanding of conflict and conflict resolution has to include consideration of the conditions conducive to sustaining the peace in nations torn by civil war or interstate conflict The chapters analyze the prospects for building a sustainable peace from a number of different perspectives examining the role of economic development democratization respect for human rights the potential for renewal of conflict the United Nations and other critical topics In an age when nation building is once again on the international agenda and scholars as well as policy makers realize both the tremendous costs and benefits in fostering developed democratic peaceful and secure nations the time has truly come for a book that integrates all the facets of this important subject Conflict Prevention and Peace building in Post War Societies will appeal to students and scholars of peace studies international relations security studies and conflict resolution as well as policy makers and analysts Peacebuilding and Post-War Transitions Lisa Gross, 2017-02-17 This book asks how and under what conditions external domestic interactions impact on peacebuilding outcomes during transitions to peace and democracy Why do so many peacebuilding interventions in post war states result in stalled transitions despite heavy international support This book suggests a new interaction based explanation for this puzzle and proposes an analytical framework of peacebuilding interactions Based on eight cases of peacebuilding interactions it demonstrates that the limited rationality of the actors involved in external domestic interactions influenced the post war transition results in Kosovo Drawing on interviews and focus groups the insights build on the process tracing of peacebuilding reforms in the area of Local Governance and Police Reform with a specific focus at the local level Through an in depth analysis of peacebuilding negotiations this book shows how peacebuilders use of ad hoc interaction tactics intended as heuristics to simplify decision making in overly complex post war environments have the unintended effect of offering domestic actors additional leeway to prioritise their domestic agenda often at the expense of achieving full democratisation The resulting consequences of these actions mean that even in highly resourced interventions such as those implemented in Kosovo stalled transitions become one of the most likely outcome of the peacebuilding process This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding war and conflict studies European politics security studies and IR in general The Oxford Handbook of Religion, Conflict, and Peacebuilding Atalia Omer, R. Responsibility to Protect Alex J. Bellamy, 2013-04-24 At the 2005 UN World Summit world leaders endorsed the international principle of Responsibility to Protect R2P acknowledging that they had a responsibility to protect their citizens from genocide and mass atrocities and pledging to act in cases where governments manifestly failed in their responsibility

This marked a significant turning point in attitudes towards the protection of citizens worldwide This important new book charts the emergence of this principle from its origins in a doctrine of sovereignty as responsibility through debates about the legitimacy of humanitarian intervention and the findings of a prominent international commission and finally through the long and hard negotiations that preceded the 2005 commitment. It explores how world leaders came to acknowledge that sovereign rights entailed fundamental responsibilities and what that acknowledgment actually means. The book goes on to analyze in detail the ways in which R2P can contribute to the global effort to end genocide and mass atrocities. Focusing on the prevention of these crimes and the improvement of the world's reaction to them, the book explores the question of how to build sustainable peace in their aftermath. Alex J. Bellamy argues that although 2005 marked an important watershed, much more work is needed to defend R2P from those who would walk away from their commitments and in the words of UN Secretary General Ban Ki-moon, to translate the principle from words into deeds. This fascinating book will appeal to students and scholars of international relations, international affairs, human rights, and humanitarian emergencies, as well as anyone concerned about the protection of civilians on a global scale.

Institution Building in Weak States

Andrew Radin, 2020-07-01. The effort to improve state institutions in post-conflict societies is a complicated business. Even when foreign intervention is carried out with the best of intentions and the greatest resources, it often fails. What can account for this failure? In Institution Building in Weak States, Andrew Radin argues that the international community's approach to building state institutions needs its own reform. This innovative book proposes a new strategy rooted in a rigorous analysis of recent missions. In contrast to the common strategy of foreign interveners imposing models drawn from Western countries, Radin shows how pursuing incremental change that accommodates local political interests is more likely to produce effective, accountable, and law-abiding institutions. Drawing on extensive field research and original interviews, Radin examines efforts to reform the central government, military, and police in post-conflict Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kosovo, Iraq, and Timor-Leste. Based on his own experience in defense reform in Ukraine after 2014, Radin also draws parallels with efforts to improve state institutions outside of post-conflict societies. Institution Building in Weak States introduces a domestic opposition theory that better explains why institution building fails and what is required to make it work. With actionable recommendations for smarter policy, the book offers an important corrective for scholars and practitioners of post-conflict missions, international development, peacebuilding, and security cooperation.

When War Ends

David J. Francis, 2016-02-17. This volume critically examines what happens when war formally ends, the difficult and complex challenges and opportunities for winning the peace and reconciling divided communities. By reviewing a case study of the West African state of Sierra Leone, potential lessons for other parts of the world can be gained. Sierra Leone has emerged as a successful model of liberal peacebuilding that is now popularly advertised and promoted by the international community as a powerful example of a country that they finally got right. Concerns about how successful a model Sierra Leone actually is are outlined in this project. As such, this volume

Understanding Influence

Thomas Waldman, Sultan Barakat, 2016-02-24. The overarching objective of this book is to analyse the manner in which statebuilding-oriented research has and can influence policies in fragile post-conflict environments. Large-scale externally assisted statebuilding is a relatively new and distinct foreign policy domain having risen to the forefront of the international agenda as the negative consequences of state weakness have been repeatedly revealed in the form of entrenched poverty regional instability and serious threats to international security Despite the increasing volume of research on statebuilding the use and uptake of findings by those involved in policymaking remains largely under examined As such the main themes running through the book relate to issues of research influence use and uptake into policy It grapples with problems associated with decision making dynamics knowledge management and the policy process and draws on concepts and analytical models developed within the public policy and research utilisation literature This book will be of great interest to researchers knowledge managers and policymakers working in the fields of post war reconstruction statebuilding fragile states stabilisation conflict and development

Peacebuilding, Power, and Politics in Africa Devon Curtis, Gwinyayi A. Dzinesa, 2012-09-21 Peacebuilding Power and Politics in Africa is a critical reflection on peacebuilding efforts in Africa The authors expose the tensions and contradictions in different clusters of peacebuilding activities including peace negotiations statebuilding security sector governance and disarmament demobilization and reintegration Essays also address the institutional framework for peacebuilding in Africa and the ideological underpinnings of key institutions including the African Union NEPAD the African Development Bank the Pan African Ministers Conference for Public and Civil Service the UN Peacebuilding Commission the World Bank and the International Criminal Court The volume includes on the ground case study chapters on Sudan the Great Lakes Region of Africa Sierra Leone and Liberia the Niger Delta Southern Africa and Somalia analyzing how peacebuilding operates in particular African contexts The authors adopt a variety of approaches but they share a conviction that peacebuilding in Africa is not a script that is authored solely in Western capitals and in the corridors of the United Nations Rather the writers in this volume focus on the interaction between local and global ideas and practices in the reconstitution of authority and livelihoods after conflict The book systematically showcases the tensions that occur within and between the many actors involved in the peacebuilding industry as well as their intended beneficiaries It looks at the multiple ways in which peacebuilding ideas and initiatives are reinforced questioned reappropriated and redesigned by different African actors A joint project between the Centre for Conflict Resolution in Cape Town South Africa and the Centre of African Studies at the University of Cambridge

Alternative Perspectives on Peacebuilding Mark S. Cogan, Hidekazu Sakai, 2022-10-11 This book analyses and furthers the academic debates on post liberal peacebuilding through a number of conceptual theoretical and empirical research outputs Part I includes a review of how the recent discourse on peacebuilding has evolved and three conceptual theoretical perspectives relevant to post liberal peacebuilding In particular the editors propose the concept of bespoke peacebuilding to articulate key features of new peacebuilding models Part II introduces five case studies that present how alternative peacebuilding models are being shaped or can be shaped in practice Essential reading for scholars and students in Peace and Conflict Studies International Relations and International Security Studies Chapter 8 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0

Handbook of Research on Negotiation Mara Olekalns, Wendi L.

Adair, 2013-01-01 This Handbook combines a review of negotiation research with state of the art commentary on the future of negotiation theory and research. Leading international scholars give insight into both the factors known to shape negotiation and the questions that we need to answer as we strive to deepen our understanding of the negotiation process. This Handbook provides analyses of the negotiation process from four distinct perspectives: negotiators' cognition and emotion, social processes and social inferences, communication processes, and complex negotiations covering trade, peace, environment and crisis negotiations. Providing an introduction to key topics in negotiation, written by leading researchers in the field, the book will prove insightful for undergraduate students. It also incorporates an excellent summary of past research as well as highlights new directions negotiation research might take, which will be valuable for postgraduate students and academics wishing to expand their knowledge on the subject.

Modern War and the Utility of Force Isabelle Duyvesteyn, Jan

Angstrom, 2010-04-05 This book investigates the use and utility of military force in modern war. After the Cold War, Western armed forces have increasingly been called upon to intervene in internal conflicts in the former Third World. These forces have been called upon to carry out missions that they traditionally have not been trained and equipped for in environments that they often have not been prepared for. A number of these new types of operations in allegedly new wars stand out, such as peace enforcement, state building, counter insurgency, humanitarian aid, and not the least counter terrorism. The success rate of these missions has, however, been mixed, providing fuel for an increasingly loud debate on the utility of force in modern war. This edited volume poses as its central question: what is in fact the utility of force? Is force useful for anything other than a complete conventional defeat of a regular opponent who is confronted in the open field? This book will be of much interest to students of strategic studies, war and conflict studies, counter insurgency, security studies, and IR. Isabelle Duyvesteyn is an Associate Professor at the Department of History of International Relations, Utrecht University in the Netherlands. Jan

Angstrom is a researcher at the Swedish National Defence College.

Law, Politics and the Limits of Prosecuting Mass Atrocity Damien Rogers, 2017-08-30 This book offers a unique and powerful critique of the quest for international criminal justice. It explores the efforts of three successive generations of international prosecutors, recognising the vital roles they play in the enforcement of international criminal law. By critically examining prosecutorial performance during the pre-trial and trial phases, the volume argues that these prosecutors are simultaneously political actors serving in the interests of economic liberalisation. It also posits that international prosecutors help wage a mostly silent and largely unacknowledged politico-cultural war fought for control over the institutions governing modernist international affairs. As the author contends, international prosecutors are thus best understood as agents not only of the law and politics but also of a war fought by proponents of various utopian projects.

Conflict Resolution in the Twenty-first Century

Jacob Bercovitch, Richard Dean Wells Jackson, 2009-08-04 In the past arbitration direct bargaining the use of intermediaries and deference to international institutions were relatively successful tools for managing interstate conflict In the face of terrorism intrastate wars and the multitude of other threats in the post Cold War era however the conflict resolution tool kit must include preventive diplomacy humanitarian intervention regional task sharing and truth commissions Here Jacob Bercovitch and Richard Jackson two internationally recognized experts systematically examine each one of these conflict resolution tools and describe how it works and in what conflict situations it is most likely to be effective Conflict Resolution in the Twenty first Century is not only an essential introduction for students and scholars it is a must have guide for the men and women entrusted with creating stability and security in our changing world Cover illustration iStockphoto com
