A Schoolteacher In Old Alaska The Story Of Hannah Breece:

A Schoolteacher in Old Alaska Hannah Breece, 2008-12-30 When Hannah Breece came to Alaska in 1904 it was a remote lawless wilderness of prospectors murderous bootleggers tribal chiefs and Russian priests She spent fourteen years educating Athabascans Aleuts Inuits and Russians with the stubborn generosity of a born teacher and the clarity of an original and independent mind Jane Jacobs Hannah's great niece here offers an historical context to Breece's remarkable eyewitness account filling in the narrative gaps but always allowing the original words to ring clearly It is more than an adventure story it is a powerful work of women's history that provides important and at times unsettling insights into the unexamined assumptions and attitudes that governed white settler's behavior toward native communities at the turn of the century An unforgettable story of a remarkable woman who lived a heroic life The New York Times

Schoolteacher in Old Alaska Hannah Breece, 2008 Just Who Do We Think We Are? Claudia Mitchell, Kathleen O'Reilly-Scanlon, Sandra Weber, 2013-04-15 Drawing upon diverse and specific examples of self study described here by the practitioners themselves this unique book formulates a methodological framework for self study in education This collection brings together a diverse and international range of self studies carried out in teacher education each of which has a different perspective to offer on issues of method and methodology including memory work fictional practice collaborative autobiography auto ethnography phenomenology image based approaches Such ethical issues likely to arise from self study as informed consent self disclosure and crises of representation are also explored with depth and clarity As method takes centre stage in educational and social scientific research and self study becomes a key tool for research training practice and professional development in education Just Who Do We Think We Are provides an invaluable resource for anyone undertaking this form of practitioner research

10 Great Curricula Thomas S. Poetter, 2012-01-01 With Susan L M Bartow Lara A Chatman Daniel Ciamarra Christopher L Cox Dawn Mann Kevin J Smith Kevin M Talbert Mary A Webb and Amy Fisher Young 10 Great Curricula is a collection of stories written by educators who have come to understand curricula differently as a result of their engagement with a graduate course and its instructor The book represents the best of what can be found in teaching and learning in general and in the quest for meaningful ways to understand curricula in particular The co authors of this volume on 10 Great Curricula framed their inquiries into progressive democratic curricula at least initially through Marsh and Willis 2007 notions of planned enacted and lived curricula These frames helped the writers think about how to engage a curriculum as it is developed delivered and lived by its participants and for the inquirers to actually become participant inquirers in the curriculum at hand The chapters depict the power the possibility and the transformational potential of great progressive curricula today by locating them in schools and in the community by making them come alive to the reader and by suggesting means through which the reader can adopt a more progressive democratic stance to curriculum despite the seemingly overwhelming nature of the conservative traditionalist instrumentalist movements in curriculum teaching and assessment

today The book is intended for students of education teaching and curriculum undergraduates graduates and practicing educational professionals especially those looking for examples in the world in which progressive democratic ideals are nurtured and practiced

Censorship & Cultural Regulation in the Modern Age, 2016-08-29 Censorship has become a fashionable topic not only because of newly available archival material from Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union but also because the new censorship inspired by the works of Foucault and Bourdieu has widened the very concept of censorship beyond its conventional boundaries This volume uses these new materials and perspectives to address the relationship of censorship to cultural selection processes such as canon formation economic forces social exclusion professional marginalization silencing through specialized discourses communicative norms and other forms of control and regulation Two articles in this collection investigate these issues theoretically The remaining eight contributions address the issues by investigating censorial practice across time and space by looking at the closure of Paul's playhouse in 1606 the legacy of 19th century American regulations and representation of women teachers the relationship between official and samizdat publishing in Communist Poland the ban on Gegenwartsfilme films about contemporary society in East Germany in 1965-66 the censorship of modernist music in Weimar and Nazi Germany the GDR's censorship of jazz and avantgarde music in the early 1950s Aesopian strategies of textual resistance in the pop music of apartheid South Africa and in the stories of Mario Benedetti
