A Survey Of Radial Velocities In The Zodiacal Dust Cloud:

A Survey of Radial Velocities in the Zodiacal Dust Cloud Brian May, 2008-08-05 In the summer and autumn of 2006 I read several interviews with Brian May in which he mentioned his desire to complete the PhD that he had abandoned in 1974 I looked up the papers he had published while a PhD student which were on spectroscopic studies of the motion of the dust responsible for the zodiacal light and felt that there was a basis for a thesis Since he had been a student at Imperial I knew as Head of the Astrophysics Group at Imperial that it would be good for the Group if he came and worked with us I got in touch with him by email and suggested he come and talk about it He replied enthusiastically and said that he was working on typing up what he had completed by 1974 I gradually realized that I was the only staff member at Imperial who had previously worked on zodiacal dust so that I would have to act as his supervisor Eventually we met and I tried to assess whether he would be able to find time for the huge amount of work that finishing off a thesis involves particularly if it has not been touched for over 30 years Since some of Brian s emails were coming from the recording studio I knew there was strong competition for his time Astronomy for Cloudy Nights David Clarke, 2024-12-23 Comprising 8 essays the present book provides respite reading for astronomers when skies are cloudy Dealing with the science behind selected celestial topics in a semi random way it is educational sometimes in humorous fashion Anecdotes poems and references to the general arts of literature the law paintings and classical and pop music are included Links of astronomy to the everyday spoken word are presented All these can be appreciated by more general readers with an interest in making connections between science and the arts The author became a Professional Practical Astronomer following the discovery at an early age of a brass telescope under his grandmother s bed Stories of telescope observing around the world are given one being breathtaking in two senses at high altitude in the Bolivian Andes Autobiographical in places descriptions are given of experiences that astronomy has provided beyond the telescope Asteroids IV Patrick Michel, Francesca E. DeMeo, William F. Bottke, 2015-12-31 More than forty chapters detail our current astronomical compositional geological and geophysical knowledge of asteroids as well as their unique physical processes and interrelationships with comets and meteorites Provided by publisher The Rise of Astrophysics in Modern Spain Francisco Sánchez, 2021-02-23 With foreword by astrophysicist and Queen guitarist Brian May This book describes the unlikely development of astrophysics in Spain set against the final decade of Franco s rule and the country s transition to democracy The author Founding Director of Spain s Instituto de Astrofísica de Canarias gives a firsthand account of his own and others odyssey in establishing the field in Franco s Spain showing how in a mere half century Spain was able to transform from a scientific backwater to a world player in astronomy and astrophysics The book is a behind the scenes warts and all depiction of how Big Science gets done showing the motivations sometimes as entertaining as they are infuriating that drive scientific institutions and the scientists who work for them Many astronomers both professional and amateur and historians know of the great scientific work being done in Spain but there is very little published information available about the complex story underlying it This English edition now makes that story accessible for the lay reader With its casual yet captivating narrative the book is a rare and inspiring contribution to the history of astrophysics science policy education and outreach Flawed Prophets Tirthak Saha, Humans love making predictions We bet on the outcomes of sporting events we try to pick optimal career paths we forecast stock prices we do it all the time Why are we so fascinated by the future Why have we created for ourselves a society where predictive abilities are needed for everyday functioning More importantly if we must be prophets how do we at least become better ones devoid of biases and fatal cognitive flaws that hold us back from clearly seeing ahead To see our future we must first take a look at our past
