Geisha of a Different Kind C. Winter Han, 2015-05-08 In gay bars and nightclubs across America and in gay oriented magazines and media the buff macho white gay man is exalted as the ideal the most attractive the most wanted and the most emulated type of man For gay Asian American men often viewed by their peers as submissive or too pretty being sidelined in the gay community is only the latest in a long line of racially motivated offenses they face in the United States Repeatedly marginalized by both the white centric queer community that values a hyper masculine sexuality and a homophobic Asian American community that often privileges masculine heterosexuality gay Asian American men largely have been silenced and alienated in present day culture and society In Geisha of a Different Kind C Winter Han travels from West Coast Asian drag shows to the internationally sought after Thai kathoey or ladyboy to construct a theory of queerness that is inclusive of the race and gender particularities of the gay Asian male experience in the United States Through ethnographic observation of queer Asian American communities and Asian American drag shows interviews with gay Asian American men and a reading of current media and popular culture depictions of Asian Americans Han argues that gay Asian American men used to gender privilege within their own communities must grapple with the idea that as Asians they have historically been feminized as a result of Western domination and colonization and as a result they are minorities within the gay community which is itself marginalized within the overall American society Han also shows that many Asian American gay men can turn their unusual position in the gay and Asian American communities into a positive identity In their own conception of self their Asian heritage and sexuality makes these men unique special and in the case of Asian American drag queens much more able to convey a convincing erotic femininity Challenging stereotypes about beauty nativity and desirability Geisha of a Different Kind makes a major intervention in the study of race and sexuality in America Book Review Digest ,2008 Sex, Sexuality, and the Anthropologist Fran Markowitz,Michael Ashkenazi,1999 Sex in the field the dilemma of whether to cover up or display sexual identities and desires during the course of anthropological fieldwork is one of the best kept secrets in the discipline Contending that the conventional pose of a genderless asexual ethnographic researcher is impossible to sustain this volume brings sex and sexuality into the open as essential components of ethnographic study that must be overtly recognized and proactively addressed Sex Sexuality and the Anthropologist recounts the real life experiences of anthropologists who are forced to acknowledge that their hosts in the field view them as gendered beings in a social context not as asexual objective observers Far from controlling the research environment and defining the terms of interviewer informant relationships these researchers find they must engage in a process of negotiating their position including their sexual position within the communities they study Ranging from public baths in Austria to lesbian bars in Taiwan and from Mexico to Nigeria to Finland to Japan Sex Sexuality and the Anthropologist raises critical questions about ethnographers reflexivity subjectivity and detachment confronting the challenge of a holistic approach to the anthropological enterprise Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineer's Monthly Journal ,1890 Medical Tourism Tzung-Cheng (TC) Huan,2025-03-28 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of the evolving world of medical tourism It delves into the origins and development of medical travel examining how historical practices have shaped contemporary trends Part I lays the groundwork with an analysis of the fundamental shifts in health and tourism tracing the critical developments from traditional practices to modern approaches This section covers key transformations and conceptual advancements that have influenced the field In Part II the chapters provide a nuanced look at medical tourism within various contexts including humanitarian aspects and niche markets such as pet health tourism and travel related to terminal illness It explores how medical volunteers and special interest groups are shaping the current landscape Part III of the book highlights global trends and emerging patterns shedding light on the drivers of satisfaction and future directions in this dynamic field By examining recent developments and innovations this section offers valuable insights into the future of health related travel Medical Tourism Historical Foundations Current Contexts and Emerging Trends will be invaluable for researchers healthcare professionals and general readers curious to know about the intersection of medicine and travel It provides a rich tapestry of knowledge offering a deep understanding of medical tourism s past present and future The chapters in this book were originally published in Tourism Recreation Research Urban Tourism in the Developing World Christian Myles Rogerson,Gustav Visser, Over the past decade the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the

Western European and North American experience Recently the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro American heartland Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities particularly in the developed North literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world More especially the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date In addition the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography in the School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg South Africa Gustav Visser is senior lecturer in human geography in the Department of Geography University of the Free State Bloemfontein South Africa
