Rosemond,2013-08-13 Rosemond guides parents through the steps of establishing an effective disciplinary style and a tried and true recipe for bringing out the very best in young children Millennial Child Eugene Schwartz,1999 Today s children are an endangered species As a result of the reductionism spawned by Freud and the homogenization of the stages of human life that followed many children seem to have lost their childhood and been thrust into the confusing and chaotic world of adults Eugene Schwartz presents an incisive analysis of the ways in which the errors of the first third of our century have come back to haunt us at the century's end. After carefully examining Sigmund Freud's tragic misunderstanding of childhood and tracing its consequences for today's parents and educators, the author points to the radically new paradigm of childhood development offered by Rudolf Steiner and embodied in Waldorf education. Parents, teachers, and child psychologists will find a wealth of insight concerning such diverse subjects as the nature of play, the causes of ADHD, computers as teachers, and the power that love and imagination will have in the education of the Millennial Child. For Our Own Good: the Politics of Parenting in an Ailing Society Erica Etelson, 2010-06-23. For Our Own Good examines the psycho-social and political repercussions of prevailing approaches to child-rearing. Learn why warm and nurturing parents produce secure, altruistic children who go on to form progressive political beliefs, while the children of punitive authoritarian parents are bound by fear and shame to support right-wing causes and candidates. If you've ever wondered how big a role parenting plays in shaping personality and the political and cultural values of the broader society, this book is a must-read. Coach Mom Brenna Stull, 2011-06-01. Coach Mom helps moms organize their family life by applying seven powerful principles that will bring balance to their home. Parent-Babble John Rosemond, 2012-10-09. If you were to stack all the current parenting books on top of one another, the resulting pile would be nearly four times the height of the Freedom Tower. Parenting expert John Rosemond has dubbed this imaginary narrative construction the Tower of Parent Babble, and as was the case with the Tower of Babel, the building blocks of its construction have led to mass confusion with frustrated, anxious, clueless, and stressed-out parents raising spoiled, egocentric, unfocused, and unhappy children. In Parent Babble, Rosemond asserts that America has been in the throes of an ever-deepening child-rearing crisis since the 1970s, and he explains how parents have moved away from the child-rearing basics of the 1950s and 1960s to focus on raising children with high self-esteem. But what could be wrong with high self-esteem? Plenty, according to Rosemond. High self-esteem is associated with anti-social behavior and little regard for others. In addition, children reared on postmodern psychological parenting theories are 10 times more likely to experience a serious emotional setback by the age of 16 compared with children who grew up in the 50s and 60s. In Parent Babble, Rosemond deconstructs the faulty theories, points out the experts who have led parents astray, and calls for a return to values, a return to civility, and a return to raising healthy, happy, and productive adults. Parenting Karuna Fedorchak, 2014-09-29. If you are a parent, you know the feeling that there are some things you might have done better. If you are going to be a parent, there is the feeling of wanting to do the very best for your child that you possibly can. Parenting: A Sacred Task meets both these perspectives. Karuna Fedorchak knows what all parents know: there are no formulas for parenting that will work in every situation. Her book presents the basics that emerge in the best of parent-child relationships, including humor, respect, boundaries, and physical touch. You do not have to be a super-parent to apply these basics. Karuna didn't even know how to make a pancake when she began mothering. The most essential ingredient of treating parenting as sacred, she says, is the intention to give your children the best of who you are so that they can be the best of who they are.
