Making Accountability Work Burt Perrin, Jeremy Lonsdale, Marie-Louise Bemelmans-Videc, 2011-12-31 Like honesty and clean water accountability is invariably seen as a good thing Conversely the absence of accountability is associated with most of the greatest abuses in human history Accountability is thus closely linked with the exercise of power and the legitimacy of policies and those pursuing them This book looks at the role of evaluation and of audit as key elements in democratic accountability processes The contributors explore the apparent paradox of there being more accountability related activities today than ever before at the same time as much public debate laments what is seen as a lack of actual accountability Such a situation raises a number of questions Is there a need for different approaches to establishing accountability or can current arrangements be modified to make them more effective Are present practices part of the problem and are they preventing a mature debate about performance improvement taking place How can systems awash with performance information ensure that at least some of it makes sense to a wide range of potential users How is it that greater accountability and transparency can so quickly have become associated with concerns about perverse incentives and be seen by some as a costly burden The volume includes detailed case studies and synthesizes up to date research evidence drawn from very different governmental systems ending with practical advice for those involved in the accountability processes In doing so it attempts to address both conceptual ambiguities about the notion of accountability and the practical uncertainties over its implications for democratic government This book is aimed at serious people who think about trends in the use of evaluation and audit in seeking to hold governments accountable for their actions and performance

The Accountability Gap in EU law Marios Costa, 2016-10-04 Almost two decades ago the fall of the Santer Commission against a background of allegations of maladministration and nepotism had the effect of placing accountability on the political agenda of the EU institutions More recently the non ratification of the Constitutional Treaty the difficulties of the ratification of the Lisbon Treaty and the current financial crisis have increased the calls for accountability in the EU This book investigates whether any progress towards more accountability and transparency has been made in the post Lisbon era by taking a holistic approach to the subject Marios Costa argues that currently the EU institutions and the Member States are not in a position to hold the so called independent agencies as well as the various committees and expert groups accountable Despite recent progress the EU still needs to put forward an acceptable constitutional framework which will truly secure accountability at the EU level of governance

HC 110 - Who's Accountable? Relationships Between Government And Arm's-Length Bodies Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Public Administration Select Committee, 2014 The controversy around the Government's handling of flooding last winter showed that arm's length Government is confused and opaque Organisational forms and names are inconsistent Most public bodies answer to Ministers but some are directly accountable to Parliament There is no agreement on how many types of body exist There are overlaps and blurring between categories Accountability arrangements and reforms so far have been ad hoc The Government has reviewed non departmental public bodies but it should review all forms of arm's length Government including executive agencies and non ministerial departments The Government should establish a clear taxonomy of public bodies constitutional bodies independent public interest bodies departmental sponsored bodies and executive agencies All public bodies should sit in one of the categories so that it is clear how each is to be governed and sponsored This is essential in order to clarify who is accountable for what This would promote understanding of what is expected of relationships and explain the rationale for locating functions in particular organisational forms Up to date plain English statements of statuses roles and relationships are needed even if the underlying arrangements are complicated This is far from the reality in many cases particularly in the NHS With a budget of 95.6 billion NHS England is now by far the largest public body in England and its accountability should not be in any doubt but it is still evolving There is insufficient understanding across Government about how arms length Government should work

Innovating Democracy Robert E. Goodin, 2008-07-10 In recent years democratic theory has taken a deliberative turn Instead of merely casting the occasional ballot deliberative democrats want citizens to reason together They embrace talk as a decision procedure But of course thousands or millions of people cannot realistically talk to one another all at once When putting their theories into practice deliberative democrats therefore tend to focus on mini publics usually of a couple dozen to a couple hundred people The central question then is how to connect micro deliberations in mini publics to the political decision making processes of the larger society In Innovating Democracy Robert Goodin surveys these new deliberative mechanisms asking how they work and what we can properly expect of them Much though they have to offer they cannot deliver all that deliberative democrats hope Talk Goodin concludes is good as discovery procedure but not as a decision procedure His slogan is First talk then vote Micro deliberative mechanisms should supplement not supplant representative democracy Goodin goes on to show how to adapt our thinking about those familiar institutions to take full advantage of deliberative inputs That involves rethinking who should get a say how we hold people accountable how we sequence deliberative moments and what the roles of parties and legislatures can be in that Revisioning macro democratic processes in light of the processes and promise of micro deliberation Innovating Democracy provides an integrated perspective on democratic theory and practice after the deliberative turn Civil Society, the Third Sector and Social Enterprise

Jean-Louis Laville, Dennis R. Young, Philippe Eynaud, 2015-04-24 If the twentieth century was only focused on the complementarity and the opposition of market and state the twenty first century has now to deal with the prominence of the third sector the emergence of social enterprises and other solidarity hybrid forms The concept of civil society organisations CSOs spans this diversity and addresses this new complexity The first part of the book highlights the organizational dimensions of CSOs and analyses the growing role of management models and their limits Too often the study of CSO governance has been centered on the role of the board and has not sufficiently taken into account the different types of accountability environments Thus the conversation about CSO governance rises to the level of networks rather than simple organizations per se and the role of these networks in setting the agenda in a democratic society In this perspective the second part emphasizes the institutional dimensions of CSO governance by opening new avenues on democracy First the work of Ostrom about governing the commons provides us new insights to think community self governance Second the work of Habermas and Fraser opens the question of deliberative governance and the role of public sphere to enlarge our vision of CSO governance Third the concepts of substantive rationality and economy proposed respectively by Ramos and Polanyi reframe the context in which the question can be addressed Lastly this book argues for a stronger intercultural approach useful for the renewal of paradigms in CSOs research This book has for objective to present a unique collective work in bringing together 33 authors coming from 11 countries to share perspectives on civil society governance and will be of interest to an international audience of researchers and policy makers Education in India Shubha Tewari, 2005 Education In India Tries To Grasp And Define The Scenario Of Education In India Debate And Discussion Are The Prerequisite For Improvement Ruthless Self Examination Can Lead To Many Fruitful Conclusions Efforts Have Been Made To Include Very Vast Areas Pertaining To Education In India Articles Have Been Chosen Mainly On The Basis Of Their Ability To Present Effective Ideas And Also Pave Some Path For Future So That Some Sort Of Action Plan May Be Worked Out Authors Have Been Very Objective In Their Approach Their Non Partisan Apolitical Approach Is The Biggest Strength Of This Venture
