Bodies for Profit and Power Lisa Wenger Bro, 2023-10-05 Early dystopian science fiction like George Orwell's 1984 or Thea von Harbou's Metropolis show us bleak worlds where capitalism has no boundaries and has corrupted sovereign powers exploiting the lower classes and benefiting only a few at the top. Political laws and policies related to human life or the biopolitical devalue that life making humanity little more than expendable machines producing for capitalism and capitalism's focus on progress has made it a central concern in much of science fiction. Covering science fiction from the early 1900s to present, this book examines the portrayal of dystopian capitalism and the biopolitical in works like Brave New World and R.U.R. among many others. Online Communication in the Context of Personal, Virtual and Corporate Identity Formation Lutz Peschke, Can Gürmeric, 2018-09-17 The implementation of digital media in our today's communication has a strong impact on the media behaviours in the society. In the last decades great importance is given to the protection of the personality rights in the context of the new media. Since our communication is a media based communication its impact on the construction of reality affects the normative value pattern of societies. To understand new media as a central aspect of our mediated world it has to be located and analysed both in the communicative and normative system. Today social media is not anymore based on user generated content but is now turned to a platform for business makers with and in the context of Big Data. This book will discuss the formation of different identities as a result of different ways of new media usage. It includes on the one hand online communication between personal and virtual identities. It discusses researches about online identity and online anonymity. Self presentation strategies by using online dating platforms, the phenomenon of Internet Mothers as well as the potential of cyberbullying of Snapchat. This book is located between user generated content and professional applications and regards itself as a contribution to a media discourse in a mediated and globalized world.

Pivoting and Producing for Online TV Alexa Scarlata, 2025-05-02 The introduction and diffusion of international subscription video on demand (SVOD) services in the 2010s represented the most significant disruption of established national broadcast and pay TV ecologies in their long history. Using an in-depth Australian case study, this book narrates this profound period of proliferation. It also considers how incumbent commercial networks, pay TV providers and public service broadcasters developed into online TV providers albeit in assorted ways. In so doing it conceives of the early impact of online TV, 2015-2020 more broadly and acknowledges the role of both new and old TV players. The industry-wide shift towards online TV over this period also impacted existing television drama production cultures. SVOD services provided a fruitful avenue for the distribution of existing archives and slowly began to support the production of new Australian content with an increasingly global focus However the formal arrival of online TV certainly did not usher in the boom in original local television drama many anticipated Pivoting and Producing for Online TV Australia s Transition advances the macro analysis of television production strategies This book will be useful to students and researchers interested in media film and cultural studies
