Read the excerpt from Act I of The Importance of Being Earnest.

Lane. I attribute it to the superior quality of the wine, sir. I have often observed that in married households the champagne is rarely of a first-rate brand.

Algernon. Good heavens! Is marriage so demoralising as that?

This excerpt best illustrates which feature of a comedy of manners? Ans: C) Commentary on marriage Which line from "She Walks in Beauty" describes the woman in an unusual way? Ans: A) "Which heaven to gaudy day denies"

Read the passage from The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

On the 8th of January Utterson had dined at the doctor's with a small party; Lanyon had been there; and the face of the host had looked from one to the other as in the old days when the trio were inseparable friends. On the 12th, and again on the 14th, the door was shut against the lawyer. "The doctor was confined to the house," Poole said, "and saw no one." On the 15th, he tried again, and was again refused; and having now been used for the last two months to see his friend almost daily, he found this return of solitude to weigh upon his spirits.

Which prediction is most supported by the passage? Ans: D) Utterson will suspect that Jekyll is once again involved with Hyde.

Read the passage from The War of the Worlds.

There were really, I should think, two or three hundred people elbowing and jostling one another, the one or two ladies there being by no means the least active.

In this passage, the author uses humor to comment on the Ans: A) foolishness of people.

Read the excerpt from "The Tell-Tale Heart."

TRUE!—nervous—very, very dreadfully nervous I had been and am; but why will you say that I am mad? The disease had sharpened my senses—not destroyed—not dulled them. Above all was the sense of hearing acute. I heard all things in the heaven and in the earth. I heard many things in hell. How, then, am I mad? Hearken! and observe how healthily—how calmly I can tell you the whole story.
