Neuroinflammation and Behaviour Luba Sominsky, Adam K. Walker, Deborah M. Hodgson, 2015-07-21 The brain and immune system are involved in an intricate network of bidirectional communication This relationship is vital for optimal physiological and psychological development and functioning but can also result in unwanted outcomes In particular this interaction plays an important role in cognition mood and behaviour Neuroinflammation is known to contribute to neurological and affective disorders including impaired learning and memory depressive anxiety and schizoaffective symptoms as well as pain The development of these conditions often occurs on the backdrop of pre existing physical illnesses which give rise to increased activation of the immune system such as cancer obesity infection and autoimmune disorders Similarly psychological states can alter regulation of the immune system This has been most extensively studied in the context of stress and immune function Understanding the underlying mechanisms that lead to the onset of inflammation induced neuropathology and stress induced immune suppression will contribute to the development of novel and effective treatment strategies for both the disease and its neurological side effects In this research topic we explored the relationship between the immune system and the brain throughout life We include both original research and review papers from animal clinical and molecular perspectives

Disrupt Science Mihai Nadin, 2023-11-18 Reaction to breakdowns is more expensive by many orders of magnitude than prevention This again became clear during the COVID 19 pandemic and is evinced in the sustainability crisis The dynamics of living matter transcends deterministic reaction Embodied in machines determinism

empowered the human being providing the path to prosperity However in conjunction with reductionism it does away with complexity in which life is couched The living is by necessity anticipatory Awareness of the future means preserving life not in reaction to but in anticipation of change Living entities from the simplest bacteria to plants and insects to human beings are adaptive goal oriented and capable of self healing Anticipatory actions are expressed through non deterministic processes that unfold in concert with reactions They engage the wholeness of life including its interactions with the environment Awareness of consequences together with memory of the past informs actions that reflect the creative nature of human beings Redefining science and implicitly medicine is not a negation of its past but rather an affirmation of trust in explaining life s capacity to renew itself As opposed to increasingly expensive medicine as a practice of repair to prevent and to heal is to make life sustainable The moment of truth can no longer be postponed At stake is the future of humankind and even of life on planet Earth Reductionist determinism informs the obsession with progress at any cost Awareness of the fact that the human condition transcends that of the matter in which it is embodied explains and indeed justifies the call to Disrupt Science in its current state The age of the digital machine in particular of artificial intelligence is one of opportunities that pale when compared to its inherent risks The record of breakdowns including so called natural disasters by now global in scale is part of the empirical premise for the call for completing the Cartesian Revolution A Second Revolution in Science could unleash humanity s remaking free of surrendering to want Science has the opportunity not only to measure everything life included and accumulate data and process it for its own sake but also to realize its meaning The book cover is designed by Baruch Gorkin who is celebrated internationally for exquisite typefaces and for books reflecting meaning driven design

The Impact of Shared Vision on Leadership, Engagement, and Organizational Citizenship Richard Eleftherios Boyatzis, Kylie Rochford, Scott N. Taylor, 2015-10-28 According to management and psychology courses as well as legions of consultants in organizational psychology shared vision in dyads teams and organizations can fill us with hope and inspire new possibilities or delude us into following false prophets However few research studies have empirically examined the impact of shared vision on key organizational outcomes such as leadership effectiveness employee engagement organizational citizenship coaching and organizational change As a result the field of organizational psychology has not yet established a causal pattern of whether if and how shared vision helps dyads teams and organizations function more effectively The lack of empirical work around shared vision is surprising given its long standing history in the literature Bennis and Nanus 1982 showed that distinctive leaders managed attention through vision The practitioner literature has long proclaimed that vision is a key to change while Conger and Kanungo 1998 discussed its link to charismatic leadership Around the same time positive psychology appeared in the forms of Appreciative Inquiry Cooperrider Sorensen Whitney Yaeger 2000 and Positive Organizational Scholarship Cameron Dutton Quinn 2003 In this context a shared vision or dream became a legitimate antecedent to sustainable change But again empirical measurement has been elusive More recently shared vision has been the focus of a number of dissertations and quantitative studies building on Intentional Change Theory ICT Boyatzis 2008 at dyad team and organization levels of social systems These studies are beginning to lay the foundations for a systematic body of empirical knowledge about the role of shared vision in an organizational context For example we now know that shared vision can activate neural networks that arouse endocrine systems and allow a person to consider the possibilities of a better future Jack Boyatzis Leckie Passarelli Khawaja 2013 Additionally Boyatzis Akrivou 2006 have discussed the role of a shared vision as the result of a well developed set of factors that produce a desired image of the future Outside of the organizational context positive visioning has been known to help guide future behavior in sports psychology Loehr Schwartz 2003 medical treatment Roffe Schmidt Ernst 2005 musical performance Meister Krings Foltys Boroojerdi Muller Topper Thron 2004 and academic performance Curry Snyder Cook Ruby Rehm 1997 This Research Topic for Frontiers in Psychology is a collection of 14 original papers examining the role of vision and shared vision on a wide variety of desired dependent variables from leadership effectiveness and executive performance to organizational engagement citizenship and corporate social responsibility and how to develop it through coaching
