Life Sciences Grade 11final Exam 2014 P1:

New Languages and Landscapes of Higher Education Peter Scott, Jim Gallacher, Gareth Parry, 2017 The landscapes of higher education have been changing rapidly with enormous growths in participation rates in many countries across the world and major developments and changes within institutions But the languages that we need to conceptualise and understand these changes have not been keeping pace The central argument in this book is that new ways of thinking about higher education the new languages of its title are needed to understand the role of universities and colleges in contemporary society and culture and the global economy new landscapes Over reliance on existing conceptualisations of higher education has made it difficult to understand fully the nature of 21st century higher education It may also have encouraged a view that there is no alternative to the development of more marketized forms of higher education The analysis offered suggests that the future is much more open It argues that familiar categories normally accepted as givens are actually more fluid Systems of higher education whether expressed through direct public funding or through regulatory regimes are being eroded Institutions often assumed to be to be given enhanced agency by more corporate forms of management and governance are no longer powerful actors if they ever were Research often corralled by assessment and management systems is becoming more diffuse and distributed Learning supposedly more focused on skill outcomes and employability retains a more broadly educative function The publicness of higher education has not disappeared as public funding has diminished but taken on new forms With contributions from leading figures drawn from a wide range of countries this book provides an authoritative analysis of many of the major issues which dominate discussion with respect to policy practice and research in the field of higher education and it can expect to become a major source book for all who are interested in the development of higher education in the 21st Century

Food Policy and Practice in Early Childhood Education and Care Francesca Vaghi, 2023-11-24 This book is about food and feeding in early childhood education and care offering an exploration of the intersection of children s food education family intervention and public health policies The notion of good food for children is often communicated as a matter of common sense by policymakers and public health authorities yet the social material and practical aspects of feeding children are far from straightforward Drawing on a detailed ethnographic study conducted in a London nursery and children s centre this book provides a close examination of the practices of childcare practitioners children and parents asking how the universalism of policy and bureaucracy fits with the particularism of feeding and eating in the early years Looking at the unintended consequences that emerged in the field such as contradictory public health messaging and arbitrary policy interventions the book reveals the harmful assumptions about disadvantaged groups that are perpetuated in policy discourse and challenges the constructs of individual choice and responsibility as main determinants of health Children s food practices at the nursery are examined to explore the notion that whilst for adults it is what children eat that often matters most to children it is how they eat that is more important This book contributes to a growing body of literature evidencing how children s food is a contested domain in which power relations are continuously negotiated This raises questions not only on how children can be included in policy beyond a tokenistic involvement but also on what children s well being might mean beyond the biomedical sphere The book will particularly appeal to students and scholars in food and health food policy childhood studies and medical anthropology Policymakers and non governmental bodies working in the domains of children s food and early years policies will also find this book of interest
