2.1 Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Peat lands are special wetlands that play a very important role in ecology. A peat land, of approximately 5 000 years old, near Mulhang is almost destroyed because of excessive extraction of water from the nearby Molojo river. The water is extracted for human consumption.

Peat lands like the one near Malling is exceptional and play an important role in storing water as well as preventing climate changes.

Dr. Pat-Louis Drunding said that carbon that is "held" or "stored" by peat lands combats climate change because it decreases the amount of carbon in the atmosphere.

Peat lands trap about one third of the world's carbon. Approximately 50% of wetlands worldwide are peat lands. However in South Africa about 10% of the wetlands are peat lands.

Grundling explained that peat lands can hold about 1 000 times its own mass in water. This replenishes the water table and is the source that keeps streams flowing. The "sponge effect" of the peat also makes it possible to store water that is then released during the seasons.

Dr. Grunwald said that it might be too late to restore the peat land near Malling but it might be possible to restore some parts of it if more water is supplied to this peat land.

The result of this destruction is depletion of the water table. The habitat of numerous fish and bird species that lived in the canal bed was also destroyed.

Life Sciences Paper November 2014:

AIIMS Annual Report All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, 2014 How America Stacks Up Edward Alden, Rebecca Strauss, 2016-02-01 American leadership in the world is built on the foundation of its economic strength Yet the United States faces enormous economic competition abroad and threats to its economy at home In How America Stacks Up Economic Competitiveness and U S Policy Edward Alden Bernard L Schwartz senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and director of the Renewing America initiative and Rebecca Strauss associate director of Renewing America focus on those areas of economic policy that are the most important for reinforcing America s competitive strengths Covering education transportation trade and investment corporate tax worker retraining regulation debt and deficits and innovation How America Stacks Up shows how in a highly competitive global economy these seemingly domestic issues are all crucial to U S success in the global economy The line between domestic economic policy and foreign economic policy is now almost invisible and getting these policies right matters for more than just U S living standards The United States ability to influence world events rests on a robust competitive economy But without further investment in education infrastructure and innovation Alden and Strauss show the United States runs the risk of endangering its greatest competitive advantage Through insightful analysis and engaging graphics How America Stacks Up outlines the challenges faced by the United States and prescribes solutions that will ensure a healthy competitive U S economy for years to come Postapocalyptic Fantasies in Antebellum American Literature John Hay, 2017-10-05 This book examines the widespread use of postapocalyptic fantasies in American literary texts in the early nineteenth century The Great Transition B. M. S. Campbell, 2016-06-23 Major account of the fourteenth century crisis which saw a series of famines revolts and epidemics transform the medieval world Innovation, Alliances, and Networks in High-Tech Environments Fiorenza Belussi, Luigi Orsi, 2015-09-16 Recent years have seen a growth in strategic alliances mergers and acquisitions and collaborative networks involving knowledge intensive and hi tech industries However there have been relatively few studies looking at this form of collaboration as a strategy to drive firms innovative performances This book specifically focuses on the role of strategic alliances M A and innovation networks providing insights on if and how they contribute to boosting firms innovation performances The book has a double purpose Firstly it investigates at an industry level the role played by the alliance M As and networks in high tech environments such as biotechnology pharmaceutical software and nanotechnology in creating transforming and reshaping the dynamics inside and between industries Secondly it explores the impact at the firm level of factors such as cognitive distance management capabilities and relational and social capabilities on firms global innovation capacity measured as innovation quantity innovation quality and innovation novelty The book will be of interest to scholars working on the economics of innovation innovation management studies strategic management regional science and evolutionary economics among other areas Education and Society in the Middle East and North Africa Milton George, S. Sergio Saleem

Scatolini,2020-01-17 In the past the Middle East and the so called Muslim world used to be beacons of learning and critical thought Although historical variables such as conquest internal conflict and colonization demoted their position on the global stage changes are now in the offing In these interesting times a growing number of educators thinkers and visionaries are trying both to find and to generate new approaches to the past present and future of the region This book is a collection of articles which reflect on various aspects related to education and society in the Middle East and North Africa also known as the MENA region their peoples and educational processes It provides a platform for people to join the global conversation and to contribute to it with data which are relevant to regional concerns research and practices This is necessary because many of the theories and research findings which are still being used to understand the region were generated elsewhere and despite their lack of regional representativeness were generalized as the most trustworthy interpretive tools across the world Hence there is a need for the world to open up to the voices from the MENA region Recent Advances in $\gamma\delta$ T

Cell Biology: New Ligands, New Functions, and New Translational Perspectives Dieter Kabelitz,Julie

Dechanet-Merville,2016-02-16 Gamma delta T cells are a small subset of T lymphocytes in the peripheral circulation but constitute a major T cell population at other anatomical localizations such as the epithelial tissues In contrast to conventional T cells the available number of germline genes coding for T cell receptor TCR variable elements of T cells is very small Moreover there is a preferential localization of T cells expressing given Vgamma and Vdelta genes in certain tissues In humans T cells expressing the Vg9Vd2 encoded TCR account for anywhere between 50 and 95% of peripheral blood T cells whereas cells expressing non Vd2 genes dominate in mucosal tissues In mice there is an ordered appearance of T cell waves during embryonic development resulting in preferential localization of T cells expressing distinct VgammaVdelta genes in the skin the reproductive organs or gut epithelia The major function of T cells resides in local immunosurveillance and immune defense against infection and malignancy This is supported by the identification of ligands that are selectively recognized by the TCR As an example human Vgamma9Vdelta2 T cells recognize phosphorylated metabolites phosphoantigens that are secreted by many pathogens but can also be overproduced by tumor cells providing a basis for a role of these T cells in both anti infective and anti tumor immunity Similarly the recognition of endothelial protein C receptor by human non Vdelta2 T cells has recently been identified to provide a link for the role for such T cells in immunity against epithelial tumor cells and cytomegalovirus infected endothelial cells In addition to classical functions such as cytokine production and cytotoxicity recent studies suggest that subsets of T cells can exert additional functions such as regulatory activity and quite surprisingly professional antigen presenting capacity It is currently not well known how this tremendous extent of functional plasticity is regulated and what is the extent of TCR ligand diversity Due to their non MHC restricted recognition of unusual stress associated ligands T cells have raised great interest as to their potential translational application in cell based immunotherapy Topics of this Research Focus include Molecular insights into the activation and differentiation requirements
