Dual-use life science research and biosecurity in the 21st Century: Social, Technical, Policy, and Ethical Challenges

Jonathan E. Suk, Kathleen M. Vogel, Amanda Jane Ozin, 2015-06-04 In September 2011 scientists announced new experimental findings that would not only threaten the conduct and publication of influenza research but would have significant policy and intelligence implications The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets These results suggested a worrisome possibility the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic In response a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose These discussions addressed the complex social technical political security and ethical issues related to dual use research This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives How America Stacks Up Edward Alden, Rebecca Strauss, 2016-02-01 American leadership in the world is built on the foundation of its economic strength Yet the United States faces enormous economic competition abroad and threats to its economy at home In How America Stacks Up Economic Competitiveness and U S Policy Edward Alden Bernard L Schwartz senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and director of the Renewing America initiative and Rebecca Strauss associate director of Renewing America focus on those areas of economic policy that are the most important for reinforcing America's competitive strengths Covering education transportation trade and investment corporate tax worker retraining regulation debt and deficits and innovation How America Stacks Up shows how in a highly competitive global economy these seemingly domestic issues are all crucial to U S success in the global economy The line between domestic economic policy and foreign economic policy is now almost invisible and getting these policies right matters for more than just U S living standards The United States ability to influence world events rests on a robust competitive economy But without further investment in education infrastructure and innovation Alden and Strauss show the United States runs the risk of endangering its greatest competitive advantage Through insightful analysis and engaging graphics How America Stacks Up outlines the challenges faced by the United States and prescribes solutions that will ensure a healthy competitive U S economy for years to come Humanizing

the Laws of War Robin Geiß, Andreas Zimmermann, Stefanie Haumer, 2017-06-15 An analysis of the role of the International Committee of the Red Cross ICRC in international norm creation and the progressive development of international humanitarian law Innovation, Alliances, and Networks in High-Tech Environments Fiorenza Belussi, Luigi Orsi, 2015-09-16 Recent years have seen a growth in strategic alliances mergers and acquisitions and collaborative networks involving knowledge intensive and hi tech industries However there have been relatively few studies looking at this form of collaboration as a strategy to drive firms innovative performances This book specifically focuses on the role of strategic alliances M A and innovation networks providing insights on if and how they contribute to boosting firms innovation performances The book has a double purpose Firstly it investigates at an industry level the role played by the alliance M As and networks in high tech environments such as biotechnology pharmaceutical software and nanotechnology in creating transforming and reshaping the dynamics inside and between industries Secondly it explores the impact at the firm level of factors such as cognitive distance management capabilities and relational and social capabilities on firms global innovation capacity measured as innovation quantity innovation quality and innovation novelty The book will be of interest to scholars working on the economics of innovation innovation management studies strategic management regional science and evolutionary economics among other areas

Entrepreneurship, Universities & Resources Ulla Hytti,Robert Blackburn,Denise Fletcher,Friederike Welter,2016-11-25 The role of resources is pivotal in entrepreneurship for the success of new and small ventures though most face resource constraints The book offers multiple perspectives on analysing and understanding the importance of resources in entrepreneurship development Approaching the subject with both a practice theory and research based approach the contributors analyse topics such as processes and structures in social entrepreneuring entrepreneurship and equity in crowdfunding and forming alliances with large firms to overcome resource constraints The contributors provide evidence for example on how business angels can contribute more than finance to small ventures and how the flexibility of resources is important in internationalisation

Ontological Politics in a Disposable World Luigi Pellizzoni,2016-03-03 This book explores the intertwining of politics and ontology shedding light on the ways in which as our ability to investigate regulate appropriate enhance and destroy material reality have developed so new social scientific accounts of nature and our relationship with it have emerged together with new forms of power Engaging with cutting edge social theory and elaborating on the thought of Foucault Heidegger Adorno and Agamben the author demonstrates that the convergence of ontology with politics is not simply an intellectual endeavour of growing import but also a governmental practice which builds upon neoliberal programmes the renewed accumulation of capital and the development of technosciences in areas such as climate change geoengineering and biotechnology With shifts in our accounts of nature have come new means of mastering it giving rise to unprecedented forms of exploitation and destruction with related forms of social domination In the light of growing social inequalities environmental degradation and resource appropriation and commodification Ontological Politics in a Disposable World The New Mastery of Nature reveals the need for new critical frameworks and oppositional practices to challenge the rationality of government that lies behind these developments a rationality that thrives on indeterminacy and an account of materiality as comprised of fluid ever changing states simultaneously agential and pliable to which social theory increasingly subscribes without questioning enough its underpinnings and implications A theoretically sophisticated reassessment of the relationship between ontology and politics which draws the contours of a renewed humanism to allow for a more harmonious relationship with the world this book will appeal to scholars in social and political theory environmental sociology geography science and technology studies and

Sustainability Matters: Environmental Management In The Anthropocene Lin Heng Lye, Harvey Neo, Sekhar Narayana Kondepudi, Wen Shan Yew, Judy Gek-khim Sng, 2017-08-11

Sustainability Matters is a compilation of some of the best research papers submitted by students from the National University of Singapore's multi disciplinary and inter disciplinary graduate programme in environmental studies as their MSc dissertations in Environmental Management MEM. This collection is for the period 2014-2015 to 2015-2016. Entitled Sustainability Matters Environmental Management in the Anthropocene, this is the sixth volume in the series and comprises 15 of the best research papers completed during this period. The papers have been edited for brevity. They analyse the many challenges to effective environmental management covering countries including China, Vietnam, Singapore, Indonesia, Pakistan, Bangladesh, the EU and USA. Issues examined include biodiversity conservation, environmental science, environmental governance and management, energy and urban studies. The first compilation, Sustainability Matters Environmental Management in Asia, was published in 2010 and comprised the best papers from 2001-2002 to 2006-2007. The second, Sustainability Matters Challenges and Opportunities in Environmental Management in Asia, was published in 2011 and comprised the best papers from 2007-2008 and 2008-2009. The third and fourth compilations, Sustainability Matters Asia's Green Challenges and Sustainability Matters Asia's Energy Concerns, Green Policies and Environmental Advocacy, comprised the best papers from the periods 2009-2010 and 2011-2012 respectively. The fifth compilation, Sustainability Matters Environmental and Climate Changes in the Asia Pacific, was published in 2015 and comprised the best papers for the periods 2012-2013 and 2013-2014. The papers are edited by five staff members from different disciplines in the MEM programme: Lye Lin Heng, Harvey Neo, Sekhar Kondepudi, Yew Wen Shan, Judy Sng Gek Khim.

Plant Glycobiology - a sweet world of lectins, glycoproteins, glycolipids and glycans Els J. M. Van Damme, Nausicaä Lannoo, Cécile Albenne, Elisabeth Jamet, 2015-02-12

Plants synthesize a wide variety of unique glycan structures which play essential roles during the life cycle of the plant. Being omnipresent throughout the plant kingdom, ranging from simple green algae to modern flowering plants, glycans contribute to many diverse processes. Glycans can function as structural components in the plant cell wall, assist in the folding of nascent proteins, act as signaling molecules in plant defense responses or ER stress pathways or serve within the energy metabolism of a plant. In most cases, glycans are attached to other macromolecules to form so-called glycoconjugates, e.g. glycoproteins, proteoglycans and glycolipids, but they can also be present as free entities residing in the plant cell. Next to the broad complex set of glycans, plants also evolved an elaborate collection of lectins or proteins with a lectin-like domain which can recognize and bind to endogenous plants' own or exogenous foreign glycans. Though still poorly understood in plants, the dynamic interactions between lectins and carbohydrate structures are suggested to be involved in gene transcription, protein folding, protein transport, cell adhesion, signaling as well as defense responses. As such, a complex and largely undetermined glycan interactome is established inside plant cells between cells and their surrounding matrix inside the extracellular matrix and even between organisms Studying the biological roles of plant glycans will enable to better understand plant development and physiology in order to fully exploit plants for food feed and production of pharmaceutical proteins In this Research Topic we want to provide a platform for articles describing the latest research perspectives and methodologies related to the fascinating world of plant glycobiology with a focus on following subjects

- 1 Identification and characterization of plant glycans their biosynthetic and degradation enzymes
- 2 Characterization of plant lectins and glycoproteins
- 3 Plant glycans in the plant s energy metabolism
- 4 Role of plant glycans in plant defense signaling
- 5 Use of plant lectins in pest control
- 6 Plant lectins as new tools in human medicine
- 7 Glyco engineering in plants
