Prentice Hall Exploring Life Science Anthea Maton,1997      The COVID-19 Pandemic and the Politics of Life

Inocent Moyo,Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni,2023-08-04 This book explores the extent to which the COVID 19 pandemic is poised to be a permanent fixture in the modern world which in contemporary times will be thought of in terms of before and after the pandemic It looks at how the pandemic has brought to the fore the question of the appropriate ethics politics and spirituality and highlights the present condition of humanity and the need to rethink alternative planetary futures It argues that the pandemic has existential and epistemic implications for human life on planet Earth and a post COVID 19 future requires a fundamental transformation of the present economic political and social conditions Drawing on empirical case studies on the COVID 19 pandemic from Africa and beyond contributions in this book challenge the reader to rethink alternative planetary futures It will be a useful resource for students scholars and researchers of African studies citizenship studies global development global politics human geography migration studies development studies international studies international relations and political science      The Ethics of Participation in Environmental Field Research Lydia

Gibson,Julia Sauma,2025-07-28 Local participation is increasingly seen as a central and ethical part of environmental research As such many environmental efforts are becoming increasingly participatory Participation as a string of literature has shown has many political economic social and epistemic consequences and ethics is fluid polyvalent and contextual Right is right wrong is wrong is dangerous rhetoric that centres western experiences and forecloses the myriad realities and relations bundled within and forced upon marginalised experiences Both participation and ethics as concepts and praxis cast decades long shadows over field research particularly in anthropology yet much of these discussions are left at the threshold of interdisciplinary spaces where participation traditional and Indigenous knowledge and co production are brought in to sanitise and legitimise environmental actions Where are our lessons learned and what ought we to make of their absence The first half of this volume offers ethnographic examples that allow us to begin to ask whether participation in the capitalist machinery and colonial legacies of academic knowledge is ever even ethical The second half of the book is dedicated to anti solutions refusals to define problems and approaches in fixed closed terms from which equations calculations and solutions can be derived This book provokes important new discussions about ethical participation in environmental field research by bringing to the fore the fluid nature of both ethics and participation The volume aims to provide critical intervention for students and researchers across natural and social sciences whose fieldwork includes engagement with local communities and stakeholders as well as conservation policymakers and practitioners who consult and work with local communities

Gaia's Web Karen Bakker,2024-04-16 A riveting exploration of one of the most important dilemmas of our time will digital technology accelerate environmental degradation or could it play a role in ecological regeneration At the uncanny edge of the scientific frontier Gaia s Web explores the promise and pitfalls the Digital Age holds for the future of our planet Instead of the Internet of Things environmental scientist and tech entrepreneur Karen Bakker asks why not consider the Internet of Living Things At the surprising and inspiring confluence of our digital and ecological futures Bakker explores how the tools of the Digital Age could be mobilized to address our most pressing environmental challenges from climate change to biodiversity loss Interspersed with ten elegiac enigmatic parables each of which is based on an existing technology Gaia s Web evokes the conundrums we face as the World Wide Web intertwines with the Web of Life A new generation of innovators is deploying digital technology to come to the aid of the planet using spy satellites to track down environmental criminals inviting animals to the Metaverse and biohacking Frankenstein like biobots as environmental sentinels But will they end up doing more harm than good In an engaging take on conservation technology Bakker looks at the digital tech applications to environmental issues from predatory harvesting of environmental data to human bycatch and eco surveillance capitalism If we address these issues and mobilize digitally mediated forms of citizen science she argues digital tech could help reverse environmental harms and advance environmental sustainability And in the process Big Tech might be transformed for the better With its uniquely broad scope combining insights from computer science ecology engineering environmental science and environmental law Gaia s Web introduces profoundly novel ways of addressing our most pressing environmental challenges mitigating climate change protecting endangered species and creating new possibilities for ecological justice by empowering nonhumans to participate in environmental regulation

all those working in the field      Tiger Bone & Rhino Horn Richard Ellis, 2013-02-22 In parts of Korea and China moon bears black but for the crescent shaped patch of white on their chests are captured in the wild and brought to bear farms where they are imprisoned in squeeze cages and a steel catheter is inserted into their gall bladders The dripping bile is collected as a cure for ailments ranging from an upset stomach to skin burns The bear may live as long as fifteen years in this state Rhinos are being illegally poached for their horns as are tigers for their bones thought to improve virility Booming economies and growing wealth in parts of Asia are increasing demand for these precious medicinals Already endangered species are being sacrificed for temporary treatments for nausea and erectile dysfunction Richard Ellis one of the world's foremost experts in wildlife extinction brings his alarm to the pages of Tiger Bone Rhino Horn in the hope that through an exposure of this drug trade something can be done to save the animals most direly threatened Trade in animal parts for traditional Chinese medicine is a leading cause of species endangerment in Asia and poaching is increasing at an alarming rate Most of traditional Chinese medicine relies on herbs and other plants and is not a cause for concern Ellis illuminates those aspects of traditional medicine but as wildlife habitats are shrinking for the hunted large species the situation is becoming ever more critical One hundred years ago there were probably 100 000 tigers in India South China Sumatra Bali Java and the Russian Far East The South Chinese Caspian Balinese and Javan species are extinct There are now fewer than 5 000 tigers in all of India and the numbers are dropping fast There are five species of rhinoceros three in Asia and two in Africa and all have been hunted to near extinction so their horns can be ground into powder not for aphrodisiacs as commonly thought but for ailments ranging from arthritis to depression In 1930 there were 80 000 black rhinos in Africa Now there are fewer than 2 500 Tigers bears and rhinos are not the only animals pursued for the sake of alleviating human ills the list includes musk deer sharks saiga antelope seahorses porcupines monkeys beavers and sea lions but the dwindling numbers of those rare species call us to attention Ellis tells us what has been done successfully and contemplates what can and must be done to save these animals or sadly our children will witness the extinction of tigers rhinos and moon bears in their lifetime
