Informed is best Amy Brown, 2019. From the moment you share the news that you are pregnant or have a new baby, it feels like everyone becomes an expert. Did you see that headline? Did you hear that story on TV? Have you heard the latest about what they say is best? In a world overflowing with information telling you what is best for you and your baby, making decisions can feel overwhelming. Who do you trust? Who is telling the truth? And how do you know if what they are saying is right for you? How? By becoming your own expert in sorting the media spin and politics from the actual facts and data. This isn't a book that is going to tell you which decisions to make or that there is ever one right answer. It is not going to tell you that the same thing is always best for everyone. Instead, this is a guide to help you evaluate information and evidence to decide what is right for you, your body and your baby. In three main parts, it will firstly open your eyes to how information is shared in the media and how this can affect our thinking and decision making. Next, it will help you spot who is funding leading and promoting research and how this can affect the content of what is shared. Finally, it will talk you through reading, understanding and evaluating evidence for yourself across topics in pregnancy, birth and caring for babies. You'll learn how to spot weaknesses in methods used, how to determine the real risk for you and your baby, and how wider context and other factors can influence what research means for you. Information is power. Making your own decisions that are right for you is empowering.
