Basic Physical Science Harry Getliffe, 196? The Gale Encyclopedia of Science, 2001 Contains 2 000 entries ranging from short definitions to major overviews of concepts in all areas of science Cross-Cultural Comparisons of Science Education Shahat, Mohamed A., Al-Balushi, Sulaiman M., 2025-04-25 Science education varies across cultures influenced by factors like educational philosophy, societal values, economic conditions, and historical contexts. Cross-cultural comparisons of science education offer valuable insights into how different countries approach the teaching of scientific concepts and skills, as well as the outcomes they achieve. These comparisons reveal the diverse ways in which science is integrated into curricula, the teaching methods used, and the resources available to both educators and students. By examining the strengths and challenges of various educational systems, we can better understand how cultural contexts shape students' engagement with science, their ability to critically think, and the overall impact on scientific literacy. Such comparisons provide opportunities for mutual learning and the potential to improve science education globally by adopting the best practices from different cultural settings. Cross Cultural Comparisons of Science Education examines the problems involved in cross-cultural comparisons in science education by drawing on past studies investigating cultural differences. It explores teaching practices and student learning outcomes, considering different concepts of quality teaching and the impact of cultural characteristics on science education. This book covers topics such as mathematics, sociology, and teacher training and is a useful resource for sociologists, educators, academicians, researchers, and scientists. Bijker,1997-01-03 This book crystallizes and extends the important work Wiebe Bijker has done in the last decade to found a full scale theory of sociotechnical change that describes where technologies come from and how societies deal with them Of Bicycles Bakelites and Bulbs integrates detailed case studies with theoretical generalizations and political analyses to offer a fully rounded treatment both of the relations between technology and society and of the issues involved in sociotechnical change The stories of the the safety bicycle the first truly synthetic plastic and the fluorescent light bulb each a fascinating case study in itself reflect a cross section of time periods engineering and scientific disciplines and economic social and political cultures The bicycle story explores such issues as the role of changing gender relationships in shaping a technology the Bakelite story examines the ways in which social factors intrude even in cases of seemingly pure chemistry and entrepreneurship and the fluorescent bulb story offers insights into the ways in which political and economic relationships can affect the form of a technology Bijker s method is to use these case studies to suggest theoretical concepts that serve as building blocks in a more and more inclusive theory which is then tested against further case studies His main concern is to create a basis for science technology and social change that uncovers the social roots of technology making it amenable to democratic politics
