Paper 2021 2013 Psychology of Change Katherine J. Reynolds,Nyla R. Branscombe,2014-11-20 Choice Recommended Read This volume tackles the critical question of whether people change or whether they remain relatively constant across the lifespan Much existing literature in psychology has largely endorsed the concept of stability Indeed in many people s minds the person is understood to be set in stone as a function of early socialization and reaching a particular stage of development evolutionary processes or traits that are hard wired from the beginning by genes and biology However in recent years important scientific developments in theory and research concerning the psychology of change have emerged In contrast to the commonly held conception of the individual as fixed this research illustrates how malleable people are showing much behavioral plasticity The chapters in this volume written by scholars at the cutting edge of research into the psychology of change showcase these developments with the aim of advancing knowledge of the field and encouraging further research Topics addressed include brain function cognitive performance personality psychological well being collective action to achieve social change responses to life stressors and political change The message is clear the culture we live in what happens to us along the way and who we think we are and want to be can all change people Untangling

Eirini Mavritsaki,Panagiotis Rentzelas,Karina J. Linnell,Moritz Köster,2021-09-27 Affectivity and Race Rikke Andreassen,Kathrine Vitus,2016-03-09 This book presents new empirical studies of social difference in the Nordic welfare states in order to advance novel theoretical perspectives on the everyday practices and macro politics of race and gender in multi ethnic societies With attention to the specific political and cultural landscapes of the Nordic countries Affectivity and

Race draws on a variety of sources including television programmes news media fictional literature interviews ethnographic observations teaching curricula and policy documents to explore the ways in which ideas about affectivity and emotion afford new insights into the experience of racial difference and the unfolding of political discourses on race in various social spheres Organised around the themes of the politicisation of race through affect the way that race produces affect and the affective experience of race this interdisciplinary collection sheds light on the role of feelings in the formation of subjectivities how race and whiteness are affectively circulated in public life and the ways in which emotions contribute to regimes of inclusion and exclusion As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in sociology anthropology media literary and cultural studies race and ethnicity and Nordic studies

The Comparative Psychology of Intelligence: Macphail Revisited Michael Colombo, Damian Scarf, Thomas Zentall, 2021-03-15

Inequality, Education, and Social Exclusion in the Welfare State Kirsten Elisa Petersen, Niels Rosendal Jensen, 2025-08-08 Focusing specifically on educational contexts this volume sheds light on how the increasing inequalities and issues of social exclusion found in the processes and systems of Nordic welfare states have a detrimental impact on the well being and development opportunities of children and young people Presenting a broad range of empirical and theoretical research conducted within a variety of institutional contexts such as day care school and leisure pedagogy as well as in more domestic disadvantaged settings chapters analyse problems and issues which foster inequality within pedagogy and education in predominantly Danish and more broadly Nordic welfare state contexts Using insights from various scientific disciplines such as psychology sociology and anthropology the volume discusses how these processes are acted out not only within welfare education systems but more broadly within social and educational policy legislation directly affecting decisions made for children and young people Ultimately the volume looks to the wider international context to argue that inequality cannot be analysed solely in relation to income and discusses different forms of inequality stemming from liberal conservative and social democratic welfare state regimes in order to recommend implications for future research This book will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of sociology of education childhood education and social inequalities within education more broadly Policymakers in these fields will also find the book useful

Within academic circles there is a longstanding issue concerning the portrayal and understanding of African womanhood Frequently these narratives are crafted by outsiders predominantly Western scholars often distorting the lived experiences and unique perspectives of African women This has led to a skewed and sometimes negative perception of African women reinforcing stereotypes and sidelining their voices in critical discussions Moreover this misrepresentation has real world consequences as it impacts social justice initiatives and development projects that rely on misguided narratives rather than the authentic voices of African women African Womanhood and the Feminist Agenda emerges as an essential solution to the misrepresentation of African women This comprehensive and meticulously researched book offers an alternative narrative one that is rooted in African perspectives and experiences It addresses the historical cultural and political dimensions of African womanhood providing a rich and nuanced understanding of this multifaceted topic The long and short of mental time travel-- self-projection over time-scales large and small James M. Broadway, Claire M. Zedelius, Jonathan W. Schooler, Simon Grondin, 2015-07-02 Researchers working in many fields of psychology and neuroscience are interested in the temporal structure of experience as well as the experience of time at scales of a few milliseconds up to a few seconds as well as days months years and beyond This Research Topic supposes that broadly speaking the field of time psychology can be organized by distinguishing between perceptual and conceptual time scales Dealing with conceptual time mental time travel also called mental simulation self projection episodic semantic memory prospection foresight allows humans and perhaps other animals to imagine and plan events and experiences in their personal futures based in large part on memories of their personal pasts as well as general knowledge Moreover contents of human language and thought are fundamentally organized by a temporal dimension enmeshed with it so thoroughly that it is usually expressible only through spatial metaphors But what might such notions have to do with experienced durations of events lasting milliseconds up to a few seconds during the so called present moment of perception action cycle time This Research Topic is organized around the general premise that by considering how mental time travel might scale down to time perception and vice versa no less progress and integrative synthesis within and across scientific domains might be facilitated

Bipolar configurations of future and past orientations of the self may be repeated in parallel across conceptual and perceptual time scales subsumed by a general Janus like feedforward feedback system for goal pursuit As an example it is notable that the duality of prospection and semantic episodic memory operating at conceptual time scales has an analogue in perception action cycle time namely the interplay of anticipatory attention and working memory Authors from all areas of psychology and neuroscience are encouraged to submit articles of any format accepted by the journal Original Research Methods Hypothesis Theory Reviews etc which might speak to questions about time and temporal phenomena at long and or short time scales
