ASSESSMENT OF SERVICE QUALITY IN HEALTH INSURANCE SECTOR A STUDY WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO CHENNAI CITY Dr. S.T.KRISHNEKUMAAR, Dr. K.S.MEENAKSHI SUNDARAM, Aging and Mental Health Lia Fernandes, Constança Paúl, 2017-07-04 People are progressively ageing all over the world and it is estimated that the number of persons aged 60 or over will more than triple by 2100. This emerging population will experience an inevitable rise in dementia, mental health problems and chronic diseases. According to GBD 2010, neuropsychiatric disorders among older adults account for 6.6% of the total disability DALYs for this age group, with 15% suffering from a mental disorder. Multiple social, psychological and biological factors are determinant of mental health, as well as life stressors. Among these, the lack of independence, limited mobility, chronic diseases, pain, frailty or other mental and physical problems require long term care. Beyond this, the elderly are more prone to experience events such as bereavement, a drop in socio-economic status, disability which leads to isolation, loss of independence, loneliness and psychological distress. Mental health problems and needs assessment by health care professionals and older people themselves are under recognised and the stigma surrounding mental illness makes people reluctant to seek help. The early investigation and diagnosis of these situations are crucial, as well as prior management with an important combination of pharmacological and psychosocial interventions in conjunction with caregivers and families support. The present book aims to contribute to the development of knowledge in Aging and Mental Health taking different approaches from authors coming from diverse scientific fields, with the final goal being the improvement of quality of life and healthy aging for this growing population.

Biodiversity of Angola Brian J. Huntley, Vladimir Russo, Fernanda Lages, Nuno Ferrand, 2019-02-20. This open access multi-authored book presents a state of the science synthesis of knowledge on the biodiversity of Angola based on sources in peer-reviewed journals, in books and where appropriate unpublished official reports. The book identifies Angola as one of the most biologically diverse countries in Africa but notes that its fauna, flora, habitats and the processes that drive the dynamics of its ecosystems are still very poorly researched and documented. This state of the science synthesis is for the use of all students of Angola's biodiversity and for those responsible for the planning, development and sustainable management of the country's living resources. The volume brings together the results of expeditions and research undertaken in Angola since the late eighteenth century, with emphasis on work conducted in the four decades since Angola's independence in 1975. The individual chapters have been written by leaders in their fields and reviewed by peers familiar with the region.
