Handbook of Positive Psychology in Schools Michael J. Furlong, Rich Gilman, E. Scott Huebner, 2014-02-03

Understanding the factors that encourage young people to become active agents in their own learning is critical. Positive psychology is one lens that can be used to investigate the factors that facilitate a student's sense of agency and active school engagement. In the second edition of this groundbreaking handbook, the editors draw together the latest work on the field, identifying major issues and providing a wealth of descriptive knowledge from renowned contributors. Major topics include the ways that positive emotions, traits, and institutions promote school achievement and healthy social and emotional development; how specific positive psychological constructs relate to students and schools and support the delivery of school-based services; and the application of positive psychology to educational policy making. With thirteen new chapters, this edition provides a long-needed centerpiece around which the field can continue to grow, incorporating a new focus on international applications of the field.

Measures of Personality and Social Psychological Constructs Gregory J. Boyle, Donald H. Saklofske, Gerald Matthews, 2014-09-04. Measures of Personality and Social Psychological Constructs assists researchers and practitioners by identifying and reviewing the best scales/ measures for a variety of constructs. Each chapter discusses test validity, reliability, and utility. Authors have focused on the most often used and cited scales/ measures, with a particular emphasis on those published in recent years. Each scale is identified and described; the sample on which it was developed is summarized; and reliability and validity data are presented, followed by presentation of the scale in full or in part where such permission has been obtained. Measures fall into five broad groups. The emotional disposition section reviews measures of general affective tendencies and/or cognitive dispositions closely linked to emotion. These measures include hope and optimism, anger and hostility, life satisfaction, self-esteem, confidence, and affect dimensions. Emotion regulation scales go beyond general dispositions to measure factors that may contribute to understanding and managing emotions. These measures include alexithymia, empathy, resiliency, coping, sensation seeking, and ability and trait emotional intelligence. The interpersonal styles section introduces some traditional social psychological themes in the context of personality assessment. These measures include adult attachment, concerns with public image and social evaluation, and forgiveness. The virtues and vices section reflects adherence to moral standards as an individual characteristic shaped by sociocultural influences and personality. These measures include values and moral personality, religiosity, dark personalities, Machiavellianism, narcissism, and subclinical psychopathy and perfectionism. The sociocultural interaction and conflict section addresses relationships between different groups and associated attitudes. These measures include cross-cultural values, personality and beliefs, intergroup contact, stereotyping, and prejudice, attitudes towards sexual orientation, and personality across cultures. Encompasses 25 different areas of psychology research. Each scale has validity, reliability, info on test bias, etc. Multiple scales discussed for each construct Discussion of which scales are appropriate in which circumstances and to what populations Examples of scales included Resources in Education ,2000-04 Evolving Journalism Research Methods Michael P. Murphy,1999 Assessing Well-Being Ed Diener,2009-06-04 The Sandvik Diener and Seidlitz 1993 paper is another that has received widespread attention because it documented the fact that self report well being scales correlate with a number of other methods of measuring the same concepts such as with reports by knowledgeable informants family and friends experience sampling measurement and the memory for good versus bad life events A single factor was found to underlie measures using different methods and a number of different well being self report measures were found to correlate with the non self report measures Thus although the self report measures of well being are imperfect and can be influenced by response artifacts they have substantial validity as shown by their correlations with measurements based on alternative methods Whereas the Pavot and Diener article reviewed the Satisfaction with Life Scale the Lucas Diener and Larsen 2003 paper reviews various approaches to assessing positive emotions As we wrote in the chapter in this volume in which we present new measures we do not consider any of the existing measures of positive affect to be entirely acceptable for measuring subjective well being in the affect area and that is why we have created and validated a new measure
