3.1 Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Peat lands are special well-ands that play a very important role in ecology. A peat tend, of approximately 6 000 years old, near Malitang is alread destroyed because of excessive extraction of sales from the nearby Mologo river. The weller is extracted for human consumption.

Peut lands like the one near Matkeng is exceptional and play an important sele in storing enter as well as preventing dimete changes.

Or Plet-Louis Grundling said that certon that is "held" or "stored" by peet lands combats climate change because it decreases the amount of certon in the strooghers.

Feat lands trup about one third of the world's outcor. Approximately 50% of welfands worldwide are peal lands. However in South Affice about 10% of the welfands are peal lands.

Orunding explained that peet lands can hold about 1 000 times its own mass in water. This replanishes the easier table and is the source that beings streams howing. The "sponge effect" of the peat also makes it possible to store water that is then released during the seasons.

Or Circumding used that it might be too late to reaton the peat land near thatfining but it might be possible to reaton some parts of it if more water is supplied to this seed land.

The result of this distinution is depletion of the water lable. The habital of numerous fish and ling species that lived in this peak land was also destroyed.

From Seelit 24 September 2016
