Life Sciences Paper 1 Gauteng Province:

A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities

Understanding Education for the Visually Impaired Ronél Ferreira, Maximus M. Sefotho, 2020-12-31 The contribution that this book makes to scholarship is regarded as ground breaking as it is based on recent research conducted with teachers on the ground level as well as on research and experiences of practitioners gained over many years In this volume Understanding education for the visually impaired the focus falls on understanding visual impairment within the South African context more specifically on what the education of these learners entails In addition to the contribution to existing literature in the fields of inclusive education and visual impairment the publication has practical application value for teachers and practitioners who work with and support such learners

Democracy and Governance for Resourcing the Commons Janet McIntyre-Mills, Norma R. A. Romm, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2019-06-11 This book promotes the well being of the commons through representation and accountability through monitoring from below in order to operationalize engagement This book views the commons as a legal concept a transformative governance concept and a basis for systemic ethics The chapters focus on practical responses to address complex problems that comprise many interrelated variables and are perceived differently by stakeholders with different values and life experiences By considering these different stakeholders the goal is to highlight ways to regenerate and invigorate employment opportunities The book identifies pathways towards ethical vocational education to enable lifelong engagement by active citizens which requires action learning to address areas of perceived policy concern Throughout the chapters in this book the authors discuss transformative research and its implications on stakeholders They focus on representation and its implications for thinking and practice One author makes the case for fostering non anthropocentric approaches to ethical development In addition the chapters cover case studies including governance challenges associated with water management using a mixed method approach and also production of mushrooms in collaboration with coffee growers in Jakarta The book focuses on ways to de colonialise knowledge formation in public policy and makes the case for an alternative approach to governance and democracy that takes into account a range of local people s perspectives

Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick, Samkelisiwe Khanyile, Kerry Bobbins, Stuart Dunsmore, Anne Fitchett, Lerato Monama, Raishan Naidu, Gillian Sykes, Jennifer van den Bussche, Marco Vieira, 2019-12-11 In the context of heightened climate variability thinking about ways to redesign our urban areas with more sustainable infrastructure solutions is becoming more and more important Green infrastructure GI is emerging as an alternative approach to traditional grey infrastructure in urban planning and development Its emergence can be understood in terms of the growing demand for infrastructure and services increased concerns over natural resource constraints and climate change and the negative impacts associated with traditional approaches to designing and building cities It has been proposed that GI can provide the same services as traditional infrastructure at a similar capital cost while also providing a range of additional benefits However despite the increasing examples of successful urban GI applications traditional infrastructure continues to dominate due to the lack of systematic evidence to support GI implementation As a result there has been an increase in calls from policy and decision makers for a greater evidence base on the benefits of GI as well as for practical guidelines on its implementation Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City Region is the GCRO s third report in its ongoing research into Green assets and infrastructure The first two reports in this project series were more theoretically grounded and policy oriented whereas this third report is more practical in nature The first report explored the basic principles around GI assessed the extent of ecological features in Gauteng and the way governments in the province think about planning and maintenance of green assets The second report responded to some of the challenges identified in the first report and in particular the importance of government officials and practitioners in exploring how international green infrastructure plans could be applied in the Gauteng context This third report builds on the findings of the aforementioned reports and the project s CityLab series which highlighted the need to build an evidence base as critical for garnering support for and as well as enhancing investment in the GI approach Unlike the more theoretically grounded earlier reports this report comprises four technical sections and practical reflections on how a GI approach could be incorporated into urban planning in the GCR and in other similar urban contexts

"Bridging Boundaries: Multidisciplinary Research in Science, Commerce and Humanities" Prof. (Dr.) M. K.

Patil,2024-04-21 Ray Bradbury's Fahrenheit 451 depicts a dystopian society where technology particularly in the form of mass media and censorship plays a central role in controlling and manipulating the populace. However, the novel also explores the paradoxical relationship between technology and human connection, highlighting both its potential for liberation and its capacity for oppression. This research paper aims to analyze the multifaceted portrayal of technology in Fahrenheit 451, examining its role in fostering isolation and conformity while also exploring its subversive potential as a tool for resistance and introspection. Through a close reading of the novel's themes, characters, and narrative structure, this paper elucidates Bradbury's nuanced commentary on the complex interplay between technology, knowledge, and freedom.

Sustainametrics - envisioning a sustainable future with data science Shutaro Takeda, Alexander Ryota Keeley, Shunsuke Managi, Thomas Gloria, 2023-03-08 Growth and Institutions in African Development Augustin K. Fosu, 2015-03-24 Recent years have seen a sustained research effort exploring the African development experience. The extant literature has offered a large set of explanations as to why the African development record has lagged behind that of other regions of the developing world. This new volume brings international contributors together to focus on the role of growth and institutions. First, it provides brief evidence on the growth and institutional records, as well as on development outcomes during the post-independence period. Second, it targets certain growth determinants, including industrial embeddedness, innovation, exchange rate regimes, and environmental quality. Third, it sheds light on the dynamics and distribution of growth and on growth-enhancing sectors of the economy. Finally, it investigates several issues of institutional development, as well as institutions generating development outcomes. Though focused on these two key areas, the coverage strives to achieve a comprehensive analysis of how Africa's development may have been enhanced or undermined and to offer lessons for the future. This volume is essential reading for all scholars of development economics and development studies.

Modelling urban spatial change: a review of international and South African modelling initiatives Chris Wray, 2013-08-30 Urban growth and land use change models have the potential to become important tools for urban spatial planning and management. Before embarking on any modelling, however, GCRO felt it was important to take note of and critically assess lessons to be learnt from international experience and scholarship on spatial modelling, as well as a number of South African experiments that model future urban development. In 2012, GCRO initiated preliminary research into current international and South African modelling trends through a desktop study and telephone, email, and personal interviews. This Occasional Paper sets out to investigate what urban spatial change modelling research is currently being undertaken internationally and within South Africa. At the international level, urban modelling research since 2000 is reviewed according to five main categories: land use, transportation, LUT, cellular automata, urban system dynamics, agent-based models, ABMs, and spatial economics/econometric models, SE/EMs. Within South Africa, urban modelling initiatives are categorised differently and include a broader range of urban modelling techniques. Typologies used include provincial government modelling initiatives in Gauteng municipal government modelling initiatives other government funded modelling research and academic modelling research The various modelling initiatives described are by no means a comprehensive review of all urban spatial change modelling projects in South Africa but provide a broad indication of the types of urban spatial change modelling underway Importantly the models may form the basis for more accurate and sophisticated urban modelling projects in the future The paper concludes by identifying key urban modelling opportunities and challenges for short to long term planning in the GCR and South Africa Visiting Arts Southern Africa Regional Arts Profile: South Africa Tim Doling,1999
