Disclosure Within HIV-Affected Families Grace Gachanja, Gary J. Burkholder, Aimee Ferraro, 2018-08-29 While HIV/AIDS is a global public health challenge its impact is arguably greatest in the Sub Saharan Africa SSA where new infections account for approximately 66% of the total number of HIV positive persons globally In SSA medical social and economic resources are limited thus necessitating innovative approaches to disease prevention One of the mechanisms of prevention that is most promising occurs through HIV disclosure to family members e.g. adult sexual partners generally and to children in particular Our emphasis in this eBook is on HIV disclosure to children because it has multiple benefits including improved adherence to antiretroviral medication treatment and understanding at an early age of the impact of sexual activity on the spread of HIV While there is a noticeable gap in research on HIV disclosure to younger children some of the general reasons for non disclosure include concerns about fear of adult partners leaving relationships and that children are too young to comprehend the severity of the situation and may tell others outside the family Thus it is critical to better understand how the HIV disclosure process happens or does not happen within HIV affected families as well as the best practices on how to disclose In this eBook we present a combination of empirical research studies and critical literature reviews that investigate the reasons for and for not disclosing HIV status within HIV affected families and provide evidence based practices that could be adopted by healthcare professionals to help HIV positive parents facilitate disclosure activities within these families This information can also be used by researchers practitioners and stakeholders who are in a position to influence policies on effective HIV disclosure practices guidelines and programs

The Marginal Soils of Africa Adornis Dakarai Nciizah, Ashira Roopnarain, Busiswa Ndaba, Mashapa Elvis Malobane, 2024-04-25 This book addressed the pressing challenges of climate change land scarcity and food security offering a comprehensive synthesis of research on using managing and reclaiming marginal lands in Africa Unfavourable climatic conditions and rapid population growth intensify competition for land putting pressure on traditional agricultural soils thus necessitating a transition towards underutilized marginal lands Reclaiming these damaged and undervalued areas through various technologies presents a promising path not only to food independence but also to second generation biofuel feedstock production utilizing excess biomass from these revived lands While recent years have seen increased focus on restoring degraded lands a crucial gap remains i.e. a unified knowledge base detailing the efficacy of various reclamation technologies This book fills that void empowering farmers and policymakers with the insights they need to make informed decisions mobilize resources effectively and ultimately help Africa meet its projected 60% food demand increase
