British Literature 1640-1789 Robert DeMaria, Jr.,2018-06-18 An indispensable reference for scholars and students of eighteenth century English literature This addition to the celebrated Wiley Blackwell Keywords series explores the meanings of fifty eight of the most important words in British literature of the period 1640 1789 Professor DeMaria focuses on words used with frequency and urgency throughout the works of most major and several minor writers of the British Neoclassical era with the occasional reach back to the early seventeenth century for a definitive usage found in Francis Bacon for instance and look forward to the nineteenth century to the works of Wordsworth Austen and Keats Through discussions of words such as atom economy humanity labor machine slavery society and system he reveals underlying assumptions about the way writers of the period thought about the physical and social world Likewise considerations of words such as happiness passion truth and virtue shed light on the ethical and moral commitments of the age Unlike dictionaries and many big data semantics projects this book brings forth the ambiguities nuances and ironies that accrued to word usages during the period through a heightened awareness of the contexts in which they occurred Highlights and exposes the salient cultural and literary debates and metamorphic moments of cultural thought Reveals an increase in irony and a decrease in allegorical usage as an important trend in the evolution of literary language during the Neoclassical period Stresses the contexts within which words or phrases appear in order to offer a fuller understanding of their meanings and significance than available from digital databases Draws upon a vast compilation of sources from one of the most transformative eras of English literature Rigorous in its scholarship and historical reach British Literature 1640 1789 Keywords is an indispensable resource which scholars and students of British Neoclassical literature will want to keep close at hand It is certain to become a fixture of most university reference libraries Argumentation in Practice Frans H. Van Eemeren, Peter Houtlosser, 2005-01-01 Since the late 1950s the study of argumentation has developed from a marginal part of logic and rhetoric into a genuine interdisciplinary academic discipline After having first been primarily concerned with creating an adequate philosophical perspective on argumentation argumentation theorists have gradually shifted their focus of attention to a more immediate concern with the ins and outs of argumentative praxis What exactly are the characteristics of situated argumentative discourse in different argumentative action types How is the discourse influenced by institutional and contextual constraints In what way can prominent cases of argumentative discourse be fruitfully analysed Argumentation in Practice aims to provide insight into some important facets of argumentative praxis and the different ways in which it can be approached The first part of this volume Conceptions of problems in argumentative practice introduces useful theoretical perspectives The second part Empirical studies of argumentative practice contains both empirical studies of a general kind and several types of specific case studies The Handbook of Specimens of English Literature Joseph Angus, 1880 The Life of John Milton: 1643-1649 David Masson, 1873 *The Life of John Milton.
