Re-reading Pío Baroja and English Literature Katharine Murphy, 2004. This volume investigates a broad range of structural connections between Pío Baroja's early fiction and the novels of his contemporaries in England and Ireland, with prominence given to Joseph Conrad, Thomas Hardy, E. M. Forster, and James Joyce. Starting from the premise that Spain has been neglected in studies which assess the evolution of the European novel at the turn of the twentieth century and challenging the insular concept of the Generation of 1898, the author reassesses the relationship between Baroja and English literature. Particular emphasis is given to renderings of consciousness, the role and identity of the artist, European landscapes, and questions of form, genre, and representation in the novels under scrutiny. The book produces new readings of Baroja in the context of early twentieth-century English fiction.

Pluriversal Applied Linguistics Yecid Ortega, 2025-09-01. Drawing on extensive research in a marginalized community in Bogotá, Colombia, and informed by engagements with diverse communities from diverse contexts, this book offers a groundbreaking perspective on pluriversal applied linguistics for language teaching and research. Through critical ethnography and decolonial praxis, it challenges binary views of language, advocating for a more inclusive and relational approach to linguistic education. By embracing epistemologies from the Global South, this book unlocks new possibilities for language learning, teaching, and research, fostering a more equitable and socially just future in education.

Teaching, Reading, and Theorizing Caribbean Texts Emily O'Dell, Jeanne Jégousso, 2020-08-17. Teaching, Reading, and Theorizing Caribbean Texts explores alternative approaches to Caribbean texts from transnational and multilingual perspectives. The authors query what new systems and criteria can be implemented to rethink and remodel our theoretical and pedagogical corpus and alter the lenses through which we study Caribbean texts Pulling from the Caribbean s global diaspora the authors examine writers such as Roxane Gay Esmeralda Santiago Wilson Harris and Gloria Anzald a in order to resituate the place of Caribbean texts in the classroom Each chapter argues for a reunification of Caribbean literature studies rather than studying this body of text only in terms of a certain aspect of its history or culture the authors necessitate the importance of analyzing these works from a pan Caribbean perspective This collection discusses the ideas of transcending individual disciplines and specialties to create global theories overcoming pedagogical challenges when bringing Caribbean texts into the classroom and re reading texts with the purpose of discovering new symbols themes and meanings
